Report of Board of Managers

THE outstanding event of the year 1921 for The Children's Hospital, and one of the most important events in its history, was the opening of the Private Ward on November 14th.

It was the unqualified opinion of the whole Medical Staff that a thoroughly up-to-date Private Ward was not only advisable but necessary. In no other way could the Hospital continue to command the services of the best doctors and still be fair to them, and judging by the experience of other hospitals it should become a source of revenue to the Hospital. Accordingly, the old Vose's Nurses' Home has been turned into an attractive and thoroughly equipped Private Ward; the success in furnishing and decorating being due to the efforts and good taste of Mrs. Harold J. Coolidge and a few associates.

This conversion necessitated the purchase of an apartment house on Huntington Avenue as a new Nurses' Home. It is well to note, however, in this connection that with the eight-hour law and various new requirements for nurses which necessitated additions to the force, the old Home would in any event have been totally inadequate.

All the friends of the Hospital can be of help by making known to others the existence of the Private Ward.

Another important event of the year, and one which we cannot help viewing with deep regret, was the resignation of Dr. John Lovett Morse, the Visiting Physician, who has served the Hospital devotedly and brilliantly for a period of eighteen years.

Your Board is fortunate, however, in having secured in his place an eminent and able successor in Dr. Oscar M. Schloss, a graduate of Johns Hopkins, and recently Director of Pediatric Service at New York Nursery and Child's Hospital, and Professor of Pediatrics at Cornell University Medical College.

Financially the failure to raise the Endowment Fund has been keenly felt, and has resulted in another large deficit, as will be seen from the Treasurer's report. The Managers are bending every effort toward economy. In fact, had it not been for the widespread insistence for its continuance, the valuable Social Service would have been abandoned, and unless the Hospital's financial condition improves it may still be necessary to abandon this and other important activities.

The Welfare Committee, under the leadership of Mrs. F. S. Meade, have again done wonders in the raising of money and advertising the needs of the Hospital.

Finally, we wish to express our appreciation of Miss Smith's tireless, devoted, and efficient management which has been largely responsible in enabling us to report that the Hospital, this year, has treated more children than ever before.

GEORGE P. GARDNER,
President.

The Private Ward

The Private Ward received its first patient on November 14, 1921. It had been planned to open early in September, but the strike of the building trades caused an unfortunate and costly delay.

The Private Ward as it now exists is equipped for the care of forty-six private patients, with a range of prices intended to cover the means of all. Sixteen patients at the lowest rate may be cared for in rooms of two beds each, while thirty patients may have single rooms, with rooms adjoining for mother or nurse, and in many cases a private bathroom.

The furniture and hangings of the rooms are simple, and were chosen with a view to making the rooms attractive and cheerful.

On three of the four floors out-of-door sun rooms were built out, where patients can be placed in the open air as easily as they are now put out in the public wards.

Each floor has its own diet kitchen, refrigerators, sterilizers, heaters, etc., and it may be said generally that every effort has been made to equip the Ward in every respect with the most modern apparatus and equipment.

On the top floor there are three operating rooms, of which one is for nose and throat cases alone, and an etherizing room.

The Private Ward is an inevitable development of the modern hospital in its function of complete service to its community. Without such a ward children of the well-to-do cannot have the same advantages in their illnesses as do the children of the poor. That is, the best care at home can scarcely get the results or offer the same degree of security available to every patient at The Children's Hospital. Here can be had at a moment's notice consultation with other members of the Staff; reference to records of like cases; use of specialized apparatus; instruments, etc.; laboratory examination and reports; and, perhaps more important than all, the specialized nursing perfected by years of experience and training.

There has also been a long-felt desire on the part of the physicians and surgeons in charge to have a place where their own private patients might receive all the facilities and benefits of the Hospital, and where they might combine their care with the care of the children in the public wards. That such an arrangement was due the Staff was never doubted, and in this direction alone important results are looked for.

AUDITOR'S CERTIFICATE

As a result of our audit of the books and records of The Children's Hospital for the year ended December 31, 1921, we hereby certify that all cash shown to have been received has been accounted for; that we have seen satisfactory evidence of the approval and payment of all disbursements; that the balance called for by the cash account was on deposit in the several bank accounts or was in the office; that the income earned during the year by investments held by the Hospital was properly accounted for; that all securities shown on the books were found to be on hand; and that the Balance Sheet and Statement of Income and Expense submitted herewith are correct transcripts from the books of account, and, in our opinion, correctly set forth the financial condition of the Hospital as of December 31, 1921, and the results of its operations for the year ended at that date.

Respectfully submitted,

SCOVELL, WELLINGTON & COMPANY.

During the second year of its existence the Welfare Committee has continued its efforts to make The Children's Hospital and Convalescent Home better known to that part of the public that was ignorant of their needs. There has been one resignation, Mrs. Daniel Frank, who has moved away from Boston. Her place has been taken by the President of The League of Jewish Women, Mrs. Ely Feibelman.

As a result of the interest aroused by the Welfare Committee many friends have been made for the Hospital, and without begging, $20,000 has been contributed to the Hospital and Home, besides donations of supplies and gifts which appear under other heads in the Treasurer's report.

Financial Statement

Mrs. RICHARD S. RUSSELL, Treasurer

An arrangement has been made between the Welfare Committee and Mrs. Monks, representing The Convalescent Home, and authorized by the Finance Committee of the Hospital, that the division of funds between the Hospital and the Home should be based on a proportion of their respective budgets, and that one-fifth, therefore, of the amounts received should go to the Home and four-fifths to the Hospital, unless otherwise designated by the donor.

Medical Department

THERE has been little change in the type of work done by the medical service during the past year. The Out-Patient Department showed a marked increase in attendance. The number of new patients admitted was 5,015, compared with 4,887 in 1920. The chief increase was in the number of revisits, — 10,912 in 1921, compared with 10,087 in 1920. The average daily attendance for the year was 52.

The number of patients receiving treatment in the wards was 127 less in 1921 than during 1920.

A number of changes have been made in the general organization of the Out-Patient Department. Such changes were introduced to facilitate both the treatment of patients and teaching. Thus far the results have been entirely satisfactory.

Teaching of graduate and undergraduate students has been carried on, both in the Out-Patient Department and in the wards, as heretofore.

During the latter part of the year a resident staff system was introduced. A system of this kind offers the advantage of having on continuous service men of training and experience, who can assume positions of responsibility in the administration of the service. This system has been adopted by most teaching hospitals, and has been generally satisfactory.

Surgical Department

THE volume of work in the Surgical Department shows an increase in every branch. The character of the work is shown in the statistical tables.

Certain general facts may be of interest. During the year the number of cases of tuberculous glands of the neck showed a definite increase, and especially during the latter portion of the year. Many of the cases seemed unusually severe. It seems likely that economic conditions following the war have produced a somewhat less carefully guarded milk supply.

The number of operations for hernias has decreased slightly. Each year about two hundred children are cured of their hernias which if neglected would be a constant source of danger to their lives. From an economic standpoint the cure of hernia among children is one of the most useful functions of the Hospital. It is, however, such a matter of routine that it is often overlooked.

Children with harelip and cleft palate are brought to the Hospital from all of New England and the Provinces. The results are most gratifying.

The increase in the number of cases of intussusception treated during the year is gratifying, because it indicates that this most terrible of the emergencies of infancy is being more frequently and more promptly recognized, and that the children are being sent to the Hospital while there is still a chance of curing them.

Among the most gratifying of all the groups of cases treated are those of pyloric stenosis, in which the outlet of the stomach is so narrowed as to prevent the normal passage of food from it to the bowel. By a simple operation the outlet may be so enlarged as to allow proper action of the stomach and bowels. The change from constant vomiting and consequent starvation comes almost immediately and seems at times miraculous.

Transfusion of blood has been done during the past year a little more often than before. In the hemorrhages of the newborn prompt transfusion is an almost certain cure. It is important that the seriousness of any bleeding within the first few days of life should be recognized and treated immediately. The amount of blood lost may at first be trifling, but the fact of the bleeding indicates that severe hemorrhage may occur at any minute, owing to the lack of certain elements in the blood which a transfusion will supply.

In hemophilia, a most distressing inherited condition, transfusion has proved beneficial at the time of any bleeding, but the good effects are not lasting. In general, the field of usefulness of transfusion is becoming defined.

Last year the mortality reported was only 5 per cent, in spite of the desperate nature of many of the cases treated. This year the mortality has been 6.9 per cent, which is lower than in any recent years except 1920.

A study of our statistics shows that there were 11 deaths among 65 cases of empyema. These abscesses about the lung after pneumonia are very fatal in young babies. Empyema, however, develops very rarely among children brought up in good hygienic surroundings, with plenty of sunlight and fresh air. The mortality from empyema is one of the penalties of crowded city life.

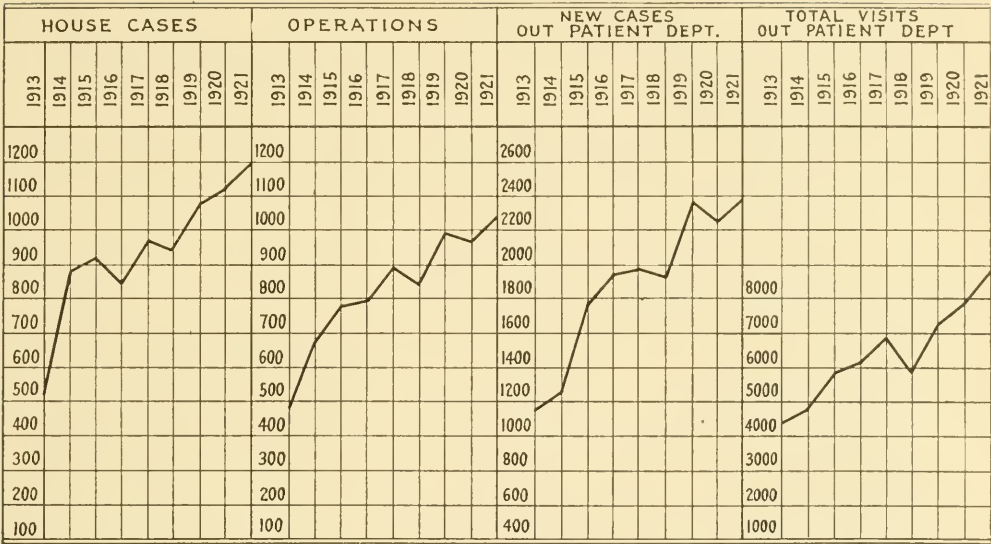

Severe burns, severe infections, malignant tumors and serious congenital malformations are among the chief causes of mortality. In some conditions the hope of lowering the death rate is slight, but there are many conditions in which the education of the public, the knowledge of the family physician, and the facilities offered by the Hospital may yield the constantly improving results of treatment for which all are striving.

In the Out-patient Department little that is new can be reported. The year has been more busy than ever before. Among the useful functions of the department has been the removal of many birthmarks.

The Social Service and the volunteer workers offer invaluable aid. Their services are gratefully acknowledged.

The appended chart shows the growth of the Surgical Department since moving into the new Hospital.

Orthopedic Department

THE work in the Orthopedic Department has followed much the same lines as in previous years. The surgical work has been interrupted rather more than usual by the outbreak of measles and similar epidemics arising from the wards in spite of every precaution taken. Children have only been admitted after a careful examination, but have often come down with measles or similar infections, which are likely to spread into the units in which they are. This means a closure of the ward for some time and slows up the work of the service, but this seems inevitable in a children's hospital in spite of all precautions. The situation is being carefully studied with a view to minimizing the transmission of infection in every possible way.

The teaching of medical students and of graduates occupies an important part of our routine, and in June, 1921, clinics were given at the Hospital before large numbers of physicians from all over the country during the meeting of the American Orthopedic Association and the American Medical Association.

The nursing service has been most satisfactory in this department, and the upset which occurred during the war in all our organization seems to have ended and conditions have returned to normal.

A course of eighteen months for graduates intending to specialize in orthopedic surgery has been offered in the Harvard Medical School, which is open only to recent graduates with previous experience in general surgery. The course consists of six months at the Harvard Medical School in fundamentals, six months in the Orthopedic Department of The Children's Hospital as house officer, and six months in the orthopedic department of the Massachusetts General Hospital. This is the first course of its kind offered in the graduate school, and is in line with the tendency of medical education to emphasize the longer course for graduates rather than the short ones.

The workshop of the Hospital has had a very prosperous year, and is making apparatus for patients from all over the country which is an advantage to the patients in the Hospital, inasmuch as the outside work helps to carry the shop and to furnish the apparatus to the Hospital patients at the lowest possible price.

The Hospital during the year has suffered a considerable loss in the resignation of Dr. John J. Morton, Jr., who was called to the assistant professorship of surgery in Yale University Medical School. Otherwise the personnel of the department remains much the same.

Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commission

THROUGH the generosity of The Children's Hospital three clinics a week for infantile paralysis have been held in the Orthopedic Out-Patient Department. Office facilities for executive work have also been provided. Nine clinics have been held in various larger cities throughout the State. Trained field workers have attended to the work at these clinics, and have carried on a follow-up work by visiting the homes of patients at regular intervals and holding local clinics. These local clinics have been held in five districts of greater Boston and in twenty-seven other cities and towns in Massachusetts.

The fact that the average number of patients treated at The Children's Hospital clinics is at present larger than at any time since the Commission started, proves the need of continuing the after-care of infantile paralysis.

It should be noted that the success of the clinics and the large amount of work done there were largely due to the untiring energy of Dr. Arthur T. Legg.

Funds to carry on the work of the Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commission have been furnished by the public in response to two appeals sent out in the year of 1921.

Summary for the Year 1921

3. Total number of individual cases treated at The Children's Hospital and state clinics	990
4. Average daily number of cases treated at The Children's Hospital clinics	29
5. Number of cases that have been operated on in The Children's Hos- pital and transferred to the Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commis- sion for after-treatment	128

Department of Physical Therapeutics

Scoliosis Clinic

THE attendance at the scoliosis clinic has increased steadily during the past year; 587 more visits were made to the department in 1921 than in 1920. This was due in part to the number of new cases attending, and in part to the special effort which has been made to give the parents an intelligent understanding of the co-operation required from them in carrying out treatment which is necessarily of long duration.

The cases, in general, fall into two classes, — those with more or less severe structural scoliosis, and those with faulty attitude, and perhaps a slight curve which is of less importance than the bad standing position.

X-rays are taken whenever there is any question of congenital defects, and all cases are photographed at regular periods as a matter of record.

The structural cases are treated by plaster jackets, either permanent ones with padding for the more severe cases, or removable jackets for use in connection with special corrective exercises. All these cases have a preliminary period of special flexibility exercises, in order that more correction may be obtained by the casts. Very severe cases are admitted to the wards for recumbency in connection with more forcible correction than is advisable with out-patients.

The milder cases with faulty attitude are referred mostly from the school doctors, or from the medical clinic. They are taught the correct standing position, and given special setting-up exercises to train them to hold the correct position. If this routine is not sufficient, a corset is specially made in the shop. Pronated feet are carefully looked after with pads and exercises. Each child has its individual exercise card and a special teacher. No class work is done, as it is felt that the type of case which comes to a hospital for treatment is too far advanced to be handled in groups.

There are twelve of these sun rooms, one at both ends of each ward.

An arrangement with the Boston School of Physical Education provides students from the senior class to do the volunteer work of the clinic during eight months of the year, and the efficient co-operation which they have given has been greatly appreciated.

The work of the clinic has been greatly facilitated by the use of the room adjoining the gymnasium as an examination and plaster room.

Number of new cases	71

Courses in Physiotherapy

The affiliation of the department with the graduate department of the Harvard Medical School continues, and the usual summer course in physiotherapy was given. The extent to which this course has become known is shown by the fact that two of the students came from the Pacific coast, and others from the Middle West. The Boston Instructive District Nursing Association enrolled three of its nurses for instruction which would enable them to take care of the infantile paralysis cases in their districts, and the Chicago Visiting Nurse Association sent one of its supervisors for the same reason.

The course is intended to give nurses and teachers of physical education a thorough knowledge of functional anatomy and of the various conditions for which massage and special exercise treatment are indicated. Members of the orthopedic service gave a good deal of time, and were responsible for a large part of the teaching. Demonstrations and clinical experience were also given the women at the Massachusetts General and Cambridge hospitals.

Instruction to Nurses

Although pupils in the Nurses' Training School are not called upon to give massage in the clinics of this Hospital, the ability to give acceptable massage is one of the things expected of every nurse. It is an asset in private nursing, and is often a necessity in district and industrial positions. Instruction in the theory and practice of massage was given to the second-year class in three groups, twelve to fifteen lessons to each group.

The personnel of this department consists of the director and one paid assistant, with the addition of volunteer student workers who give their services for periods of time varying from one afternoon a week to full time for three months or longer.

The activities of the department will be considered separately. They include the physiotherapy work in the wards, and in the out-patient orthopedic and surgical clinics; massage instruction to pupil nurses in the Training School; and supervision and instruction of the students in the physiotherapy course offered by the Harvard Medical School in the courses for graduates department. On account of its growth it has seemed advisable to present a separate report from the scoliosis clinic, but the Physical Therapeutic Department is responsible for the management of that clinic, the exercise treatment of the cases, and for the necessary assistance to the doctor in charge during the making of plaster jackets. The head of the Physical Therapeutic Department also has supervision of the muscle training in The Children's Hospital clinic of the Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commission.

Hospital Wards

There has been a slight increase during the past year in the number of patients for whom physical therapeutic treatment has been ordered, and in the number of treatments given. Each infantile paralysis case admitted to the orthopedic wards receives a detailed muscle examination as part of its routine examination. The director or her assistant attends the formal visits of the surgeon on service and many of the operations, in order to receive instructions about the treatment of the cases.

While the majority of the cases receiving treatment were in the orthopedic wards, the service is available to patients in the medical and surgical wards whenever requested, and muscle examinations were made on a number of patients recovering from the acute attack of infantile paralysis in the medical wards.

In addition to the routine electric light baking, massage and muscle-training treatments the lens-sun treatment was given to a number of chronic wounds with good effect.

Number of cases treated	76
Number of treatments given	894

Out-Patient Physiotherapy Clinic

Two afternoons a week the orthopedic clinic cases received instruction in massage or muscle training, to be carried on at home if unable to come frequently to the Hospital for treatment. An interesting part of the work was the improvement in walking obtained by the cases of spastic paralysis who had had recent operations for the removal of deformities.

Arrangements were made for surgical clinic cases to receive treatment three mornings a week in that clinic, if so desired by the surgeon in charge.

	Cases	Treatments

Surgical out-patient clinic	12	47

Neurological Treatment Clinic

THIS clinic is really an adjunct to the Neurological Department, and the cases are treated under the supervision and prescription of the neurologist, Dr. B. Crothers.

The clinic has been extremely fortunate to have the same workers who have been so faithful in attendance for a number of years. Through their faithful and conscientious treatment all the patients have shown improvement and a few have been discharged cured.

During the past year numbers of postgraduate students have attended the clinic, and have been much interested in the possibility of helping the children affected with brain and spinal cord injuries as well as the peripheral nerve injuries. They have been especially interested in the various obstetrical trauma.

Following is a list of the new cases and the number of total treatments: —

Athetosis (double)	1	Spastic quadriplegia	9

Neurological Department

THE number of new cases shows, naturally, a large increase, as 1921 is the first year since the war in which the department has been continuously open.

In order to allow more time for new cases the neurologist has held morning clinics. One of the chief advantages of this arrangement is that consultation with the medical and surgical services is easily available.

The clinic in the afternoon, supervised by Miss Trainor, is used for treatment of all cases requiring therapeutic exercises. The fact that the Orthopedic Out-Patient Department is available in the afternoon renders co-operation easy.

One of the problems that requires consideration is the possibility of further co-ordination of the various agencies carrying on therapeutic massage and exercises.

Throat Department

THANKS to the increased facilities afforded this department during the past year, we have been able to handle satisfactorily a much larger clinic and to perform approximately a thousand more tonsil operations. This, at the present charge of $10 each, has been of some financial help to the Hospital.

The workers in this department include two groups which, not being officially connected with the Hospital, are here deserving of special recognition. First, there have been several physicians who, as volunteer assistants, have worked ably and faithfully in performing the routine work of the clinic. I desire to specially commend Dr. A. V. Lodge and Dr. C. A. Williams. Second, the necessary routine clinical work has been done by a group of volunteers who have greatly added to the pleasant atmosphere of the clinic, and of these I wish especially to commend Miss Gertrude Bradlee.

We are now able to treat all those who come to us for treatment. The waiting list for the operating room has been reduced to a reasonable length. No expenditures of an unusual nature are contemplated. The department is now well balanced.

In October eight stools from cases of infectious diarrhea were examined for The Infants' Hospital. These were all interesting cases showing an excess of abnormal intestinal organisms.

THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

In November the examination of urines and the taking of blood counts were started for the new Private Ward.

In December a series of cultures was started from tuberculous material taken at autopsy with the idea of attempting to determine the type of infection.

Miss Emily Hunt left on September first to begin the study of medicine. In her place the Hospital has been fortunate in securing the services of Miss Elsie W. Brown.

Dental Department

THE Dental Department has greatly increased during the past year, and the results obtained definitely prove the vast need of dental care. The clinic, operating every Tuesday and Thursday morning, treats both house-patient and out-patient cases, for now children may be referred to the Dental Department from any other department of the Hospital. All house patients needing dental work are cared for twice a week, and upon their discharge from the house they are instructed to return regularly to the out-patient clinic for any further dental work that may be necessary.

The Social Service Department has rendered most appreciative work along these lines, and it is through this department that we are able to complete the work of many of our needy out-patient cases. This method allows the discharge of patients from the Hospital much sooner, for in the past children were held over in the house a week or two for necessary dentistry.

As it has been clearly proven in our clinics that carious teeth will oftentimes keep the health of the child below par, considerable attention is given to the care of the mouth and teeth, and the department attempts to put every mouth in a clean healthy condition before the final discharge.

Again we have had an unusual number of cases of malformed maxillary bones and irregularities of the teeth needing extensive orthodontic treatment, and, through co-operation with the Harvard Dental School, several of the most urgent cases were cared for. Apparatus and instruments of the latest design being added regularly keeps the department well equipped, and all types of dental and oral surgical cases can be adequately cared for.

Besides the greatly increased number of house patients, the department cared for 220 new out-patient children. The work included many cases of prophylaxis, fillings of amalgam and cement, extraction of carious and abscessed teeth and roots, treatment of pulpitis, stomatitis, painful erupting and malposed teeth, alveolar abscesses, necrosis, osteomyelitis and fractures of the maxillary bones.

Roentgen Department

THE X-ray Department takes pleasure in reporting for the year 1921 a continued increase in the volume of its work.

In consideration of this steady growth, it is worthy to note the obvious necessity for a more modern apparatus to cope with its demands. The value of this department to the Hospital, and its dependence upon it, cannot be unduly emphasized. We trust that another year will find us efficiently equipped in order that we may be of greater diagnostic value.

The photographic department has greatly increased, and it has sufficiently expanded to warrant it becoming an entirely separate department.

Social Service Department

DURING the year 1921 a total of 900 children have been under the supervision of the department, an increase of 77 over the preceding year; 2,750 outside visits have been made.

At the present time we have the assistance of a student nurse, six students from the Boston School of Social Work, and three volunteers.

There have been no outstanding developments in the work which has continued along the lines indicated in 1920.

In the Medical Out-Patient Department a complete follow-up system has been reinstated for all patients whose return to clinic is considered necessary. This has been made possible through the valuable assistance of two volunteers, one having charge of the visible file, and the other doing the follow-up visiting on all cases not known to the Social Service Department who fail to report to the clinic. The medical worker has supervised and planned for 19 new families where syphilis is a factor and 11 cases of positive or suspected tuberculosis. Approximately 100 cases have been referred to the heart class, and until June, 1921, there was an average attendance of 15 children in the weekly nutrition clinic.

In the Medical House the homes of about three-fourths of the children have been visited and after-care planned.

There has been an attempt, on the orthopedic service, to extend and develop resources for the placing and post-operative treatment of spastic paralyses, an increasing number of which have been referred to the orthopedic worker.

Active nursing supervision has been secured for a small number of cases of rickets not yet ready for operation, which the orthopedic men wished to specially study.

With the assistance of a volunteer, all overdue cases on the Orthopedic House waiting list are now visited, so that the list is cleared up week by week as the cases are sent for and fail to report. It is felt that this will keep the waiting list in much more active condition.

Fifty-seven children have been provided with apparatus paid for through the special relief fund given us by the Permanent Charity Fund for that purpose. The applications for help have increased this year, apparently through the unemployment situation. Many families have been helped, either in whole or in part, who formerly would have been perfectly well able to take care of the necessary charges. We have, however, been able to provide braces for children whose care would have been otherwise seriously hindered. We are very grateful for a renewal of a similar fund of $500 for 1922.

The follow-up system has been developed on the surgical service and is to include all surgical cases, both from the Out-Patient Department and the House. Up to this time the surgical worker has followed all cases of empyema, osteomyelitis and children with tubercular involvements. To make the follow-up on all surgical cases complete, a routine system has been deemed advantageous by the surgical service. With this system any group of cases can be checked up quickly, any change of address can be immediately noted, and all patients followed as long as advised.

There are now complete follow-up systems in operation on the medical, orthopedic and surgical services.

INTERIOR OF ONE OF THE WARDS

Typical ward. The office in the center gives the nurse in charge a view of the twenty-two beds at all times. Note the overhead construction, which gives the most perfect system of ventilation.

School of Nursing

DURING the past year there have been no radical changes in the course of training. Considerable progress has been made in adjusting the practical training so that the two affiliating courses for adult nursing may be given in the second year instead of the third. The purpose of this change is to make it possible to give more theory in the third year and a greater opportunity for elective courses, such as infant feeding, nursing of contagious diseases, visiting nursing, social work, anesthesia and advanced work in orthopedics.

The School of Nursing, in affiliation with the School for Public Health Nursing conducted by Simmons College and the Instructive District Nursing Association, is now offering a special five-year course. This course leads to the degree of Bachelor of Science and to the diploma of the School of Nursing. The advantages of this combined course are the possibility of both a degree and a diploma in nursing in five years instead of seven, a much sounder preparation for future work, and opportunity for the social and cultural life which a college offers. It also makes provision for the young women who are not quite mature enough to enter a school of nursing at the completion of high school.

For admission to this course applicants must satisfy the entrance requirements of Simmons College. The first two years are spent at the college in academic work, and will include the cultural subjects required in any college course and the sciences which are fundamental in the preparation for nursing.

The third and fourth years are devoted to technical work in the School of Nursing of The Children's Hospital. Students enter the school during the summer following their second year at Simmons College. During the first three months all students are on probation, and only those students who in the opinion of the Director of the School of Nursing prove adapted to nursing are allowed to continue the course. Instruction in the School of Nursing extends over two calendar years, but a vacation is given during the summer following the first year in the school. The training consists of practical and theoretical work. Practical training in medical, surgical and orthopedic nursing is given in the various departments of the Hospital; obstetrical training and training in medical and surgical nursing of adult patients are given in affiliated hospitals. The regular program of theoretical instruction following the preliminary course is given in the third and fourth years.

The fifth year is intended to provide special training in public health nursing. The Director of the School for Public Health Nursing and the Director of the School of Nursing will advise students in the selection and arrangement of their work.

The tuition fee and the expense for maintenance for each of the first two years will be the regular college fee. The tuition fee for the course at the School of Nursing is $100, payable in installments of $50 at the beginning of each year. Maintenance, uniforms and textbooks are provided, and care is given during illness for a reasonable length of time.

The expense of the fifth year depends upon the program chosen by the student.

Students who complete the course successfully will receive the degree of Bachelor of Science from Simmons College, the diploma of the School of Nursing of The Children's Hospital, and, upon completion of state registration, a certificate in public health nursing from the School of Public Health Nursing.

We wish again to express our thanks and appreciation to the members of our visiting staff for their professional services to the school and for the lectures given during the past year.

The year has been an encouraging one, as it has shown an awakened interest in nursing. More letters of inquiry concerning the three-year course and the postgraduate course have been received, and we have admitted to the school 49 regular students and 7 postgraduate students, a larger number than in any previous year. With our increased number of students it has been possible to establish the eight-hour system of duty which is proving in every way an advantage to the students.

The enrollment of the school is as follows: —

Class of 1921	5
Seniors	19
Intermediates	31
Simmons students	24
Probationers	19
Affiliating students	5

The Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital

Wellesley Hills, Mass.

THE Convalescent Home, though a separate corporation, is so closely allied to The Children's Hospital that we join the report of the secretary of the Home as it appears in her report for this year.

Previous to its incorporation in 1884, The Convalescent Home was known as the Ladies Aid Association, and came into existence in 1869, in order to provide supplies for the new Children's Hospital. This "aid" has been continued ever since, and has increased to very large proportions. The present Home was built to accommodate 90 patients, but the full quota has never been received, as the care of so many would involve enlarging the staff and increasing the expense to a prohibitive degree. Cases of chicken pox, measles, whooping cough, scarlet fever and nasal diphtheria have appeared from time to time, causing intervals of quarantine during which the doors are closed.

The number of patients treated in one fiscal year was 463, of whom 119 paid in full, 43 paid in part, and 301 paid nothing. The patients remain at the Home any time from two weeks to six months and longer, as the case demands.

In order to run so large an institution, it is necessary to employ 25 individuals, including nurses, housekeeper, ward maids, housemaids, engineer and outside men.

The playground has been equipped with swings, seesaws, sand-boxes and a summerhouse. There are sun piazzas for tuberculous joints, and a new model ambulance capable of carrying 20 children. The superintendent of the grounds, Mr. Bird, has been very active in raising funds for enlarging the garage, and thanks are due to him, as well as to those whose generosity has made the present commodious and convenient building possible.

A dental equipment has been installed and kindergarten teaching has for many years been an important part of the treatment. At present this work is being undertaken by amateurs, — young girls who have volunteered their services. The results thus far are excellent, and the Managers greatly appreciate the kindness of the teachers.

Miss Guillod, the head nurse, with able assistants, runs the Home most admirably. Miss Smith, Superintendent of the Hospital, is ever ready with practical help and encouragement. A corps of volunteer workers meets once a week during the winter at the Hospital to help the Managers with the very large amount of household linen and clothing to be cut out, and to all these, individually and collectively, appreciation and thanks are extended.

A committee of ladies from various church societies, the Woman's Club of Wellesley Hills, members of the Red Cross, young girls from schools and colleges, Sunday-school children and others have organized to help the Home, and have done splendid work, not only in giving money, but have made clothing, taught the children, provided games and entertainments, ice cream for holidays and numerous drives in automobiles. To all these kind and generous people the Managers feel deeply grateful.

The Hospital doctors have wanted for some time to send serious heart cases to the Home, believing that country air and sunshine would be of great benefit to them. Heretofore, the Managers have hesitated to receive them because of the extra care and expense involved, but it has been decided to try the experiment as long as there is a possibility of helping these children.

The Home has co-operated with the Hospital in endeavoring to raise an endowment fund, and receives a certain percentage of the amount raised per annum. Thanks are extended to all members of the Hospital Welfare Committee and the "C. H. Clubs" who have generously included the Home in their appeals.

There have been two resignations during the year, and the position of honorary vice-president was offered to one of those resigning, who has been on the Board for many years as manager, treasurer and assistant treasurer. During the absence of the treasurer, Mr. S. H. Hooper, in Europe for a few months,

THE CONVALESCENT HOME

Mr. Nelson T. Bartlett, Jr., very kindly took his place as treasurer.

A great many repairs have been necessary. New cedar posts and wiring for the shacks, new shingles, steps, fencing and fresh paint, but unfortunately subscriptions and donations do not keep pace with the above, and the only appeal for money must be renewed, for without it the work cannot carry on. Annual subscriptions are earnestly solicited. Five hundred dollars endows a memorial bed, over which a tablet is placed with name inscribed. The wards have several already, but there is room for many more.

Visitors to the Home are always welcomed, not only by those in charge, but by the children, whose responsiveness to every little attention and whose patience and cheerful endurance of suffering are a constant wonder and lesson to us all.

MARY B. HUNNEWELL,
Secretary.

FIFTY-FOURTH
ANNUAL REPORT OF
BOSTON, MASS.

1922

In the year 1922 the total cost of operating the Hospital was	$318,750.94
The Hospital receipts from patients were	172,543.49
Leaving an operating deficit of	146,207.45
Income from Invested Funds and Miscellaneous Income was	46,125.28
Leaving a net amount of to be made up by public subscriptions.	$100,082.17

While in the year just past the deficit was more than made good through the efforts of generous friends and the still more generous response, it must not be supposed that the necessity of subscriptions of $100,000 a year has diminished — far from it.

In spite of careful economy the expenses must be larger in 1923 than in 1922, because of the growth of the service, and also because of the recent increase in prices of most materials and foods used.

It should be remembered also that the generous subscriptions of last year have not fully restored the sums taken from the general fund to meet the costs of keeping up the work of the hospital at a loss during the years 1919, 1920 and 1921.

All this would indicate the necessity of asking the public to subscribe a total of $115,000, and we confidently look to our former subscribers to renew their support for the year 1923.

Report of Board of Managers

THE past year has been notable in many ways, and the capacity of The Children's Hospital to fulfill its mission is greater than ever. A thoroughly equipped laboratory, staffed from the Harvard Medical School, has been completed and for several months has been operating to the great advantage of the patients.

The Private Ward was open throughout the year to the satisfaction of those who made use of it, and the needed addition of a diet kitchen has been provided. Though the financial returns of the Private Ward are not yet entirely satisfactory, the Managers feel that as it becomes better known, not only will a much-needed want be filled, but help provided for such patients as are unable to pay.

The contribution of a fund from the Camp Devens Unit has made possible an addition which will provide a lecture room for nurses, a necessity of which they were deprived when the Private Ward was equipped.

An event of great importance is the erection on our land of a Hospital Building by the Infants' Hospital to house their patients. The care of these infants will be entrusted to the Superintendent, Medical Staff, and Nurses of our Hospital. Both Hospitals must benefit by this arrangement, as the saving of overhead expenses will be considerable, in addition to other obvious advantages.

Dr. Robert W. Lovett, for many years the head of the Orthopedic Department, has retired, but we are fortunate in having for his successor Dr. Robert B. Osgood, Professor of Orthopedic Surgery at the Harvard Medical School. The Children's Hospital owes very much to Dr. Lovett, not only for the time and interest devoted to its needs, but for the commanding reputation attained by his department, which was largely due to his capacity and efforts.

Dr. Harold C. Ernst, our Visiting Bacteriologist, resigned shortly before his untimely death. His valuable services and unflinching interest will be sorely missed.

THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

A very thorough reorganization of work and expenses has been attempted during the year, and it is confidently believed that the economies effected are without sacrifice of efficiency. From a financial point of view there has been much encouragement.

In June the "Boston Post" organized a baseball game between nines made up of old players. The game was largely attended and a splendid contribution of $10,000 was made to our funds.

In September a generous percentage of gross receipts during an anniversary sale at Jays was generously contributed.

In the autumn an appeal was made for annual contributions to meet the increased expenses and reduce the deficit, which had attained alarming proportions. The appeal was not in vain, and a good cause has been helped not only by the givers but by those who gave much time and energy to achieve the good result. To one and all such I extend on behalf of the Managers cordial thanks.

It is to be hoped that all contributors will continue to help The Children's Hospital, for without such help the work cannot continue as at present, and much less provide for the expansion already urgently needed.

The Welfare Committee has been very active, as appears from their report, and these activities have been of untold benefit and help.

GEORGE P. GARDNER,
President.

The Private Ward

THE building of the Private Ward was brought about by a demand on the part of those who can afford it for the special facilities afforded by The Children's Hospital, as well as by an urgent appeal on the part of the Hospital Staff for a place where they could care for their private patients in close proximity to their general hospital free work.

While the return on the investment has not in the first year proved entirely satisfactory, the work done for those who have made use of the ward has fully justified its construction. Well patronized, the existence of the ward can materially assist in the maintenance of the free work in the public wards, any surplus going entirely to the care of the charity patients and to no one else.

The Private Ward offers the special advantages of The Children's Hospital in the care, feeding, and general welfare of children by a nursing staff specially trained in this Hospital.

The charges are:—

SINGLE ROOM, $6 A DAY TO $13 A DAY.

The highest price including a bathroom.

No extra charge is made for the parent or other adult occupying the same room with child.

There is a pleasant private dining room where parents may get their meals at moderate prices.

TWO ROOMS AND BATH, $13.50 A DAY TO $25 A DAY.

This price includes meals for the parent in charge of the child.

BEDS IN ROOMS IN WHICH THERE ARE MORE THAN ONE PATIENT,
$5 A DAY.

The above prices include ordinary drugs and services of the floor nurse.

The Hospital Staff is always anxious to co-operate with the family physician.

THE TREASURER

Auditor's Certificate.

As a result of an audit of the books and records of The Children's Hospital for the year ended December 31, 1922, I hereby certify that all cash shown to have been received has been accounted for; that satisfactory evidence of the approval and payment of all disbursements has been examined; that the balance called for by the cash account was on deposit in the several bank accounts or was in the office; that the income earned during the year by investments held by the Hospital was properly accounted for; that all securities shown by the books were on hand or properly accounted for; that the Balance Sheet and Statement of Income and Expense submitted herewith are correct transcripts from the books of account, and, in my opinion, correctly set forth the financial condition of the Hospital as of December 31, 1922, and the results of its operations for the year ended at that date.

Respectfully submitted,

PERCY E. GLEASON,
Certified Public Accountant.

Until this winter it was our most important duty to tell the people, many of whom carried in their hearts both love for the Hospital and gratitude, that the Hospital needed their help. Now owing to the splendid organization and publicity of the general appeal, this is no longer necessary. The public knows that The Children's Hospital is its responsibility.

There is, however, one misapprehension which all members of the Committee have found to seriously cripple their work. This is the statement published in the newspapers that the appeal was oversubscribed, which was understood to mean that the support of the Hospital was secure without further effort. This, of course, is not so, the fact being that the appeal was for annual subscriptions, and that the sum secured was for one year only. It will be the duty of this Committee in the future to emphasize the fact that the demands made on the Hospital can be met only by regular yearly subscriptions.

Many members of the Committee have given enthusiastic service to the Hospital during the last year. Owing, however, to the exigencies of the season's work, the following members have devoted an unusual amount of time to the Hospital:—

Mrs. Hall has been responsible a second season for the organization and maintenance at her own expense of the Department of Occupational Therapy.

Mrs. Lanman, with the assistance of Miss Louise Fessenden, has had charge of volunteer workers for the clinics, which number fourteen regular workers, who gave at least three days a week in the Out-Patient Department.

Thanks to the courtesy of Mrs. George H. Swift in opening her house again this winter, Mrs. Lyman and her associates have conducted a workroom for surgical dressings on Tuesday mornings at 90 Commonwealth Avenue. Through their efforts The Children's Hospital has been supplied with dressings for eleven months of the year.

At the request of Miss Smith, Mrs. Coolidge has given valuable assistance in matters relating to the Private Ward.

Under Mrs. F. B. Crowninshield, the C. H. Club work for the year was continued most satisfactorily. There were 44 clubs enrolled, and the interest of the children in the Hospital seems to be increasing each year. The chairman feels that they will form a valuable nucleus of supporters of the Hospital in the future.

Equally important services have been rendered the Hospital by Mrs. Bremer, Mrs. Cumming, Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Morse, Mrs. Bernard C. Weld, and Mrs. Whittington. Mrs. Feibelman was especially helpful in securing renewals of annual subscriptions, and later on in interesting large groups of women at the time of the appeal.

OUTSIDE OF WARD

This is one of the two-story wards which has wide balconies on the second floor for outdoor treatment; and on the first floor it is so arranged that the patient has a covering like a piazza roof, which at the same time allows the sun to shine directly into the ward.

Medical Department

THE variety of diseases treated by the Medical Department during 1922 was essentially the same as in the preceding year. The volume of the work varied somewhat. There was an increase of 2,068 visits to the Out-Patient Department. This was due entirely to an increased number of revisits, as the number of new patients was 290 less than in the preceding year. In comparison with 1921 there was a slight diminution in the number of patients treated in the wards.

The work in the special classes in the Out-Patient Department has progressed satisfactorily, particularly in those devoted to the treatment of asthma, cardiac disease and congenital syphilis. Due to the excellent co-operation of the Social Service Department it has been possible to follow the patients in their homes and to insure their regular attendance at the clinics. This is of particular importance in the clinic devoted to the treatment of congenital syphilis. It is often difficult and at times impossible to make the parents of these unfortunate children realize the importance of continued observation and treatment after the initial symptoms have subsided.

During the last few years it has been demonstrated that light of short wave lengths, as supplied by direct sunlight and the mercury vapor quartz lamp, has a distinct therapeutic value in certain conditions, such as rickets and tuberculosis. It seems desirable to conduct investigations to determine to what degree light treatment may be of practical value in the treatment of various diseases. Due to the co-operation of the Civic Federation, quartz lamps will be used in the Out-Patient Department of the Hospital in order that this problem may be investigated.

The laboratory was completed in September, and was in operation about the middle of October. A well-equipped laboratory connected directly with the Hospital provides an opportunity to use freely methods of diagnosis impossible without adequate laboratory facilities in close connection with the Hospital. Another function of importance is to make possible investigations of obscure disease conditions. Work of this kind is time-consuming and not always fruitful, but the field of pediatrics offers a large number of problems which can be investigated only in a well-organized institution. Such work cannot fail to add to the usefulness of the Hospital. The Hospital is very fortunate in having as its Laboratory Director, Dr. James L. Gamble, formerly Associate in Pediatrics at Johns Hopkins Medical School.

One of the most difficult problems confronting the Medical Department is the treatment of diabetes, which in young individuals is always severe and usually fatal within a few years. The discovery of the active principle of the internal secretion of the pancreas by Banting gives a ray of hope on an otherwise gloomy outlook. As experience with this remedy is extended, it may be possible to contribute largely to the comfort of these patients, and perhaps to prolong considerably their lives.

It seems desirable to mention the very efficient nursing supplied by the Training School. This represents one of our greatest assets, and contributes largely to the comfort and recovery of sick patients.

Surgical Department

DURING the past year a baby about two weeks old was brought to the Hospital, deeply jaundiced and terribly weak and emaciated. It was evident that the bile could not pass out from the liver into the bowel as it normally should. The only chance of saving the baby from death by slow poisoning and starvation lay in making some outlet for the bile. An operation was performed. The gall bladder and the stomach were connected together, giving a roundabout passage to take the place of the massive normal passage for the bile. The baby is well.

Another baby a few days old came in to the Hospital with persistent vomiting. The X-ray showed that no food whatever left the stomach. An operation revealed the fact that there was no opening in the lower end of the stomach. An opening was made connecting the stomach with the bowel and the baby is now well.

These cases illustrate some of the rare conditions which the Hospital is called upon to treat.

Among the more common malformations are those of the face, especially harelip and cleft palate. Often the mothers scarcely recognize their babies after the deformity has been corrected. Some of the children have been brought from distant parts of New England, where they have been kept secluded and without opportunity for education.

These are among the somewhat spectacular conditions. But from the viewpoint of practical usefulness to the community, the Hospital does an immense good in the cure of hernia in children. Year after year nearly 200 patients are operated upon for this condition. They are permanently cured of a condition which, if untreated, would at times become a source of danger to life, and would always be a physical handicap.

It is fitting to call attention to the conditions which account for death in those patients who die at the Hospital. Infections of different kinds occurring under various conditions are responsible for most of these deaths. Sixty-six children with empyema or abscess in the chest following pneumonia were treated during the past year. Nine of these children died. Yet with rare exceptions, empyema is a complication of pneumonia attributable directly to lack of fresh air and sunshine in the home. As has been pointed out before, the condition will be a common one until unhygienic housing conditions are eliminated.

Many children were treated for appendicitis. The risks of delay in acute cases and the dangers involved in purging these children cannot be emphasized too strongly.

Twenty-eight patients with intussusception were operated upon. There were four deaths among these. A larger number of patients were treated than ever before, and with less mortality. But there must still be many babies who die from this condition, where the physician is called too late. This most terrible surgical emergency of infancy and early childhood can be cured only by very prompt surgical intervention.

The Surgical Department gratefully acknowledges its indebtedness to the Social Service workers, and to those whose co-operation has made possible the continuance of their work without interruption.

Orthopedic Department

CHILDREN suffering from bone and joint disease or crippled by infantile paralysis continue to make their eager appeal for relief to the Orthopedic Department of The Children's Hospital. The acute cases demand wise surgery and specialized watchful after-treatment in the wards and Out-Patient Department. A large proportion are chronic in nature, and must be kept long enough in the main hospital or The Convalescent Home to assure a straight path to recovery. After discharge they must make repeated visits to the afternoon clinics for supervision and advice of the orthopedic surgeons. Here Miss Merrill and her physiotherapeutic aides coax them back to fullest function by massage and skilled muscle training.

To the Staff, the problems which they present are intensely stimulating, because their complete solution is in many cases still elusive. Yet no year passes without some real contribution to better methods of treatment. We are constantly striving to better understand the marked processes, and by careful observation and research to discover original essential causes and their prevention. No types of disease challenge more sharply the best efforts of medical men.

Dr. Lovett's Resignation

On November 1 Dr. Robert W. Lovett resigned as Chief of the Orthopedic Department. The loss of his long and distinguished service is a very serious one which cannot be made good. His efforts and attainments have made the orthopedic clinic of The Children's Hospital respected and honored wherever orthopedic surgery is known, and may be said to have actually set a standard. His cosmopolitan viewpoint and his services to medical education in general, beyond the confines of his specialty, have been of inestimable value to the Hospital. The heritage which he leaves must be wisely conserved. He fortunately remains Consulting Surgeon to the Hospital.

THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

Teaching

It is the firm conviction of most leaders of medical thought that the responsibility of teaching in connection with a hospital service exerts the strongest influence toward careful treatment of patients, and tends toward the greatest individual development of those members of the Staff upon whom this responsibility falls.

Owing to a change in the curriculum at the Harvard Medical School, effective during the school year of 1922 and 1923, more teaching than ever before is being carried out in the wards and Out-Patient Departments. An average of fifteen hours a week of actual clinical and didactic instruction to undergraduates of the third and fourth year of the Harvard Medical School is being given by the members of the Orthopedic Staff at the Hospital. There is, in addition to this, postgraduate teaching of qualified physicians who apply for courses offered by members of the Staff through the Graduate School of Harvard University.

The course of eighteen months offered to graduates who intend to specialize in orthopedic surgery is extremely popular. This course is given in association with the Harvard Medical School and the Massachusetts General Hospital, and provides both of them with internes of broad training and mature judgment. The demand for the course is rapidly increasing. A course of twelve lectures on orthopedic surgery is being given by members of the Staff to nurses in The Children's Hospital Training School.

Appliance Shop

The appliance shop has had a successful year, furnishing well-made, efficient apparatus at a lower cost to the patients and with less waste of time than the commercial appliance maker. It seems a necessity to satisfactory service.

Staff Changes

In addition to Dr. Lovett's resignation there has been received the resignation of Dr. R. Plato Schwartz as Clinical Assistant. Dr. Schwartz has accepted a position as Orthopedic Surgeon to the J. N. Adam Memorial Hospital at Perrysburgh, N. Y. Many valuable and beautifully executed models were made by Dr. Schwartz while on the Staff, and his energy and ingenuity in devising apparatus will be greatly missed.

Dr. A. H. Brewster has been appointed Junior Assistant Surgeon, and Dr. W. F. Cotting and Dr. J. H. Shortell have been promoted to this rank from the rank of Clinical Assistants.

Dr. R. K. Ghormley and Dr. G. K. Carpenter have been appointed Clinical Assistants.

Gifts to the Hospital

Three Alpine Sunlight lamps have been loaned to the Hospital by the Massachusetts Committee of the National Civic Federation, and, in conjunction with the Medical Department, a special study will be made of their recognized value in the treatment of rickets, medical and surgical tuberculosis, and other conditions. The Hospital is extremely grateful to the Massachusetts Committee of the National Civic Federation for this important addition to its therapeutic armamentarium.

Through the generosity of Mrs. Egdar N. Wrightington, metal and glass partial partitions are being placed between the beds in the two upper orthopedic wards. It is confidently hoped that by keeping the children admitted from personal contact with each other for two weeks, there will be much less danger from the infectious diseases of childhood, such as scarlet fever and measles, which have continued, as during last year, to interfere with the health of the patients and seriously cripple the regular work of the department.

The department wishes to express its appreciation of the work of the Social Service Department in following up cases and in undertaking investigations of the home conditions of patients to be admitted, with special reference to contagious diseases. The department is extremely helpful, also, in securing proper accommodation and after-care for discharged patients. The full use of the beds is thus assured and the continuance of proper treatment made possible.

Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commission

INFANTILE paralysis has been steadily prevalent in Massachusetts for the last fifteen years at least, and this is part of a general manifestation in the whole country. From 1881 to 1900, inclusive, there were reported in the whole United States only 200 cases. From 1905 to 1909, inclusive, 5,400 cases were reported, and in 1910 there were 9,000 cases. Since that year, and through 1922, there have been reported in the State of Massachusetts a total of 5,114 cases, 217 cases being reported in 1922.

The most active department of the Commission's present work is the treatment of persons affected by the disease. From October, 1916, to January, 1923, about 2,300 cases have been treated by the Commission's clinics, and at the present time there are about 1,100 patients under its care.

To carry on effective treatment a special clinic is essential, and The Children's Hospital has most generously loaned space in the Out-Patient Department at the Hospital, which is used for the clinics Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings, in the cases of children, and adults are referred to the Infantile Paralysis Department of the Massachusetts General Hospital.

This matter of needing a special clinic is mentioned because it is sometimes difficult to understand why the cases cannot be turned over to an existing hospital for treatment; but it is obvious that for effective treatment, and the necessary expenditure of time on individual cases, no large hospital general clinic could take it on without serious handicap and inability to treat other cases.

Cases needing treatment being scattered all over the State, it has been found that they could not be brought to the Boston clinic sufficiently often to be effectively treated, and in a few months they were likely to cease attendance altogether. For this reason the personnel of the clinic is transported to various parts of the State at the request of local boards of health, and clinics are held at Haverhill, Springfield, North Adams, Northampton, Brockton and Webster. The expenses for these clinics are most often borne by the local boards of health, but they are also met by private organizations, and the personnel of the Boston clinic, including the supervising surgeon, is in attendance.

In addition to this it has been found necessary to have the patients report at certain centers for supervision and reinstruction in exercises, and treatment clinics are held for this purpose in 34 cities and towns throughout the State once in three weeks or oftener. These clinics are in charge of a Commission worker, who sees that instructions given by the Commission Surgeon are being carried out. In this way the State is so districted that no child in any part, whose doctor is desirous of obtaining modern and skillful treatment, is debarred from the privileges of obtaining it free of charge and under favorable conditions.

The result of the plan of treatment adopted has been the satisfaction of the parents and the local health and community officers. This is shown by the fact that the average attendance at the clinics is quite as large as in 1916, and that parents come with their children regularly over a period of months and years.

There is every reason to believe, from the behavior of the disease in this State, the study of it in other countries and in other parts of this country, that before long another epidemic will occur in Massachusetts. Apart from the need of continued care for children already affected, in the event of another epidemic it would prove of very great advantage to the community to have a working organization, prepared to take hold of affected cases, and furnish assistance to doctors from the time that the child was taken sick until the maximum of improvement had been reached.

Funds to carry on the work of the Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commission for the past year have been furnished by the public in response to two appeals sent out during 1922.

The Commission owes much to the untiring efforts of Dr. Arthur T. Legg, the wise and tactful supervision of Mrs. H. C. Low, Executive Secretary, and the skillful muscle training supervised by Miss Merrill and carried out by her assistants.

Department of Physical Therapeutics

Scoliosis Out-Patient Clinic

THE attendance in the scoliosis clinic continues to increase both in number of new cases and in total attendance.

The clinic is held on Tuesday and Thursday afternoon and on Saturday morning, and is supervised by Dr. A. H. Brewster and Miss Merrill. Developmental and limbering up exercises are given in the well-equipped gymnasium by senior students of the Boston School of Physical Education, under the instruction of Dr. Brewster and Miss Merrill. The structural cases demanding apparatus and plaster jackets receive Dr. Brewster's special attention. Certain cases requiring recumbency are admitted to the wards, and plaster shells prepared for treatment in their homes. Special emphasis is being placed upon teaching the mild structural and the functional cases to maintain correct attitudes and overcome the habits of faulty posture. Individual attention is the keynote of treatment and the secret of success. Without the assistance received from the Boston School of Physical Education this would be difficult to attain.

Hospital Wards

In the Hospital wards over 500 treatments more than in 1921 by massage and other physiotherapeutic measures have been given. These figures do not include the detailed muscle examinations which are made as a matter of routine of all cases of infantile paralysis admitted to the orthopedic wards.

Total number* of treatments given	1,460

SUN ROOM!

There are twelve of these sun rooms, one at both ends of each ward.

Out-Patient Department

The Physiotherapeutic Department has also increased its work in the out-patient surgical and orthopedic clinics. More cases are being constantly referred from these clinics.

	Cases	Treatments
Orthopedic out-patient physiotherapy . .	79	359
Surgical out-patient physiotherapy . .	8	94

Teaching

A course in the theory and practice of massage is given twice a year to members of the second-year class of the Nurses' Training School.

The 1922 physiotherapy course offered by the Harvard Medical Graduate School was filled, and it was necessary to refuse applicants. Much of the teaching of these women was done by Dr. J. W. Sever and Dr. A. T. Legg of the Orthopedic Department, while the direction and supervision of the course was carried on by the Physiotherapy Department. These women are now working in hospital clinics, doctors' offices, health centers, and public schools all over the United States. That they are successful seems to be proved by the fact that hardly a week passes without some request to this department to supply them with a trained physiotherapist. The last four requests have come from Tennessee, Ohio, California and Minnesota.

Personnel

The personnel of the department consists of the Director and one paid assistant. A few women with preliminary training are offered an opportunity to work in the wards and out-patient clinics, under close supervision, for periods of three months. The Director of this department also serves as supervisor of treatments carried out in the clinics of the Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commission in the Out-Patient Department of The Children's Hospital.

Neurological Department

THE neurological service conducts, as before, two clinics. The morning clinic is largely devoted to routine examination and treatment of cases which do not require prolonged muscle training. The numerous cases of paralysis are followed by Miss Trainor and her associates in afternoon clinics supervised by the neurologist and by members of the surgical and orthopedic services.

The most important phase of the work is the treatment of birth injuries of the nervous system. The babies who are damaged by difficult labor are brought to the Hospital as soon as possible. In many cases early recognition and treatment means recovery instead of permanent and handicapping disability. The importance of birth injury as a cause of disability is hardly realized by most physicians, but a study of the statistics in this Hospital suggests that with the possible exception of infantile paralysis it accounts for more crippled children than any other cause. The efficient treatment of these cases, for which Miss Trainor is largely responsible, is a most important piece of work in preventive medicine.

The resignation of Dr. Moir and Miss Linscott, both of whom have served faithfully and efficiently for eight years, leaves a gap in the personnel of the muscle-training clinic. Service of this sort deserves the appreciation which it receives from the patients and the Staff.

Throat Department

THE quantity and character of the work in the Throat Department is indicated by the appended statistical table.

Compared with the previous year there is seen to be but a trifling increase. This is inevitable since the capacity of the department has been reached and a strict limitation to the number of admissions has to be maintained. There is no need of further hospital facilities until we can be assured of a greater supply of suitable assistants in the clinic. Service in this department is rendered unattractive to the young, well-trained laryngologist by the large amount of routine tonsil and adenoid work compared with subjects of special laryngological interest, together with the fact that it is an afternoon clinic. For the last two years we have relied — and very successfully — on the assistance of older men from the West and South, who have come to Boston for special training in laryngology. These men spend six months (the minimum period) to a year or more as voluntary assistants, doing the routine work of the clinic while being instructed in operative work, eventually becoming excellent tonsil operators. This is a training that they greatly appreciate. Up to the present time this method has proved very satisfactory, and the character of the work and the spirit of the clinic is commendable, but we feel that, for the present, no further increase in the size of the clinic should be allowed on this basis.

Dental Department

THE large increase in number of patients treated in the dental clinic during the past year definitely proves the vast need of dental care. It has been necessary to increase our dental staff, and Dr. Walter W. Vaughan has been appointed as Graduate Assistant. This will allow us to operate two full mornings each week, with sufficient extra time to care for all urgent consultations and emergency cases immediately. As has been customary during the past year, children treated in any Out-Patient Department of the Hospital may be referred to the Dental Department for treatment on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. All house patients needing dental treatment are cared for twice a week, and through the aid of the Social Service Department, the children discharged from the house before their dental work is completed are returned regularly to the out-patient clinic for the completion of their work. This method allows the discharge of patients from the Hospital much sooner, for in the past children were held over in the house for a week or two for necessary dentistry.

The results obtained in our clinic have clearly proven that carious teeth will oftentimes keep the health of the child below par, and considerable attention is now paid to, and much stress laid upon, the hygiene of the mouth. The department attempts to put every mouth in a clean, healthy condition before the final discharge.

Again we have had an unusual number of cases needing orthodontic treatment. As this type of work cannot be adequately cared for in a general hospital, we have made arrangement with the Harvard Dental School to care for some of our most urgent and needy cases. This work is done in co-operation with the Hospital, and a member of our Staff is kept in constant touch with the case.

Besides the greatly increased number of house patients, the department cared for 220 new out-patient children. The work included cases of prophylaxis, fillings of amalgam and cement, extraction of carious and abscessed teeth and roots, treatment of pulpitis, stomatitis, painful erupting and malposed teeth, alveolar abscesses, necrosis, osteomyelitis and fractures of the maxillary bones.

Roentgen Department

THE personnel of the department underwent certain changes in August, 1922. On that account the report for the year 1922 may be somewhat inadequate.

A new transformer and various accessories were added to the department, making it a fairly well-equipped one.

The number of cases seen during the year was not materially increased, although, during the latter months, there has been a steady rise in the number handled. This has been due partially to the beginning of therapeutic work in the department. The latter has been growing steadily in amount and now has become an integral part of the duties of the department.

A collection of films has been started, showing most of the typical conditions and some unusual ones. This collection will be at the disposal of the Staff, to be used in teaching or for publications.

The department thanks the various members of the Staff for their hearty co-operation and interest.

Social Service Department

DURING the year 1922, 600 families have come to the attention of the department. This naturally indicates a much larger number of children under supervision, as in many instances there have been two or more patients in a family. There have been 2,663 outside visits made.

On the orthopedic service the routine social planning for the after-care of patients with congenital hip disease has been added. We have for a long time been conscious of the need for more satisfactory after-care arrangements for these long-time cases. It has been arranged, also, for the orthopedic worker to make preliminary home visits on cases which are on the waiting list for the ward at the time when they are sent for admission. We hope that this will serve a twofold purpose, — the securing of any recent history of exposure to contagion, and an early social contact with the parents which will make possible a sound basis for a later discharge plan for the patient. As it is to be the ruling that children discharged from a contagious hospital are not to be admitted to the ward or to Wellesley until after a period of two weeks, we are trying to work out some plan of interim placement made necessary by the fact that many of these children — some from remote parts of the State — cannot pass that interval at home.

During the past year 108 applications for the special fund for apparatus have been received by the Social Service Department. The amount expended from the fund was $494.13. There were 58 children provided for by outside agencies or interested individuals after the situation had been inquired into. An attempt has been made to expend the $500 judiciously, in paying for the more expensive apparatus. The department wishes to acknowledge gratefully the renewed gift of $500 from the Committee of the Permanent Charity Fund, Incorporated, for the year 1923.

In the fall a survey was made to determine the degree of need for social service in the nerve clinic. It was found that so comparatively small a number of cases required social assistance that the surgical worker could easily combine the group with the cases on the surgical service. The marked need of clinical assistance in the Nerve Department has been filled by a volunteer who is most capably keeping the follow-up file and seeing that the clinic runs smoothly.

In addition to accomplishing this, the chief volunteer has been able to aid the muscle training clinic by working out a system of organized motor transportation for the children whose families are totally unable to report with them the three times a week necessary to obtain satisfactory results from treatment.

On the surgical service, at Dr. Stone's request, letters have been sent out to all cleft palate cases living in and around Boston, who are old enough to attend a speech clinic at the Hospital. Out of 50 letters, 22 replies from parents have been received, reporting either no speech defect or inability to bring the children to the classes. Seven have reported for instruction. The classes are held every Monday and Friday at 11 o'clock, and the children are taught by Mrs. Tunncliffe, who gives her time and services. The largest class, so far, has been five children.

A card index of all the harelip and cleft palate cases treated within the last five years has been brought up to date as completely as possible, and letters are being sent out to cases who were to have reported for further treatment within the last two years, but who have not done so.

In addition to these two special bits of work, the plans for the children on the surgical service are along the same lines as in the past three years.

The medical out-patient worker has concentrated during the past six months in helping in the reorganization of the luetic clinic. Her report of the present situation is as follows: There are 45 children with positive conditions under treatment. All but 6 of these are reporting with absolute regularity. In addition there are 8 children who are suspicious cases with negative Wassermann tests. In every case but one the parents have been talked with and have been connected up with treatment in other hospitals. In 4 cases, only one parent has been examined. This makes a total of about 80 adults for whom the medical out-patient worker has arranged out-patient care, — a process which, under the circumstances, takes time and tact.

The present enrollment of the medical out-patient heart class is 134 cases. The entire list has been gone over during the months of December and January in an effort to check up on the regularity of visits. In cases where a patient has failed to report regularly, home visits have been made to supervise and encourage hospital attendance.

The plans of after-care for patients on the medical ward have continued as during the past five years.

The department at present is having valuable assistance from a full-time student nurse, three volunteers, and three students from the Simmons College School of Social Work, with which, as with the Training School, a teaching connection has been continued.

School of Nursing

AS we look back over the year that has just past we feel that, although it has brought forth no striking developments, it has been one of growth and progress for the School of Nursing.

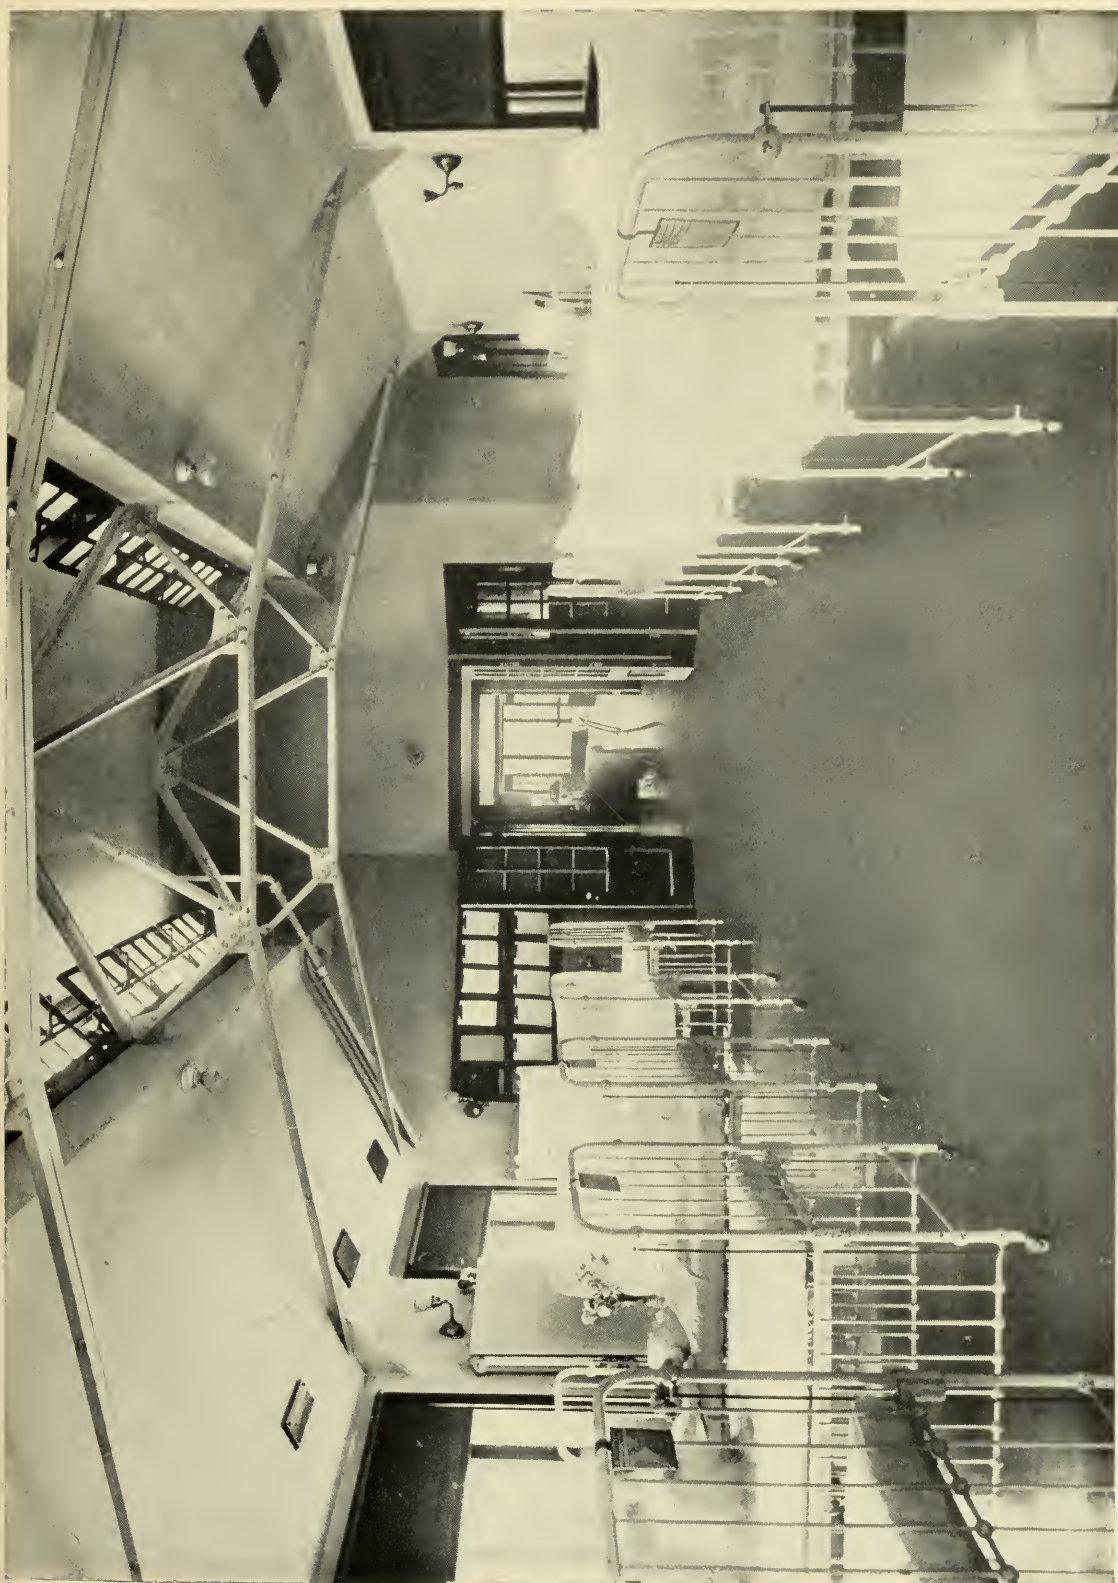

The enrollment of the school is larger than ever before, but in spite of this fact, the nursing staff has at times been taxed to the utmost to meet the needs of the Hospital which is expanding in all its departments.

Although the new Private Ward is not staffed with student nurses, it has indirectly added to the duties of the student staff by increasing the work of other departments, especially the Throat Department. Some of the rooms of the old Private Ward have been given to the throat ward, and have considerably increased its capacity, which has necessitated a larger nursing staff.

Steady progress has been made with the adjustment of the course of training toward having the affiliations for general adult nursing and obstetrical training come in the second year. This fall, for the first time, we have had our entire senior class on duty in the Hospital which is an advantage both to the students and to the Hospital. It is obviously of benefit to the Hospital to have the greater efficiency of the third-year students. To the students the advantage lies in the possibility of a better planned program of theory and the introduction of courses which we have been unable to give before.

We are deeply indebted to Dr. Place of the South Department of the City Hospital for a new course of lectures on contagious diseases given to our senior students. We hope the time will come when we can give some, if not all, of our students practical experience in this branch of nursing.

Since the closing of the old Hospital it has been impossible to give experience with feeding cases to our students except to those few who have had the privilege of the summer course on the Floating Hospital. This has meant the loss of a very essential part of the training in the care of children, and for this reason we are especially glad of the new infants' ward.

INTERIOR OF ONE OF THE WARDS

Typical ward. The office in the center gives the nurse in charge a view of the twenty-two beds at all times. Note the overhead construction, which gives the most perfect system of ventilation.

SCHOOL OF NURSING

In May a cross affiliation with the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital was established. Since 1901, our students have been going to the Massachusetts General Hospital for four months' experience in the nursing of adult cases. For several years past the Brigham Hospital has sent some of its students to this school for pediatrics, and it seemed to both Hospitals a desirable and more economic arrangement to have an exchange of students. It is with real regret that we have severed our affiliation with the Massachusetts General Hospital, as the relation between the two schools has been a very cordial and long-standing one and of mutual benefit.

The importance of recreation and social life for our students and graduate staff has not been overlooked, and a party has been given nearly every month. To Mrs. Frederick S. Mead we are indebted for our Christmas party and a delightful reading of Dickens' "Christmas Carol" by Mr. E. P. Collier. In February, the valentine dance, which was greatly enjoyed, was given through the kindness of Mrs. Geo. H. Monks. Smaller informal parties have been held at the Nurses' Home.

This year has brought more demands for graduates of this school for positions as supervisors of children's departments in general hospitals than ever before. These positions are especially interesting ones, as they now call not only for executive work, but for teaching as well, thus putting to its best use the highly specialized training given in this school. In no way can the influence and high standards of the institution be more far-reaching in result.

A few years ago there were practically only two fields for graduate nurses, private duty and institutional work. The very rapid development of public health work has opened up a highly diversified field for nurses. In addition to public health nursing there are many other interesting positions for graduate nurses, such as those of resident or visiting instructors, anesthetists, assistants in X-ray, and research in metabolism. To prepare nurses for these many and varied branches it has been necessary to revise the curricula of schools of nursing and give more thorough courses in the basic sciences, and to eliminate from the practical work certain routine duties which can be carried on by ward assistants.

Our schools are slowly emerging from the apprenticeship stage to the stage of being really educational institutions. This requires much adjustment on the part of both hospitals and schools of nursing. We are confronted with the problem of safeguarding the Hospital and at the same time protecting the interests of nursing education. We must realize that all institutions caring for the sick are not suitable for the maintenance of schools of nursing, and we must not confuse an economic problem with an educational one. There is an increasing tendency toward the centralization of schools, usually with university affiliation. This development has been brought about either through the association of a teaching hospital, providing a practical laboratory for nursing students, with the university, or by a union of already existing private or public hospitals with the teaching institution under which the control of their schools of nursing has been placed. Boston offers an unusual opportunity for such a central school, with its wonderful group of hospitals.

The question of financing schools of nursing is a grave and pressing one. Whether they shall be supported by the hospital, by endowment, or shall receive aid from the State is yet to be determined.

Let us realize that this very complex problem is not one belonging to the nursing profession alone, but is a phase of the great social problem, and that we need the loyal support of the public in order to render it our best service.

The Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital

Wellesley Hills

THE Managers of The Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital present to the public their thirty-eighth report.

The number of the children in the Home for the year was 391, of whom 70 paid in full, 68 paid in part, and 253 received free care. The patients remain at the Home any time from two weeks to six months and even longer, as the case demands.

The one distressing and important fact that stands out this year is that we have had 46 cases of contagion, there having been scarlet fever, whooping cough and measles all recurring from time to time. The problem of contagion has always been acute, but it has so handicapped the work of the Home this past year that the Managers as well as the Medical Staff of the Hospital feel that some radical changes must be made. The ideal solution would be a small separate building where the children coming from the Hospital could be kept for at least two weeks' quarantine before entering the wards with all the other children. However, with our finances in such a depleted condition the thought of another building cannot be contemplated, unless it would appeal to some one or some group of people to give it as a memorial. We have made three separate experiments in trying to adapt various rooms for quarantine purposes, and finally even used the main girls' ward, but all proved failures. Ideal as the building of the Home is for sun and air it does not lend itself to quarantine quarters. We feel that we not only need the advice but also the financial help of the Hospital to solve this problem if our work is to be of continued value to it.

At a special meeting in the spring it was decided to sell a portion of the land belonging to the Home to the Babson Park Company. The Home owns about 31 acres, and the proposition was to sell 2.8 acres to the Babson Park Company, whose property joins that of the Home. Mr. Babson has plans for building dormitories for students, lecture halls, etc., thus making a community center. Part of the plan includes a building to contain a post office. The United States government has given Mr. Babson permission for this post office, provided it is on a main road. As none of his property met this requirement he was anxious to obtain 200 feet of our property on Forest Street, with a strip of woodland running back to his land. The sale was made for $1,900.

Miss Guillod continues at her post of head nurse with untiring zeal, and her interest and loyalty are duly appreciated. Miss Hubbard has done splendid work, and we hope for equal satisfaction in the two new members of the staff.

The dentistry work has progressed with great success, and Dr. Dinney has treated 174 children.

The problem of where to send children with heart disease for a long period of convalescence has been keenly felt in this community, and it is only in the last few years that the Home attempted to take these cases. We feel that we have done good work with them this past year, and have thus added to our usefulness.

Each year our sun room proves itself of more and more value in its treatment of various tubercular troubles. It was open from April to November, and it was with keen regret that we closed it then on account of not having the means to heat it. This is a work in which we were pioneers in this country, and the sun plus the scientifically designed lens have shown excellent results in helping to make cures that previously seemed hopeless.

The Home receives no financial aid from the Hospital; in fact, the Home supplies the Hospital with all the bedding, towels and garments used by the children. This large burden of expense (amounting this year to $3,422.29) that is carried by the Managers of the Home is not always understood by the public. It has been a natural outcome of the Ladies' Aid Association which was formed in 1869, and when this Association was incorporated into The Convalescent Home the aid given the Hospital was continued. The Managers with many helpers meet every Tuesday morning at the Nurses' Home of The Children's Hospital, 640 Huntington Avenue, and cut out and tie up bundles of clothing which are later given to various societies and poor women to be sewed. This work is always

BOSTON

Its Service to the Community

IT extends to children, not over twelve years of age, medical and surgical treatment, without regard to sex, race, creed or color.

Maintains in its general wards 154 beds. In these beds, 4,735 children were cared for in 1923.

In its Out-Patient Department there were treated in 1923, 11,892 new cases, with a total of 48,618 visits.

Through its Social Service Department, 3,887 outside visits were made in following up cases discharged from the Hospital.

It conducts a School of Nursing which has an enrollment of 120 pupils. This school graduates 25 competent trained nurses for children each year.

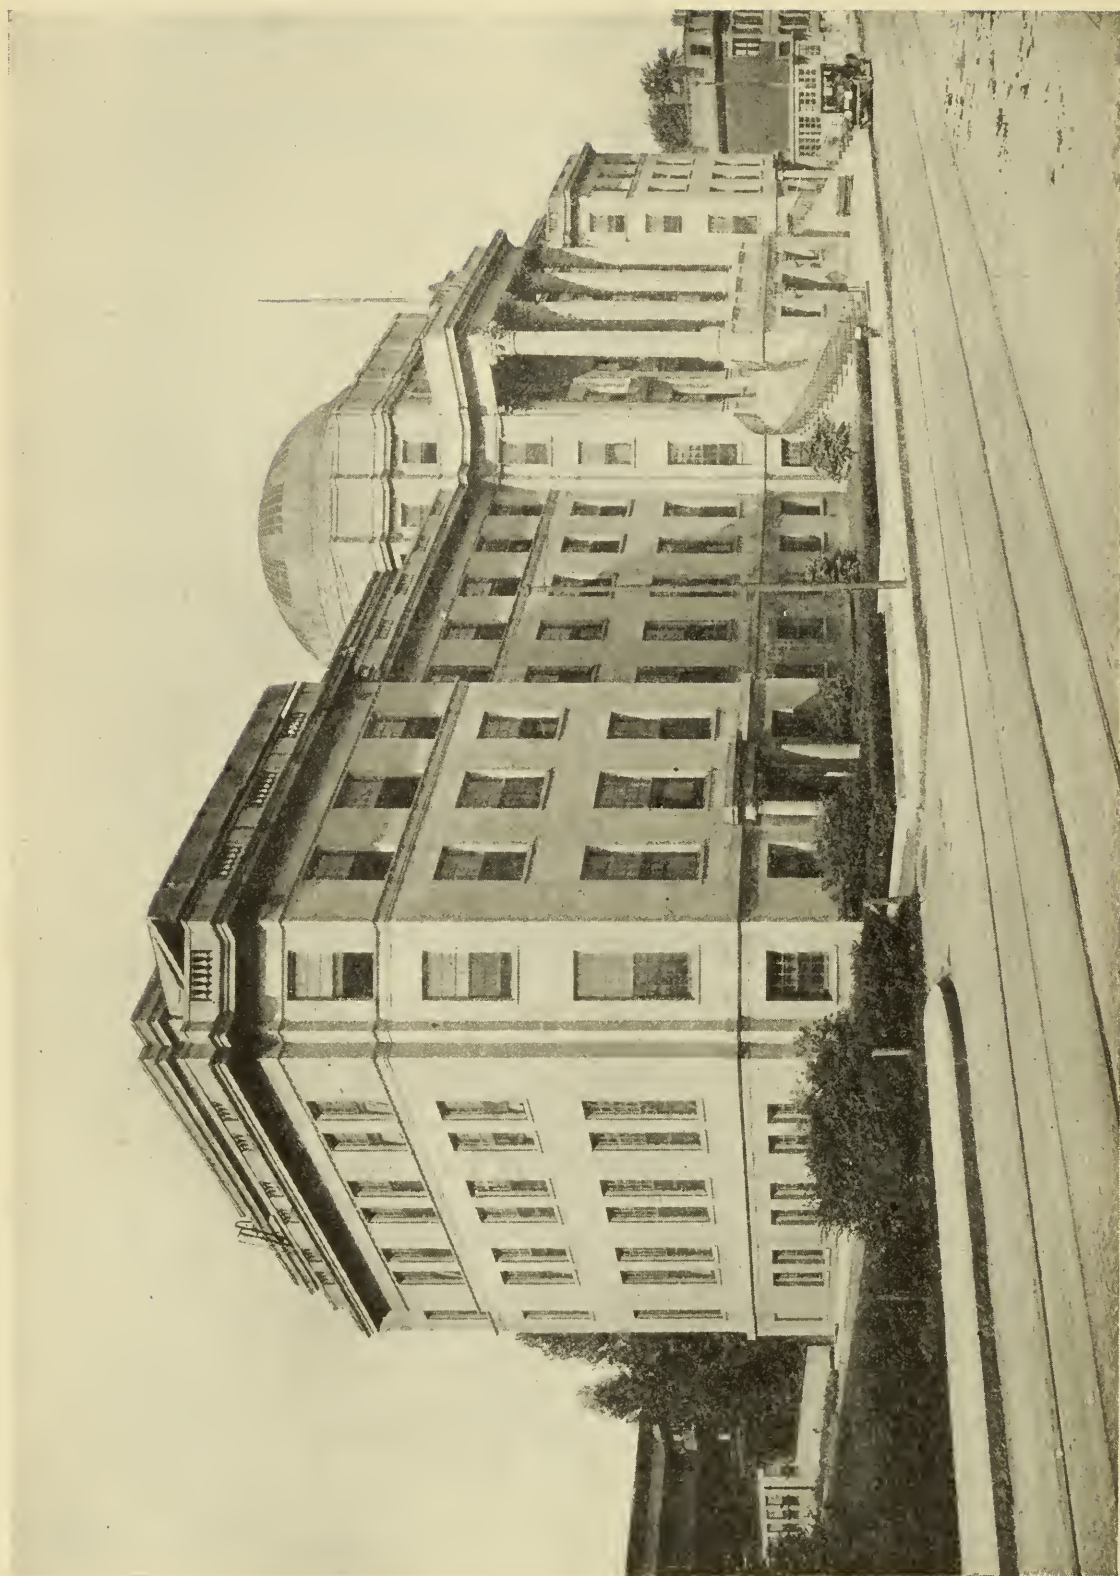

Prospective physicians and surgeons are taught and trained each year in the special branches of medicine and surgery relating to children.

It maintains clinics for special groups of diseases, and the correction of faulty postures and deformities.

Infants and children are vaccinated against Small Pox. They are protected from Diphtheria.

It aims to keep children well through its Well Baby Clinic, its Nutrition Clinic and its clinic for Rickets.

Through its Appointment System in the Out-Patient Department, it saves mothers from waiting, lessens the danger from infection and renders better medical care.

Report of the President

THE most important single event in the history of The Children's Hospital for the past year was the opening of the new Infants' Hospital upon a piece of ground leased from the former and connected by tunnel with the Administration Buildings.

This building, designed by Mr. Charles A. Coolidge with the cooperation of Dr. Oscar Schloss, is an example of the latest improvements in hospital construction, viz., great concentration for the immediate care of patients in a small well ventilated area, supplied from the central administrative building.

As was outlined in our last report, the care of patients in the new hospital is entrusted to the Staff and Superintendent of The Children's Hospital organization. The transfer took place in June, with great ease and an absence of any of the friction which so often attends such fusions, and the result has been very satisfactory.

In justice to the Superintendent of The Children's Hospital and that of its Training School, it must be pointed out that the increase in responsibility and anxiety has been great, but is, we feel sure, compensated for by the feeling that the medical care of a child from birth to the age of twelve is now followed in logical sequence, and that the united control makes possible greater efficiency not only in the care of patients but in the education of doctors and nurses.

That the consolidation has produced financial savings in proportion to the increased efficiency, it would be improper to claim. The better a hospital the more it costs; and these costs, dependent as they are on the ever-increasing demands for laboratory and dietetic studies and more intensive nursing, far outweigh the saving in unified administration.

The influences hinted at above have been felt more even in our hospital than in the Infants'. The number of nurses in proportion to patients has greatly increased in past years. The resident and house physicians have grown in numbers in almost as great proportion.

THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

The teaching of nurses has broadened to a degree unthought of ten years ago, and that of young doctors has more than doubled the demands made upon the hospital by the Medical School.

That this is all in the interest of both public and patients no one can deny. Today a child suffering from some obscure disease and of a family unable to pay for its care is probably sure of more expert treatment at The Children's Hospital than can be obtained elsewhere for the child of a well-to-do family.

The hospital is not only caring for its patients but helping to raise the medical and nursing standard for the whole public. That this is costly is beyond a doubt. That it deserves the wonderful support which the people of this community are giving is equally so. Last year, thanks to this support, we have balanced our budget.

Our thanks are due to many who helped to bring this about. First to the Committee headed by Mr. Pliny Jewell, which without especial publicity, but with constant effort, called the attention of those who subscribed in 1922 to our yearly needs. Second to the Welfare Committee whose efforts over an ever-widening circle are more and more beneficial.

The ladies who manage the Convalescent Home, together with their associates, through the after-care of our children at Wellesley, and through their devotion in countless ways to our needs, render a service not easily measured.

From among many who made organized efforts for our financial help we must mention Jay's store, whose sale in October was most successful, and the organizers of the Chestnut Hill and Brookline day — an occasion when without regard to creed or nationality all joined to help the sick child.

Thanks are also especially due to Mrs. Frederick T. Bradbury, and Mrs. Edgar N. Wrightington, the former having borne the cost of repainting the Elizabeth White Ward, and the latter the cost of installing cubicles and surgical tables in the same ward.

In June last Dr. Oscar Schloss resigned as Head of the Pediatric Department, to the great regret of the many who owe him gratitude for his devotion to the care of both children and infants during his stay.

His place has been taken by Dr. Kenneth D. Blackfan, to whom is due much of the success of the recent fusion of the management of the Infants' Hospital with that of The Children's Hospital.

During the year the Surgical Appliance Shop, for many years past a most valuable aid to the orthopedic surgeons and their patients, having outgrown the quarters in the hospital building occupied since 1914, is now much more suitably situated in new quarters on land bought by the hospital on Vila Street, and now looks forward to increased efficiency.

Together with the land above mentioned the hospital has also bought six brick houses on Brookline Avenue near Vila Street. These are now being remodeled to meet the increasing demands for housing internes and nurses.

Finally a word must be said for the Nurses' Home. Ample as it was four years ago for the training school, the increase caused by the opening of the private ward, and that of the new Infants' Hospital, has crowded it beyond reason.

For the present we are helped by rooms leased from the Lying-in Hospital, and in June other relief is expected from the houses just mentioned; but the problem is only postponed; — we need, and must continue to need, a new Nurses' Home. The land for this has already been given, and the plans have been drawn, but no funds are available for the building.

The managers invite inspection and criticism. We believe the Hospital to be modern and sound throughout its departments. It is competently staffed, and managed as economically as efficiency permits. The work is always for the good of the public, and as such it requires and deserves the cooperation of all those able to help with money and of all those who have the welfare of children at heart.

We are very grateful for the help, whether of services or of money so freely given during the past year, and plead for its continuance.

(Signed) GEORGE P. GARDNER,
President.

The Teaching Function of the Hospital

IT is now generally recognized that medical teaching and research act as a stimulus to the best kind of medical and surgical care of patients. The entire hospital and Out-Patient Department of The Children's Hospital are used for the training of medical students and the teaching of graduates in medicine. The teaching is done, under close supervision, with careful regard for the patients, by instructors chosen from the faculty of The Harvard Medical School. The Visiting Medical and Surgical Staff of the Hospital is composed of these teachers.

It should be emphasized that the nurses in training receive not only a specialized training in the care of infants and children, but through affiliations with other hospitals they receive a general training according to the modern standards of nursing education. The Training School aims to so prepare their graduates that whether they choose actual bedside nursing or hospital administrative work, they are fully prepared in their chosen field of work.

Thus the hospital renders a many-fold service to the community; it gives the patient the services of recognized authorities in the different branches of medicine and surgery, and it affords an opportunity for the better training of prospective physicians. The constant demand for more nurses in every community steadily increases the service which the hospital is rendering through its Nurses Training School.

The Private Ward

THE Private Ward has proved well adapted for the purpose for which it was planned. It makes it possible for the doctors to do with greater efficiency their hospital work and some of their private work under the same roof. And it gives to those to whom the general wards are not open, the special facilities and the trained care only to be found in a hospital devoted to the care of children.

During the year 1923, 1,038 children were admitted and 688 operations were performed.

ONE OF THE BEDROOMS

We quote below the rates for the rooms in this ward:

SINGLE ROOM, $6 A DAY TO $13.50 A DAY.

The highest price including a bathroom.

No extra charge is made for the parent or other adult occupying the same room with child.

There is a pleasant private dining room where parents may get their meals at moderate prices.

THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

TWO ROOMS AND BATH, $13.50 A DAY TO $25 A DAY.

This price includes meals for the parent in charge of the child.

BEDS IN ROOMS IN WHICH THERE ARE MORE THAN ONE PATIENT,
$5 A DAY.

The above prices include ordinary drugs and services of the floor nurse.

The Hospital Staff is always anxious to co-operate with the family physician.

Auditor's Certificate

As a result of an audit of the books and records of The Children's Hospital for the year 1923, I hereby certify that all cash shown to have been received has been accounted for; that satisfactory evidence of the approval and payment of all disbursements has been examined; that the balance called for by the cash account was on deposit in the several bank accounts or was in the offices of the Corporation; that the income earned during the year by investments held by the Hospital was properly accounted for; that all securities shown by the books were on hand or properly accounted for; that the Balance Sheet and Statement of Income and Expense submitted herewith are correct transcripts from the books of account, and, in my opinion, correctly set forth the financial condition of the Hospital as of December 31, 1923, and the results of its operations for the year ended at that date.

Respectfully submitted,

PERCY E. GLEASON,
Certified Public Accountant.

OUTSIDE OF WARD

This is one of the two-story wards which has wide balconies on the second floor for outdoor treatment; and on the first floor it is so arranged that the patient has a covering like a piazza roof, which at the same time allows the sun to shine directly into the ward

The year has brought the members of the three ladies' Boards together in most helpful cooperation. Mrs. William Watson Caswell and Mrs. Philip Stockton represent the Thomas Morgan Rotch Jr. Memorial Hospital on the Welfare Committee, and Mrs. George H. Monks and Mrs. Robert Amory the Convalescent Home. Thanks to the courtesy of Mrs. Frederick Thayer and the ladies of the Convalescent Home Board in sharing their workroom at the Nurses' Home with the Welfare Committee, many surgical dressings have been made throughout the year, under the direction of Mrs. Louis Bacon. The ladies of both Boards have cooperated with the Welfare Committee in being hostesses at informal weekly Teas given for the Nurses at the Nurses' Home.

Mrs. Harold J. Coolidge has given Miss Smith assistance in matters relating to the private ward.

THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

Mrs. Henry S. Hall, who had been responsible for the organization and maintenance of the department of Occupational Therapy for two seasons, had the gratification of having the department taken over by the Hospital. Mrs. Hall has remained in charge of the department and with the assistance of an excellent professional aide, Miss Anna B. Wheelwright, and thirteen volunteer aides have brought happiness and recreation to the children several days in each week. As "the children dearly love a party" Mrs. Hall, with funds privately secured, has contrived celebrations for the different holiday seasons.

Mrs. Richard P. Strong represents the Public Health Committee of the National Civic Federation in the joint demonstration by the Federation and the Hospital, of the value of the Ultra Violet-Ray in the control of rickets and tuberculosis, for which the Federation purchased and loaned to the Hospital three Ultra Violet-Ray lamps. One hundred and fifty children have received treatment in the wards with helpful results and in some cases complete cures.

Miss Louise Fessenden is responsible for the Volunteer Workers who, relieving as they do the nurses and giving assistance to the doctors, save many hundred dollars annually for the Hospital thereby bringing a vital contribution to the Hospital from the members of the Junior League.

Perhaps the most touching service that is given to the Hospital is that of the C. H. Clubs, under the guidance of Mrs. F. B. Crowninshield and Mrs. Robert W. Means. The young members of these clubs continue to feel their responsibilities towards their little sick brothers and sisters and four new clubs have been added to the already large list.

The Committee has lost a most valued member by the death of Mrs. George Minot Baker.

Many members of the Committee have given enthusiastic service to the Hospital during the last year. No one has been more devoted than Mrs. E. W. Cumming and Mrs. H. Parker Whittington. Thanks are also due to Mrs. Larz Anderson, Mrs. J. Lewis Bremer, Mrs. Clarence R. Edwards, Mrs. Reginald C. Foster, Mrs. Robert W. Means, Miss Mary Meehan, Mrs. Robert C. Morse, Mrs. Grace M. Poole, Mrs. Bernard C. Weld, Mrs. William Sutton and Mrs. S. Huntington Wolcott.

KATHARINE R. MEAD,
Chairman.

Report of Medical Department

A SURVEY of the activities of the Medical Division of The Children's Hospital shows that there has been steady progress in the work accomplished during the past year. The number of patients treated in the hospital and those attending the Out-Patient Department, as compared with 1922 is as follows:

	1922	1923
Hospital Patients	573	707
Out-Patient Department
Total Visits	17,995	18,850
New Patients	4,725	5,491

Should this increase in the service rendered by the hospital continue, and there is every reason to expect that it will, definite steps toward increasing the personnel of the Medical Department must be faced. Certain efforts toward increasing the efficiency of the service have been started already. An additional social service worker has been secured, in order to develop a more complete follow-up system of all the patients applying for care. We feel that we can now not only give medical advice to our patients, but also see that they receive such instruction in their homes as will enable them to carry out intelligently our recommendations. Arrangements are being made also to establish a system of visits by appointment in the Out-Patient Department. It is believed that by arranging a definite time of appointment for the examination of patients, more individual attention can be given a larger number, and much confusion and time-consuming waiting to which the usual dispensary patient is subjected, be avoided.

The Medical Department has established a special clinic, through which well babies are given supervision and care. The development of this work seemed necessary in order to avoid the congregation of well babies with sick babies in the general Out-Patient Clinic. Obviously, this lessens the danger of infections to the well babies, and it is the first step in the direction of Preventative Pediatrics, which is as important a hospital responsibility as is the care of the acutely ill child.

The special clinics which have been in operation during the past year continue to render much service to the community. In this connection it may be mentioned that the work of the Cardiac Clinic is made difficult for want of special beds for its patients. Only by filling the hospital beds with patients with heart disease, can place be provided for these patients to receive the necessary special care and rest periods under our supervision. The hospital wards are not suitable for this purpose and the beds are needed for the acutely ill patients. If the cardiac patients are recommended to other hospitals, they inevitably become wards of those hospitals, and the supervised control which has been developed here in our clinic is, therefore, impossible.

A distinctly new development of the hospital is the opening of a ward devoted to the care of patients with diabetes, nephritis, epilepsy, etc. The recent advances in the treatment of these conditions necessitate specialized nursing and dietetic care, as well as the closest co-operation with the laboratory. The "Metabolism Ward" is rendering a splendid service.

Under the able direction of Dr. Gamble, the investigative activities of the hospital are progressing satisfactorily. A number of projected plans already give promise of being of practical, as well as of scientific value.

The opening of the new Infants' Hospital marked an important epoch in the history of the hospital. The care of the infants has not only increased the work of the Medical Division, but it has also materially enlarged the value of the clinic.

Neurological Department

THE work of this department is conducted in close co-operation with other clinics, especially the Medical and the Orthopedic. Many cases under a rigid system would be transferred from department to department. By informal consultations, such cases are now treated without formal transfers. On the whole, further extensions of this principle seem entirely feasible. Logically it seems possible that the best solution will be a merger of this department with the medical service.

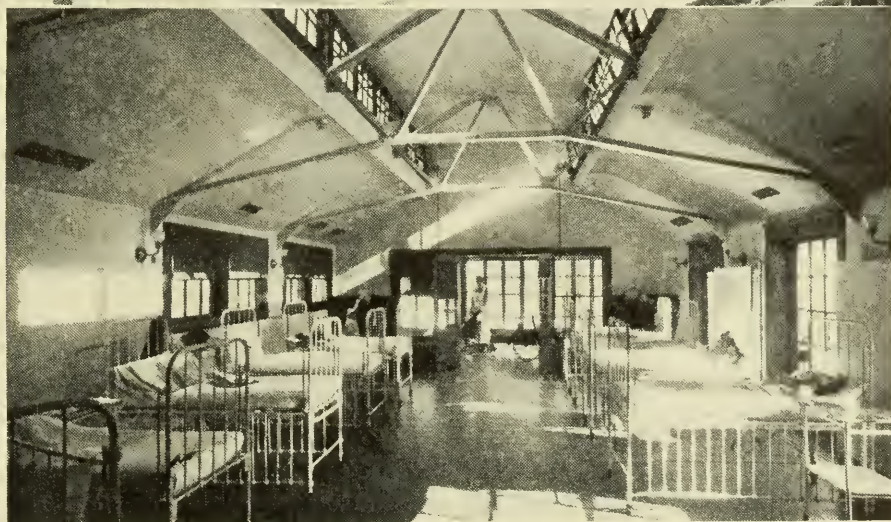

The work of Miss Trainor and her associates is carried on with enthusiasm and efficiency. Here again, close co-operation with the other departments is maintained by supervision of a committee on which several services are represented.

Report of Surgical Department

THE work of the Surgical Department has continued along the same general lines. The results attained in the repair of the various congenital malformations have brought to the Hospital children from all over New England and from the Provinces. The importance of this work can hardly be overestimated. Babies with distressing defects of the lips and nose are so changed as not to be recognized by their parents. Children from the northern parts of Vermont and New Hampshire have been brought to the Hospital from practical imprisonment in their homes, to go back to what is for them an entirely new world.

The close association with the Boston Lying-In Hospital and the closer association with the Infants' Hospital have increased our opportunities for service. In one case of particular interest a baby was brought over from the Lying-In Hospital and was successfully operated upon for a prolapse of the bowels and a most unusual malformation at the umbilicus.

Empyema, or the collection of pus about the lung, still remains a very serious condition in infancy and early childhood. Improvements in the methods of treatment have lessened the mortality from this disease, but it is earnestly to be hoped that improvements in hygiene will, as time goes on, greatly diminish its incidence. Sunshine and fresh air, or putting the matter in another way, proper housing conditions are the main factors in preventing the occurrence of empyema.

The results obtained in the cases of obstruction at the outlet of the stomach occurring in young babies are most gratifying.

Prompt recognition of this serious condition enables the surgeon to relieve the obstruction before the general condition of the child makes operation hazardous.

Intussusception or telescoping of the bowel is one of the most serious emergencies which arises during infancy and early childhood, and thanks to the prompt recognition of the disease by the family physician, our results are satisfactory.

It is worth while to point out the gradual diminution in the frequency with which cases of serious tuberculous glandular infections are brought to the Hospital. This is due chiefly to the great improvements brought about in the milk supply.

The Social Service Department is always helpful. We are indebted to them and to the other departments and special clinics for their aid and cooperation.

Report of the Orthopedic Department 1923

PUBLIC interest in the crippled child is undoubtedly increasing. It is becoming more generally realized that the appealing handicap of these children can be happily lessened by wise surgery, patient muscle training, mechanically efficient apparatus and a careful "follow-up" until the greatest possible amount of function has been attained. An attempt has been made to rehabilitate as completely as possible the cases treated in the wards of the Hospital by keeping them under observation a sufficient length of time to ensure a continued progress toward recovery. It has been our conviction that a greater service would thus be rendered in these chronic cases than by a quick "turn over", after which relapses are certain to occur. There are, therefore, recorded in this report a slightly smaller number of operations and a slightly smaller number of cases treated in the wards than in last year's report.

On the upper floor of Ward V have been installed, through the generosity of Mrs. N. E. Wrightington, metal and glass cubicles which prevent contact between the children. All cases are admitted to these cubicles and no transfers to the lower ward are made until the children have been in the Hospital two weeks. Thus the danger from any contagious disease to which they may have been exposed before entrance is minimized. This system has already proved its efficiency in checking the annoying interference with the regular work at the Hospital which the contagious diseases have caused in the past. Its effect upon the morale of the nurses and physicians has been excellent. Wash basins have been placed in all the open wards in convenient and conspicuous places and the rule of washing the hands after touching any of the cases is rigidly observed.

After thoughtful consideration the Out-Patient Orthopedic Department was changed in July from a "four day a week" afternoon service to a "six day a week" morning service. The change has apparently been appreciated. There have been already 132 more new cases than last year and 560 more visits, although the change has been in force only six months.

Teaching

The demands upon the teaching force have grown so heavy that the service of a Resident Teaching Fellow has been made necessary. The Managers generously agreed to supply board and room for such a Resident and his salary for one year has been raised by private subscription. In October Dr. Winthrop M. Phelps was appointed by the Children's Hospital and Harvard University as Resident Teaching Fellow. His service is proving most satisfactory. He has conducted and largely given a course of lectures on Orthopedic Surgery to the nurses and has had charge of providing illustrative cases and material for the teaching of sections of medical students throughout the year. He has been of great assistance in the work of the wards and in the Out-Patient Department.

The Post-Graduate course conducted in association with the Harvard Medical School, the Massachusetts General Hospital and the Massachusetts Hospital School at Canton is providing well trained house officers who are serving the Hospital efficiently.

Special Studies

Investigations are being conducted by Dr. Arthur T. Legg by means of moving pictures of the gaits caused by the weakness of the different muscles and muscle groups affected by infantile paralysis. Much information valuable in diagnosis and treatment will almost surely be gained. The equipment and running expenses of this investigation are provided by the income of the Helen Hallett Thompson Fund.

Research work in osteomyelitis (inflammation of bone) has been undertaken in the laboratory of the Hospital.

The studies of the effect of Alpine lamp treatment, made possible by the generosity of the Massachusetts Committee of the National Civic Federation, are being continued in the Hospital wards and at the Wellesley Convalescent Home.

Changes in the Staff

Dr. George Carpenter, after faithful service as Clinical Assistant to the Orthopedic Department, resigned to accept a position at the Municipal Hospital on Long Island.

In January, Dr. Ralph K. Ghormley resigned as Clinical Assistant to accept a position as Surgeon to the Out-Patients in the Orthopedic Department of the Massachusetts General Hospital. He continues some investigation he had undertaken at the Children's Hospital and his transfer was made at the request of the Chief of the Orthopedic Department of the Massachusetts General Hospital where his services were greatly needed. His work at the Children's Hospital has been most praiseworthy and for his loss the Hospital has the satisfaction of supplying the need of a closely allied and cooperative clinic.

Dr. Gerald Hoeffel has been appointed as Clinical Assistant to fill Dr. Ghormley's place.

Dr. Arthur Van Dessel of the University of Louvain, Belgium, is serving also as Clinical Assistant on the Hoover Foundation Fellowship.

Social Service

The Department wishes once more to express its appreciation of the great value of the Social Service Department. The willing and intelligent work of Miss Packard assigned for the Orthopedic Department has contributed materially to the efficiency of the service in relation to the admission of patients to the wards and their care after discharge.

Needs

The most active need of the Department is for facilities for the proper administration of heliotherapy (sunlight treatment). The proved value of this method of treatment in tuberculosis, rickets, and other chronic diseases seems to demand that some provision be made for its administration. Atmospheric conditions at the Wellesley Convalescent Home offer greater opportunities for supplying this demand than those of the Hospital in the city.

SUN ROOM

There are twelve of these sun rooms, one at both ends of each ward

Department of Physical Therapeutics

Scoliosis Out-Patient Clinic

THE Scoliosis Clinic has grown to a point where it seems that some reorganization is necessary. There has been an increase of more than eight hundred visits over the previous year, and it is becoming very difficult to see that all the cases receive proper attention on each visit. A large number of the new cases are referred from the Medical Clinic for a period of training in correct posture, and it is felt that these cases should be handled on an additional clinic day, both for their own benefit and to insure adequate time for the treatment of the structural deformities.

The matter of photographic records is another serious problem. These photographs have to be made in clinic time, on bright days, by one of the volunteer assistants and, although the results have been remarkably good, it has not been possible to obtain all the records necessary in order to report progress. Less than half of the total number of cases examined during the year have been photographed.

The Boston School of Physical Education continues to supply student assistants during its school year.

We are grateful to the social service department for co-operation in assisting some cases whose treatment would otherwise have been discontinued.

Hospital Wards

During the past year there has been some increase in the number of cases receiving treatment. Massage, therapeutic exercise, sometimes combined with the use of baths, and radiant heat baking have all been given. This department has also been responsible for a portion of the Alpine Sun Lamp treatments in the Orthopedic ward.

The decrease in the total number of treatments given seems to have been due to the unfortunate susceptibility of the patients under treatment to various contagious diseases.

Total number of treatments given	1,210
Total number of cases treated	111
Additional number of Alpine lamp treatments	141

Infantile paralysis cases in the Orthopedic wards still receive the routine examination of muscle power.

Out-Patient Department

There are a certain number of orthopedic and surgical cases for whom a period of baking and massage, or graduated exercise treatment, is advisable at the time when a plaster or splint is being discontinued. Some of these cases cannot be classified under the regular physiotherapy treatment clinics and this out-patient service is intended to enable them to receive the desired treatment, or instruction, at the time of their regular visits to the orthopedic or surgical clinics.

Teaching

This department is in constant receipt of applications from students who wish to obtain physiotherapy training at this hospital. From two to four women with physical education or nursing training are now being accepted, and the length of their service has been increased to four months, part of this time being spent in the adult massage clinic at the Massachusetts General Hospital. These students are under careful supervision and they are of great assistance in carrying on the work of the department.

PHYSICAL THERAPEUTICS

The formal summer physiotherapy course given in connection with Harvard Medical School Graduate Department was filled as in previous years. Its success was largely due to the instruction and interest of Dr. A. T. Legg and Dr. J. W. Sever, and other members of the Staff.

As the problem of the unqualified person who attempts to treat disease by physical means is such a serious one, it is felt that this training of well qualified women to serve as assistants to the medical profession in this form of treatment, is one of the most important phases of the work of the Physical Therapeutic Department of the Hospital.

Report of the Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commission

THE Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commission is now in its seventh year. New cases referred every month by local doctors in Massachusetts and other New England states seem to point to the fact that its existence is still necessary. There were 223 cases of the disease in Massachusetts in 1923 as compared with 217 cases in 1922.

The Commission is deeply indebted to The Children's Hospital for the continued use of clinic and office space which has been given them since 1916, and for the generous courtesy and cooperation received.

Clinics at The Children's Hospital under the direction of Dr. Arthur T. Legg, Assistant Surgeon to the Hospital, are held as in previous years on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday mornings when muscle training is given and examinations are made on old and new patients.

As infantile paralysis requires much supervised treatment over long periods of time; and, as many of the cases come from distant towns, local treatment clinics under the direction of one of the Commission's trained workers are held in thirteen cities and towns in Massachusetts at intervals of every two or three weeks.

Several cities such as Haverhill, Lawrence, North Adams, Springfield, and Webster pay the expenses of an all day clinic once or twice a year when the Commission Surgeon and all the workers attend, making examinations and advising treatment.

Cities and towns where the local treatment clinics are held have been asked to support these clinics by assuming the expense of the workers for each clinic. Many of the older cases which had received the maximum benefit from muscle training have been referred to the general orthopedic clinic. This has cut down the work mostly to new cases, operative cases, and those needing most intensive and special treatment. The Commission is now caring for about 700 cases.

HARVARD INFANTILE PARALYSIS COMMISSION

Mrs. H. C. Low, for many years the Executive Secretary, resigned in June 1923 after a deeply interested and enthusiastic service. Dr. Legg, the Commission Surgeon, was made chief of the personnel of the clinic. The executive committee consists of Miss Haggart, clinic secretary; Miss Harding, secretary; and Miss Merrill, physical director.

The work of the Commission is maintained entirely by public contributions, no financial support being received from the Harvard Medical School or The Children's Hospital.

Summary for the Year 1923

Report of Throat Department

MORE attention has been paid during the past year to the question of disease of the nasal accessory sinuses; and several of these cases have been successfully operated upon.

Cases of foreign bodies in the esophagus, larynx, trachea and bronchi which we have successfully removed, have made up a small but important group requiring a special technic and instrumentation for their successful treatment.

The work of the Department as in former years has been largely concerned with cases of hypertrophied or diseased tonsils and adenoids. The number of these cases requiring operation has in recent years taxed our staff and equipment, and it has been thought best during the past year, in order to maintain the high standard of work, to limit somewhat the number of operations performed. This limitation of the work of the department we hope to overcome during the coming year by additions to the staff and equipment.

Gynecological Department

TO this department are referred all cases which are admitted to the Out-Patient Department with a vaginal discharge of any kind or which acquire such a discharge during their stay in the Hospital. During the year 1923, no cases of gonorrhoeal vaginitis were seen which had acquired the disease during their stay in the Hospital; all were Out-Patient cases. All cases treated are followed for one year from the time they are discharged as cured.

Dental Department

THE large increase in number of patients treated in the dental clinic during the past year again definitely shows the vast need of dental care. With three dentists on the staff we now operate every Tuesday and Thursday mornings and all urgent consultations and emergency cases may be cared for immediately. All house patients needing dental attention are treated twice each week and upon their discharge from the hospital they are brought back to the Out-Patient department through the Social Service for the completion of any unfinished work. This co-operation with the Social service department allows the discharge of the patients from the hospital much sooner, for in the past children were held over in the house for necessary dentistry. As has been customary, children treated in any Out-Patient department may be referred to the dental clinic.

The many splendid results obtained in our clinic, proves that carious teeth may keep the child's health below par. Placing the mouth in a clean, hygienic condition will often immediately improve the child's general health.

We have again had an unusual number of cases needing orthodontic treatment. As this type of work cannot be adequately cared for in a general hospital, we shall continue our arrangement that the Harvard Dental School shall care for our most urgent cases. This work is done in co-operation with us and a member of our staff is kept in constant touch with each case.

The work of the department included cases of prophylaxis, fillings of amalgam and cement, extraction of carious and abscessed teeth and roots, treatment of pulpitis, stomatitis, painful erupting and mal-posed teeth, alveolar abscesses, necrosis, osteomyelitis and fractures of the maxillary bones.

X-Ray Department

THE number of cases handled during the past year showed a material increase over that of 1922. The department is now better equipped than at any other time in its existence, having two separate units, both good standard types of machines, one for radiography and fluoroscopy and the other for radiography and treatments. This facilitates more rapid handling of the cases and avoids the congestion of cases, which was unavoidably the case when there was only one unit.

The collection file of typical and unusual cases continues to grow and is always available for teaching and publication purposes.

Total number of cases, 1922	2,998
Total number of cases, 1923	4,270

The number of treatments showed the largest relative increase, approximately six times the number treated in 1923 as in 1922.

Social Service Department

DURING the year 1923, 1111 families, — 758 of them new to the Hospital, — have been referred to this department. 3887 outside visits have been made in the interests of patients.

Orthopedic Service

From the social standpoint the morning clinic has proved a great advantage, as it has enabled Miss Packard to plan her visiting period much more effectively, and has given her time for more leisurely interviews with families in the clinic, — a factor which never fails to secure a ready return for treatment, and which enhances the efficiency of the follow-up work by adding human and personal contact.

The follow-up system is in excellent working order; every day's clinic is checked in the follow-up file, cases are dated ahead for return, letters are sent to over-due patients, or follow up calls made when necessary. The orthopedic worker has been greatly aided in the clerical detail of this work by able volunteer assistance.

Need for social planning in connection with the growing scoliosis clinic has been increasingly apparent and many more requests for advice and assistance have been handled, jackets have been secured, and regular attendance of long distance patients insured. These children are nearly all of school age, and home and school visiting reveal many problems for social adjustment as well as the necessity for supervision in diet and hygiene.

Additional volunteer motor service is badly needed for the patients who should come regularly for heliotherapy and Alpine lamp treatment. Clinic treatment should be regular and frequent and many children come from a distance, involving much time and expense in keeping appointments. In a selected group of cases of bone tuberculosis heliotherapy has been carried on at home according to a definite schedule of exposure such as is used in this hospital. The orthopedic worker who plans socially for all cases of bone tuberculosis has felt during her home supervision of these children that an increasing number may be kept under this form of treatment very satisfactorily.

As has been our custom with all House cases on any service, social plans are made while the children are in the wards, and the after care arrangements put through and carefully supervised as long as need exists.

We hope during the coming year to do more visiting in behalf of Infantile Paralysis cases, a bit of very necessary work which as yet we have not been able to cover adequately.

In 1923, 44 children, some of them requiring expensive apparatus, were provided for from our special therapeutic relief fund. The amount expended was $495.88. This fund has been of immeasurable benefit and the department wishes to express much gratitude for the renewed gift of $500 received from the Committee of the Permanent Charity Fund, Inc., for the year 1924.

Medical Service

A marked increase of patients in the medical O. P. D. during the past year has added greatly to the pressure upon the social worker in that clinic. Miss Kinney has had under supervision an average of 100 patients a month, and to the social work involved in the special classes of the previous year has been added, through reorganization, the nutrition clinic with its vital need for home supervision and planning for underweight and undernourished children, and the group of definitely tubercular children who call for specialized medical and social care.

It is with great pleasure that we look forward — through the addition of another worker in this clinic — to the adequate social handling of our infant feeding cases, long neglected because of the bulk of our other work. With a little adjustment in organization the social work in the medical Out-Patient Department should come nearer to its ideal of 100 per cent efficiency. This new development will be of material assistance to the worker in the Thomas Morgan Rotch Memorial Hospital as it will enable her to transfer at an earlier moment many of the babies who need continued medical and social care. A report of Mrs. Smith's fine work in the Thomas Morgan Rotch Memorial Hospital appears elsewhere.

SOCIAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT

On the medical wards home visits and after-care plans have been made for 450 children. There is a complete follow-up of all cases discharged from the ward.

Surgical and Nerve Services

Miss Tufts has been able to share her time with the Nerve Out-Patient Department. All cases have been taken up socially where medical diagnosis or family problem indicates it to be advisable and supervision or after-care supplied. Institutional care has been applied for in many cases of feeble-mindedness or epilepsy and behavior problems have been connected with the special facilities offered by the Psychopathic Hospital or the Judge Baker Foundation.

With the generous assistance of Mrs. Tunnicliff the speech class of the surgical clinic has been continued for two mornings a week. A special effort is now being made to connect up with old cases. The main difficulty seems to be the burden of regular visits from the mothers' point of view, and it has frequently proved necessary, in order to insure results, to transfer such children to the speech clinic in the nearest school.

498 children have been cared for on these combined services.

At the request of the chiefs of the services, the department has cooperated in seven special studies, contributing the social interpretation and determining end results by outside visiting. For assistance in this work we wish to express appreciation to the six volunteers who have been of invaluable aid.

The teaching relationship with the School of Nursing and the Simmons College School of Social Work has continued.

The School of Nursing

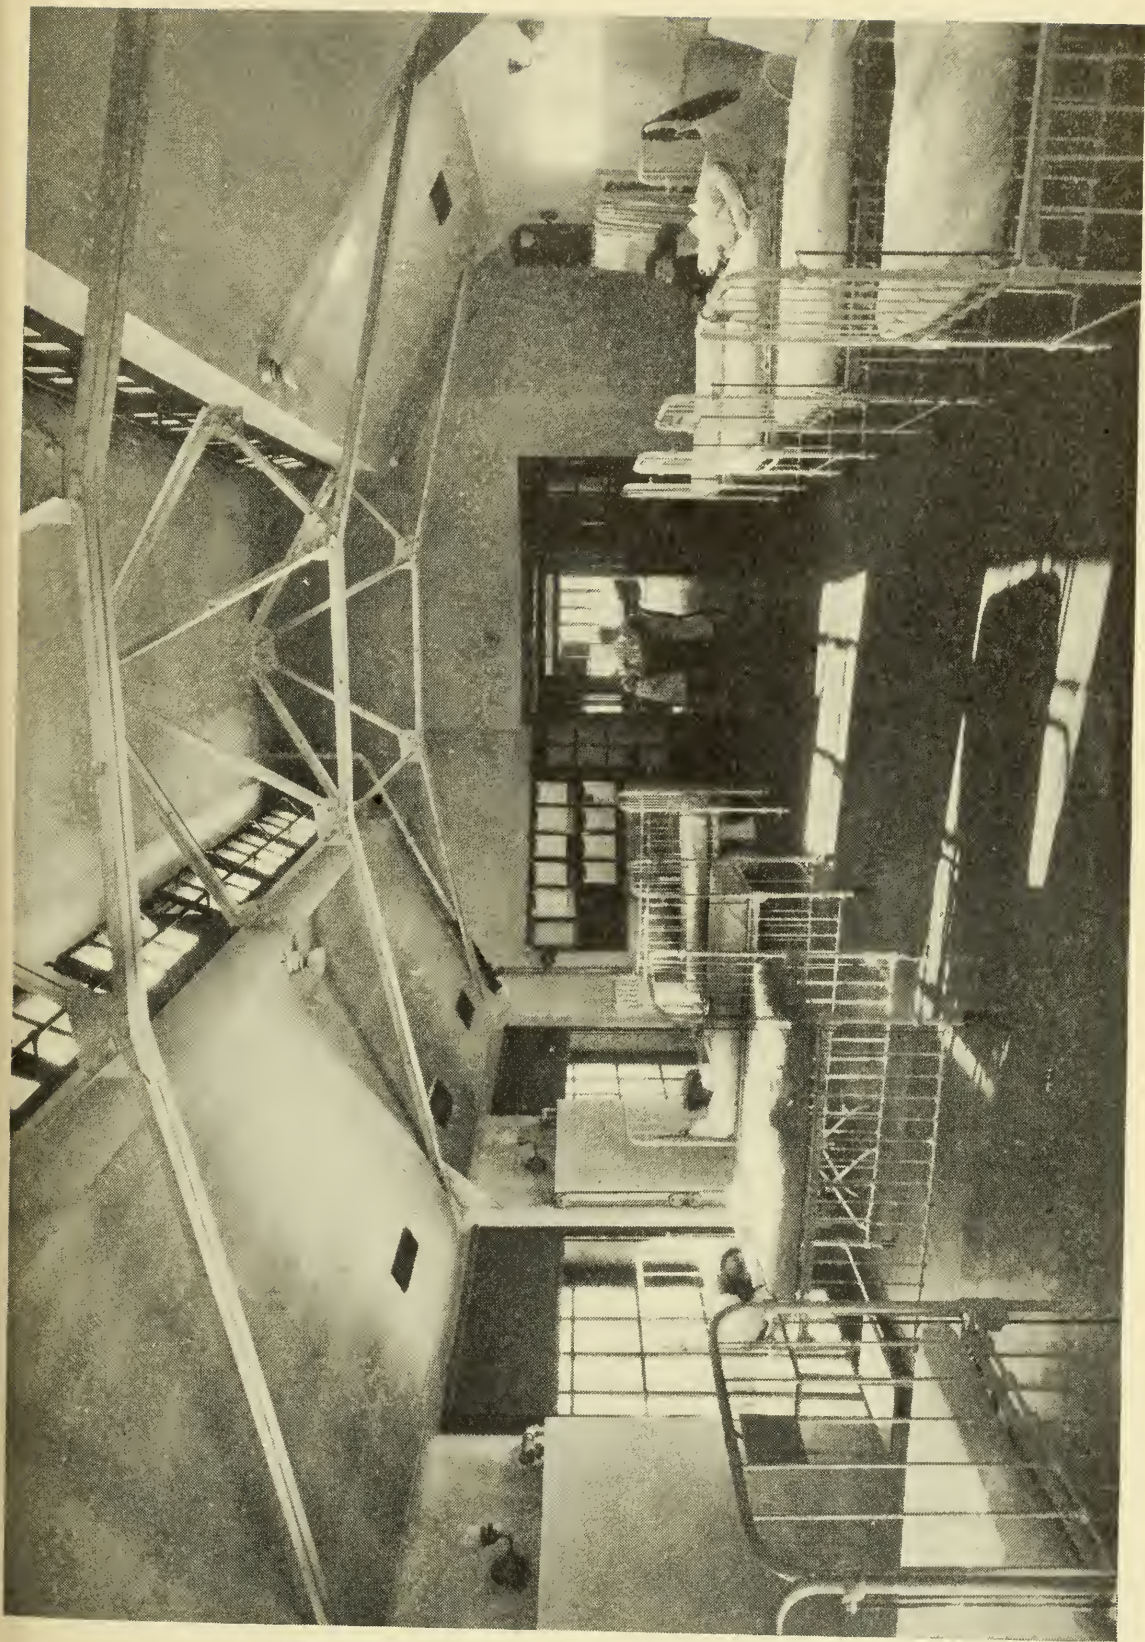

Annual Report 1923

THE School of Nursing has nearly completed its thirty-fourth year. The most important events in its history during the past year have been the completion of the new classrooms, the taking over of the nursing at the Infants' Hospital and the opening of the Diet Kitchen for the preparation of special diets for patients in the metabolism unit.

The new classrooms were opened for use in March. The cost of building these rooms was met largely by a gift to this hospital of a fund which was raised by a group of Boston women for the Camp Devens Unit of the Army School of Nursing. As the entire fund was not needed for its original purpose and as the Committee still wished it used for the furtherance of nursing, it was given for these classrooms which serve as a memorial to the young women in patriotic service at Camp Devens, two of whom sacrificed their lives. This gift has provided a completely equipped demonstration room for teaching practical nursing and an adjoining lecture room. They were urgently needed and are much appreciated by the instructors and the students.

The School of Nursing became responsible for the nursing staff of the Infants' Hospital the first of May. We are now able to give our own students very valuable experience in the nursing of infants which has been a long felt need and we can also offer a much better course in pediatrics to the affiliating and post-graduate students. Each student is given experience under graduate supervision in the Food Laboratory and in the Treatment Room as well as on the wards. In the Food Laboratory the nurses prepare the modifications for all babies in the Infants' Hospital and in The Children's Hospital, including the Private Ward.

The affiliations established by the Infants' Hospital with the New England Baptist and the Faulkner Hospitals continue and seven students are being received from these schools for a three months' course in the medical, surgical and orthopedic nursing of infants and children. At the present time we have a group of seventeen affiliating and eight post-graduate students. In addition to the practical experience on the wards these students are given forty-five hours of classroom instruction.

It is becoming better known that this School offers a post-graduate course and there have been more applicants than we could admit during the past year. As experience in the nursing of infants and children is now recognized as a part of a basic course of training one of the functions of this school is to supply such experience to as many students from other schools as it can without encroaching on the training of its own students.

In the new Diet Kitchen there are two nurses on duty all the time. Under the supervision of one of the dietitians they plan the menus, calculate the food values and prepare the diets for diabetic and nephritic patients and any others requiring special feeding. They serve the trays to the patients and with this direct contact are often able to make their restricted diets more attractive and acceptable. In order that they may understand the cases for which they are preparing the diets, they are given an opportunity to study the patients' records and follow their progress. The opening of this department is affording better service to these special patients and is giving the nurses invaluable experience.

The only changes which have been made in the curriculum are the addition of courses in psychology, mental diseases and in First Aid in the senior year. The text in practical nursing prepared especially for this school has been revised and greatly amplified by the instructors, which has been no small task.

The most urgent need of the School of Nursing is a new Nurses' Home. The present building is overcrowded and the distance from the hospital is a serious inconvenience, especially in severe weather.

The Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital

Wellesley Hills

THE managers of The Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital present to the public their thirty-ninth annual report.

The number of children treated during the year was 414, of whom 58 paid in full, 59 paid in part, and 297 received free care. Every known precaution has been taken to eliminate the breaking out of contagious diseases, but with the Home's limited capacity for quarantine, a certain amount of contagion is unavoidable. The ideal solution would be a separate building where children coming from the hospital could be isolated before entering the wards with other patients, but the present financial standing of the Home is very poor and far from entertaining any such project, the problem of meeting running expenses with the increasing demands of modern surgery and hygiene is a very difficult one.

The Home is under the charge of the medical staff of the hospital, and Dr. Bowers of Newton Highlands has kindly consented to visit every week and to answer emergency calls.

Miss Guillod continues at her post of Head Nurse, and with able assistants maintains a high order of excellence at the Home. The new kindergarten teacher is accomplishing good results, the sun parlor supplemented by an Alpine Lamp is helping tuberculous joints, and a valuable gift of a complete dental equipment has greatly facilitated the work of that department; 121 cases have been treated during the year. A sterilizer for washing dishes and an electric clothes-washer have been installed.

Two resignations of managers, those of Mrs. Cutler and Mrs. Mixer, have been received with deep regret. Each week during the winter the managers with a valuable corps of helpers meet at the Nurses' Home, under the skilled direction of Mrs.

THE CONVALESCENT HOME

F. W. Thayer, and cut out hundreds of sheets, towels and articles of clothing for both Hospital and Home. 8710 articles have been distributed to be made up by poor women and benevolent sewing societies.

The Convalescent Home and the Infants' Hospital have associated themselves with the Household Nursing Association, with the object of training young girls for domestic nurse-maids. Each girl spends seven months at the Home and it is hoped that the training will be of mutual benefit, but as the scheme is still in the experimental stage no definite report can be given.

The Home has no financial connection with the Hospital and the managers are grateful to the Hospital Welfare Committee for its continued interest and generous help.

Memorial Tablets have been given and other legacies and donations have been received, but there is a great need of more annual subscribers and a more wide-spread knowledge of the work, which is certainly deserving of all the help that the friends of little children will bestow.

(Signed) MARY B. HUNNEWELL,
Secretary pro tem.

The Children's Hospital

BOSTON

Its Service to the Community

IT extends to children, not over twelve years of age, medical and surgical treatment, without regard to sex, creed, race or color.

Maintains in its general wards 165 beds. In these beds, 5,004 children were cared for in 1924.

In its Out-Patient Department there were treated in 1924, 14,386 new cases, with a total of 57,693 visits.

Through its Social Service Department, 4,451 outside visits were made in following up cases discharged from the Hospital.

It conducts a School of Nursing which has an enrollment of 120 pupils. This school graduates 25 competent nurses trained in the care of children each year.

Prospective physicians and surgeons are taught and trained each year in the special branches of medicine and surgery relating to children.

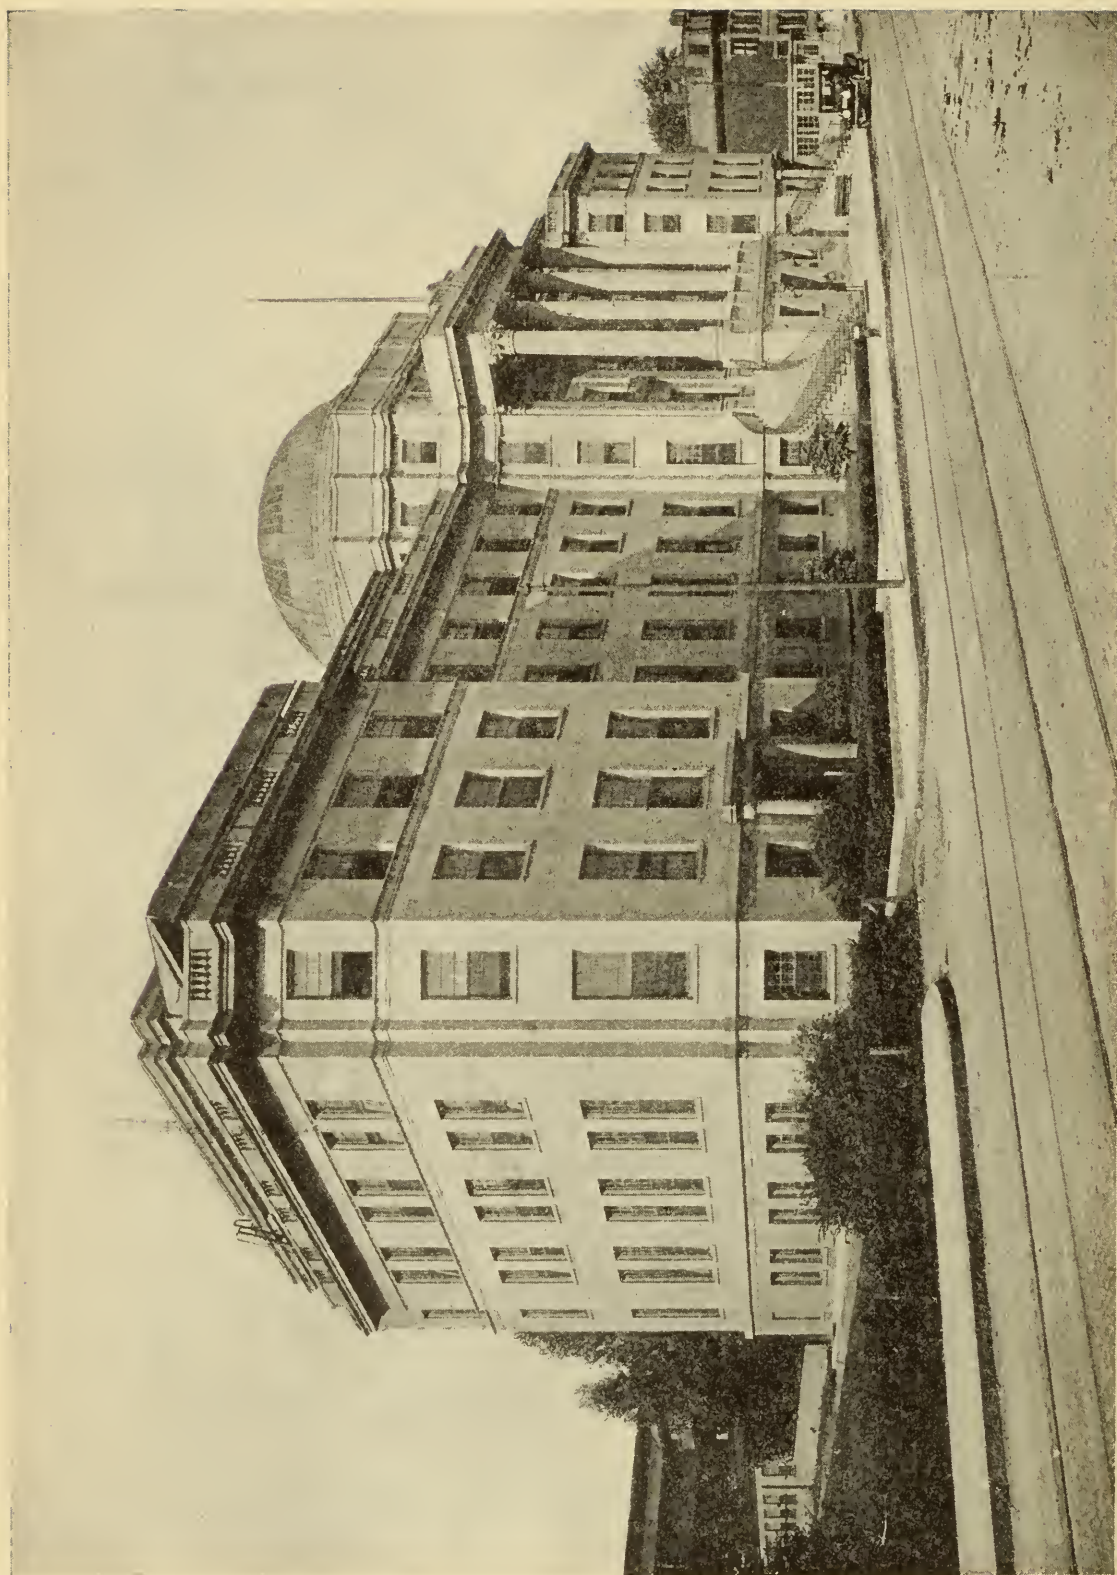

It maintains clinics for special groups of diseases, and the correction of faulty postures and deformities.

Infants and children are vaccinated against Small Pox. They are protected from Diphtheria.

It aims to keep children well through its Well Baby Clinic, its Nutrition Clinic and its clinic for Rickets.

Through its Appointment System in the Out-Patient Department, it saves mothers from waiting, lessens the danger from infection and renders better medical care.

Forty-six rooms are available for Private Patients wherein accommodations for mothers can be secured.

In the year 1924, the total cost of operating the

Leaving an operating deficit of	155,402.51
Income from Invested Funds and Miscellaneous

Leaving a net amount of	103,263.76
Received from public subscriptions	100,606.96

Leaving a net deficit for the year	$2,656.80

The financial problem of the Hospital is always solved by the public when the latter becomes really alive to the needs of the institution. The fact remains that there has been a falling off each year since 1922 in the number of individual subscriptions, so it is necessary zealously to urge subscribers in the past to continue their support.

The ever-growing demands on the facilities of the Hospital would indicate that to end the year without a deficit, subscriptions from the public should aggregate at least $117,000.

A form of subscription is hereto attached.

Report of the President

THE year 1924 has been for The Children's Hospital a period of ever-increasing activity, due not only to the ever-growing number of children brought to it for treatment but to the necessity of keeping pace with the most modern methods which are ever changing.

Year after year, new and interesting changes, which have an important bearing on the present and future activities of the Hospital are taking place. Specific cures for the treatment of many diseases, formerly incurable, are being discovered; special diagnostic methods requiring special training are being used; infant welfare and child health clinics are being developed; actual bedside teaching under the direction of well-trained physicians takes the place of lectures. Well-equipped laboratories for the special study of disease are regarded as a necessary part of every modern hospital and these the Hospital has.

To meet the growth, more room has had to be found for the Medical Out-Patient Department, for the Throat Ward, and for the records of the cases. A careful rearrangement of space has accomplished this.

For the improvement of the constantly growing Medical Out-Patient Clinic it was found advisable to try a system of giving each patient an appointment for examination on a certain day and at a certain hour. This most difficult experiment is working out well and is proving a great blessing to the parents of the children.

Inevitably, the work of the Out-Patient Department has led to the establishment of a Well-Baby Clinic where mothers can come to learn how to keep their babies well. In this, The Children's Hospital is working in conjunction with the Community Health Association.

With the growth of the work the problem of housing nurses, house officers and employees has become exceedingly acute. It has been partly met by moving some of the graduate nurses and house officers into the remodelled houses on Longwood

Avenue which were purchased last year. This, however, does not meet all the needs of the Training School, and the necessity of a new Nurses' Home in the early future becomes clearly more apparent. The children must have nurses and the nurses must have quarters near the children, and such quarters are essential to the maintenance of the nursing standard long ago set by the Hospital's school now so ably directed by Miss Wakefield.

To the work of the ladies of the Welfare Committee is due the ever-increasing knowledge in the community of the work and of the aims of the Hospital. This Committee each year becomes an always more important factor in the life of the institution.

Volunteers, too, have performed valuable service. Under the leadership of Miss Fessenden, many young women have given their time and strength wherever it has been wanted in wards or clinics, and under Mrs. Bacon another group has been busy in turning out the surgical dressings needed in such large quantities.

The Convalescent Home has supplemented the work of the Hospital by caring for children on the road to recovery. This is essential in achieving the best results, and the community is much indebted to the ladies who for many years have had the responsibility of directing and financing this indispensable work.

It is impossible to enumerate all the special gifts but mention should be made of the sale at Jay's and the successful Gymkhana, while Mrs. Edgar Wrightington has equipped a room for the administration of serums and added lavatories to most of the Wards, and another friend has caused to be enclosed with glass the outdoor passageway to the Infants' Hospital. It would be well if all passageways could be so enclosed.

The Infants' Hospital, now under the management of The Children's Hospital, makes its own report, but the same can be said of it as of The Children's Hospital as to the ever-increasing scope of its work.

In the administration of both of these Hospitals, Miss Smith has shown rare capacity. From all who come in contact with her, whether patients or workers, she receives respect, admiration and gratitude.

GEORGE P. GARDNER, President.

The Private Ward

THE Private Ward is being found increasingly useful and necessary. It makes it possible for the doctors to do with greater efficiency their hospital work and some of their private work under the same roof. And it gives to those to whom the general wards are not open, the special facilities and the trained care only to be found in a hospital devoted to the care of children.

During the year 1924, 1,138 children were admitted and 832 operations were performed.

ONE OF THE BEDROOMS

We quote below the rates for the rooms in this ward:

SINGLE ROOM, $6 A DAY TO $13.50 A DAY.

The highest price including a bathroom.

No extra charge is made for the parent or other adult occupying the same room with child.

There is a pleasant private dining room where parents may get their meals at moderate prices.

THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

TWO ROOMS AND BATH, $13.50 A DAY TO $25 A DAY.

This price includes meals for the parent in charge of the child.

SEMI-PRIVATE ROOMS AT $5 A DAY.

The above prices include ordinary drugs and services of the floor nurse.

The Hospital Staff is always anxious to co-operate with the family physician.

Auditor's Certificate

As a result of an audit of the books and records of The Children's Hospital for the year 1924, I hereby certify that all cash shown to have been received has been accounted for; that satisfactory evidence of the approval and payment of all disbursements has been examined; that the balance called for by the cash account was on deposit in the several bank accounts or was in the offices of the Corporation; that the income earned during the year by investments held by the Hospital was properly accounted for; that all securities shown by the books were on hand or properly accounted for; that the Balance Sheet and Statement of Income and Expense submitted herewith are correct transcripts from the books of account, and, in my opinion, correctly set forth the financial condition of the Hospital as at December 31, 1924, and the results of its operations for the year ended at that date.

Respectfully submitted,

PERCY E. GLEASON

Certified Public Accountant.

OUTSIDE OF WARD

This is one of the two-story wards which has wide balconies on the second floor for outdoor treatment; and on the first floor it is so arranged that the patient has a covering like a piazza roof, which at the same time allows the sun to shine directly into the ward

The year has brought several changes to the board. We welcome two new Presidents of affiliated organizations—Mrs. Oliver Ames, Jr., and Mrs. Frederick G. Smith. Also Miss Louise Coburn, Mrs. Maurice J. Curran, Mrs. Francis B. Lothrop, Mrs. George von L. Meyer, Jr., and Mrs. B. Loring Young, Jr., while regretting the loss of such true friends of the Hospital as Mrs. William Watson Caswell, Mrs. Grace Poole, Mrs. Reginald C. Foster, Mrs. Henry S. Hall and Mrs. Odin Roberts.

There has been warm cooperation among the three Ladies' Boards connected with the hospital. The Ladies' Aid of the Thomas Morgan Rotch, Jr. Memorial Hospital and the Welfare Committee of the Children's Hospital have been joint hostesses for the Nurses' Teas which have been most enjoyable. The Welfare Committee extends to the Managers of the Convalescent Home their appreciation of their hospitality in sharing their workroom last winter.

This winter the surgical dressings needed by the hospital have been made by Mrs. Louis Bacon and her assistants at the hospital itself on Friday mornings. Supplies have also been made up from gauze sent by and for the Lying-In Hospital by Mrs. Bacon's group.

The hospital is indebted to the members of the Junior League for many volunteer workers under the direction of Miss Louise Fessenden. Their loyal services have contributed appreciably to the beneficial working out of the appointment system recently established in the medical and surgical clinics.

REPORT OF WELFARE COMMITTEE

In appreciation of the splendid work that the young women of the Junior League had given to the hospital, a number of lectures have been planned by the Staff, Miss Smith and Mrs. Francis B. Lothrop and Mrs. Richard Harte. The response has been most gratifying—about one hundred people being present at the lectures.

Under the direction of Mrs. Francis B. Lothrop the Welfare Club Committee was formed on May 16, 1924, in order to focus the interest of the younger group who had worked in the hospital. Countess Moltke accepted the Honorary Chairmanship and the Committee was made up of the following members:

Mrs. Clark Baldwin	Mrs. Richard Humphrey
Miss Harriet Boyden	Mrs. Ellery James
Mrs. F. Wadsworth Busk	Mrs. Francis B. Lothrop
Miss Louise Fessenden	Mrs. George von L. Meyer, Jr.
Mrs. Richard Harte	Miss Ella Snelling
Miss Frances Weld

It is regretted that pending the working out of what is practically a new technique in the control of contagion, the Department of Occupational Therapy so wisely and efficiently conducted by Mrs. Henry S. Hall has been discontinued.

The joint demonstration of the use of the ultra violet lamps in the control of rickets and bone tuberculosis, by the Staff of the Hospital and the Public Health Committee of the National Civic Federation, represented by Mrs. Richard P. Strong, has proved of definite value, and the data collected marks an advance in medical science. Thanks are due to Miss Ruth Bemis and to Miss Nina Fletcher for their faithful part in the demonstration.

As head of the Speakers' Bureau, Miss Louise Coburn reports that 38 speaking appointments were filled within the year. Mrs. E. Waller Cumming, our volunteer speaker, tells the stories of the hospital with pathos and humor and never fails to interest her audiences. She has made many new friends for the hospital, many of whom have been entertained at the hospital as the personal guests of the Tea Committee under Mrs. J. Lewis Bremer and Mrs. Robert C. Morse.

Thanks are due to Mrs. Edgar T. Wrightington, Mrs. B. F. Plimpton and Mrs. E. H. Seagraves—to the Managers and Trustees of Norumbega Park and to Mrs. G. L. Avery and Mr. Jay for their generous aid in arranging benefits for the Children's Hospital.

THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

The Women's Clubs, thanks to Mrs. Frederick G. Smith, continue their interest in the hospital, and through Miss Meehan's help Mrs. Whittington reports that the Labor Organizations have given splendid aid in a very fine spirit of helpfulness.

Among the groups who are working for the hospital no account would be complete without speaking of the younger generation. Mrs. Francis B. Crowninshield and Mrs. Robert W. Means report that C. H. Club activities are now looked forward to as a part of the summer's program. Not only do the children bring sunshine to the little patients at the hospital, but they are proud of their responsibilities towards them.

The year has been an active one for all members of the Committee. Especial mention may be made of the gift of a Memorial Bed from one of our members, Mrs. Maurice J. Curran, of a gift from Mrs. Clarence R. Edwards of the electro-type plates of Mrs. Larz Anderson's story "Topsy Turvy" and "The Gold Star" which she wrote of and for the hospital. Mrs. S. H. Wolcott supervised the Sale at Jay's store which realized a goodly sum. Mrs. Sutton was hostess on Donation Day, and Mrs. Coolidge has helped Miss Smith in the private ward. Many of the Committee worked with Mr. Meyer to make the Gymkhana a success, especially Mrs. Whittington who acted as Secretary, and Mrs. Means and Mrs. Meyer.

The original "Memory Day" in the Children's Hospital has been changed to "Children's Hospital Day." Those who would like, in the name of an individual, an organization or a firm, to dedicate the work done in a ward or in the hospital will at the same time render a great service to the sick children of Boston.

On these days, a framed inscription, on which will be placed the name of the donor and the date, will occupy a prominent place in the hospital. $100 names a ward in the hospital for a day. $1,000 names the whole hospital for a day and $200 names the Convalescent Home for a day.

Any day may be chosen except Christmas Day. Anyone who visits the wards or cheerful playrooms will realize that there can be no sweeter way of entering into the spirit of the hospital than by dedicating one day in the year to the service of these little children. Representatives of groups will be most welcome at the hospital on the day named.

The days given this year have been given in memory of Ruth Faxon, of Louis McLane Tiffany and Isaac Edmondson

REPORT OF WELFARE COMMITTEE

Atkinson and Edmondson Atkinson Rice. Dr. Tiffany and Dr. Atkinson being life long friends, it is most fitting that their tablets hung side by side in the wards on New Year's Day.

The Orient Chapter of the Daughters of the Eastern Star are the first group to name a day in honor of Augustus W. and Emma F. A. Mills.

The Elizabeth Cumming Day and the Helen P. Whittington Day for the Home and the Hospital are given in honor of two members of the Welfare Committee.

In Service

Thy gates shall be open continually: they shall not be shut day or night. Is. 60-11.

The Elizabeth Cumming Day is named in grateful recognition of all that the dedication of herself and her art brings to the little patients of this hospital.

The Helen P. Whittington Day is named in grateful appreciation of her ability and devotion that are making the great work of the Children's Hospital so much more widely known.

Report of Medical Department

For Year Ending December 31, 1924

THE marked increase in the number of patients treated in the ward and in the Out-Patient Department during the year 1924 shows clearly the service which the Hospital is rendering to the community. Seven hundred and thirty-three (733) patients were admitted to the Medical Service in the past year, one hundred and eighty-six (186) of whom were treated in the private ward. Nine hundred and eighty-eight (988) more new patients were treated in the Out-Patient Department, and there were four thousand six hundred and twenty-eight (4628) more total visits than in the previous year.

It is interesting that the large attendance in the Out-Patient Department followed the introduction of the "appointment system." The assignment of patients to definite appointments makes it possible for the physicians to devote more time to the children and thereby give better attention to them.

During the year, the Well Baby Clinic has been organized in connection with the Out-Patient Department. This meets every Tuesday afternoon. In this clinic well babies are seen and their diets supervised and the mothers given advice concerning their general care. This clinic marks a distinct forward step in the development of the Hospital by increasing the service which it gives to the community and makes available also to students and nurses the opportunity to observe the growth and development of normal children and to learn how to care for them. Home visits to these babies are made for the Hospital by the nurses of the Community Health Association. This has proved a most satisfactory method of follow-up work and is to be continued for another year.

Arrangements have been perfected by which the subnormal infants who are discharged from the Lying-In Hospital are referred directly to the Out-Patient Department where they are followed until they do not require medical attention. Infants who are suffering from birth injuries are observed in the Neurological Clinic, and infants born of mothers with heart disease are referred to the Heart Clinic. A new special clinic has been developed for the follow-up care of premature infants.

A liaison with the Orthopedic Department has been established. One of the Assistant Physicians of the Medical Service assists in the medical care of the orthopedic patients. This has already proven of mutual advantage to both Departments and of infinite value to the patients.

The investigative side of the medical department is functioning actively. Last year new information was obtained which has been valuable in the treatment of certain types of kidney and heart disease.

An increasing number of graduate students, both from this country and abroad, are seeking the advantages, for special and general instruction, which the Medical Clinic of The Children's Hospital affords. The instruction which such students receive reflects much credit on the Hospital and is one of the ways in which the Hospital renders service, in the advancement of medical education.

INTERIOR OF ONE OF THE WARDS

Typical ward. The office in the center gives the nurse in charge a view of the twenty-two beds at all times. Note the overhead construction, which gives the most perfect system of ventilation.

Report of Surgical Department

DURING the past year Dr. Augustus Thorndike, Jr., has been added to the Staff as Clinical Assistant Surgeon.

The number of Out-Patient visits has increased nearly two thousand as compared with a year ago and the number of new patients has increased by about six hundred. Fifty more patients have been admitted to the Wards for treatment. There is constantly a long waiting list of applicants for admission and urgent cases are constantly being refused admission. The Surgical patients occupy two one-story wards so that there is opportunity to double the number of beds by making the wards two stories high. As a means of temporary relief of crowding an emergency ward would be of great aid.

The satisfactory results attained in the treatment of congenital malformations is attested by the number of children brought to the hospital from all over New England and from the Provinces. The treatment of hare lip and cleft palate is being improved in details and plans for closer cooperation with the Dental Department in orthodontic work are under consideration.

In urinary infections much work is being done and the relation between malformations of the urinary tract and infections is being studied, with promise of most gratifying results.

Empyema or abscess about the lung following pneumonia continues to be one of the chief causes of death among young children. Yet it is a disease which seldom occurs among children brought up under good hygienic conditions. Housing conditions are improving but many lives are still sacrificed because children do not get the fresh air and sunshine which is their right. It is not too much to look forward to a decrease in these severe infections similar to the decrease in surgical tuberculosis which has been brought about by better milk and by the pasteurization of milk. The road to travel is a longer one but the way is plain.

A very striking fact is the low mortality from appendicitis and other acute abdominal infections, to be attributed in part to improvements in the details of treatment.

The number of students being taught is increasing. There is also a strong demand for positions on the House Staff among those who intend to practice pediatrics rather than surgery but who desire to familiarize themselves with the surgical aspect of the diseases of children.

We are grateful as always for the help given by the Social Service Department.

Report of Orthopaedic Department

THE general work of the ward cases is in charge of a surgeon on duty for a period of three months. Following this service, he becomes Out-Patient surgeon for a period of six months, and is thus enabled to follow the cases which he has seen in the wards. The department has adopted for the past year and a half a system of assignments of special types of cases to different members of its staff in order that special study may be given to these different groups of cases, in the hope that new light will be thrown upon their causes and the most successful methods of treatment. This plan has been of advantage, not only from the point of view of the patients, but also because it has associated with the hospital at all times the different members of the staff and assured a practically continuous service and, therefore, continuous interest. From year to year the various assignments will be changed, so that each member of the staff may gain special experience in handling different groups of cases. The same policy has been pursued as last year of keeping the cases in the wards until they were well advanced toward recovery or until suitable provisions could be made for home or convalescent hospital care. It so happens that we have been able to care in the House during the past year for about 20 more cases than was possible last year. The waiting list for cases of admission has steadily grown and the Orthopaedic Department, along with the Medical and Surgical Departments, will soon feel the need for more beds.

The Out-Patient Department has steadily grown since its change from a "four day a week" afternoon clinic to a "six day a week" morning clinic. Nearly 300 more new cases were seen in the Out-Patient Department in 1924 than in 1923, and about 1250 more visits to the Out-Patient were made. In the Out-Patient Department the services of the Resident Teaching Fellow have been of great value and a careful system of history taking has been worked out in connection with the Medical Department and a partial appointment system adopted which greatly lessens the waiting time of patients and enables more efficient and timely service to be given them.

Teaching

The Harvard Medical School still utilizes to the fullest capacity the Children's Hospital as a teaching unit in the Department of Orthopaedic Surgery. Twelve formal lectures are given in the Amphitheatre of the Children's Hospital to the Third Year Class once a week during the first half year and regular section teaching from nine until eleven-thirty takes place three times a week throughout the whole school year.

The position of Resident Teaching Fellow was recognized by the Harvard Medical School last year, but no funds were available for his salary. These funds were raised by the Orthopaedic Department of the Hospital last year and this year the Medical School, recognizing the importance of this position, has agreed to provide from its own funds this salary. The Hospital continues generously to supply his room and board and the Department feels that the services which he renders to the Hospital are fully adequate to justify this generosity. The course in Orthopaedic Surgery given to the nurses by the Resident Teaching Fellow has been most successful, and during the coming year he will also give a course of lectures in Orthopaedic Surgery to affiliated and post-graduate nurses. He will continue as before to supervise the selection of cases and aid the various members of the staff in arranging for the special clinics and section work.

Special Clinics

Owing to the steady growth of the Scoliosis and Physiotherapeutic Department, it has been necessary to establish a special clinic on Mondays for cases of faulty posture under the charge of a member of the staff and the Head of the Physiotherapeutic Department. The Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commission, working in close harmony with the Orthopaedic Out-Patient Department, assures special care for this important group of cases and relieves the Orthopaedic Department of a heavy burden. These special clinics in Scoliosis, Posture and Infantile Paralysis are conducted at different hours and in different rooms than those of the regular Out-Patient Clinic and utilize most advantageously the space of the hospital at times when it is most easily available. This avoids crowding.

ORTHOPAEDIC DEPARTMENT

Special Studies

Special researches in inflammation of bones, infantile paralysis, Quartz Lamp therapy, and the electrical conductivity of muscles have been undertaken by different members of the Department. A report of Dr. Ghormley's work, made possible by the Massachusetts Committee of the National Civic Federation, is soon to be published. The study of gaits by means of the moving picture machine is proving of great value. The room formerly used by the Surgical Appliance Shop has been fitted with special lights and apparatus, making possible the satisfactory taking of these moving pictures at all times. Funds for this purpose were received from the Helen Hallett Thompson Fund and are gratefully acknowledged by the Department.

Changes in the Staff

The only resignation from the staff during the past year has been that of Dr. Winthrop M. Phelps, Resident Teaching Fellow, who with the approval of the Department, has accepted an important teaching position in the Department of Surgery, Yale University Medical School. Dr. Phelps' service to the Children's Hospital was always rendered in a most efficient manner and in a most satisfactory spirit and it is a pleasure to know that the present larger opportunity which opens to him has come as a recognition of this type of service. Dr. Robert C. Lonergan, a graduate of Johns Hopkins Medical School and formerly Orthopaedic Resident at St. Luke's Hospital and Children's Hospital in Chicago, has been appointed by the Medical School to fill out Dr. Phelps' unexpired term of service. Dr. Lonergan began his duties on January 1st. Dr. Seth M. Fitchet has been appointed Junior Assistant Surgeon. Dr. Fitchet is a graduate of the Harvard Medical School and the Massachusetts General Hospital and has been serving for six months in the Surgical Out-Patient Department of this hospital.

Social Service

In August Miss Packard, in charge of the orthopaedic work of the Social Service Department resigned to accept the position of Head of the Social Service Department of the Cambridge City Hospital. This resignation was accepted with deep regret, but with the realization that a wider field was open to her in her new position. Her place has been filled by Miss Mildred Hearsey, who was fortunate in being able to begin her work before Miss Packard left and is rendering the same efficient and able service which had become traditional with Miss Packard. The Social Service Department now arranges to provide suitable accommodation and care for all the cases discharged from the wards of the hospital and on the regular records of the hospital enters a note as to social conditions at home. The same careful follow-up system is in force and if patients fail to report at the appointed time in the Out-Patient, this failure is known and the reason for this failure is investigated.

Department of Physical Therapeutics

Scoliosis Out-Patient Clinics

The treatment of lateral curvature cases by means of plaster jackets and corrective exercises continues, as in the past. An attempt is being made to follow a series of cases with X-rays and photographs in order to report the results of a new type of jacket.

The congestion in the department has been relieved by the addition of another clinic day for the treatment of certain of the functional scoliosis and cases of poor general posture.

Our affiliation with the Boston School of Physical Education continues, and the students give valuable assistance in carrying on the exercise treatment.

Teaching

The practice of training student assistants has been continued, and we are now receiving graduates for a six months Physiotherapy Service, which is offered by the Graduate Department of Harvard Medical School. The two month's intensive summer course was given as usual.

Massage instruction was given to pupil nurses in the Nurses Training School.

A new feature consisted in having special classes for the probationer nurses, in whom some defect of posture had been noted at their entering physical examination. It is hoped that this instruction in correct body mechanics will help to reduce the strain and fatigue sometimes felt by the new nurses when they begin their ward duties.

Report of the Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commission

THROUGH the continued generosity of the Children's Hospital space has been given the Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commission for clinics and office. Clinics are held three mornings a week for the examination and treatment of old and new cases of infantile paralysis. Four trained workers give the examinations and treatments at the Children's Hospital clinics and each worker has a district in the state that she covers at regular periods, both by home visits and clinic centres.

Our attention has been called to a good many new cases during the late summer and autumn and a number of letters and inquiries have come from outlying districts in Massachusetts and the states of Maine and New Hampshire. Since August first we have had eighty-two cases with recent onsets.

At intervals during the year the Commission surgeon, Dr. Arthur T. Legg, and staff hold all day clinics in different centres. Clinics were held in 1924 in Haverhill, Lawrence, Lowell, Northampton, North Adams and Springfield.

Clinics held in cities outside Boston are supported by local agencies, but all other expenses of the Commission are met by public contributions.

Miss Dorothea Whiteley left after one year of most efficient service, to accept a position in a private office. In her place has come Miss Irene Norcross who was formerly a member of the special corrective exercise department of the Cleveland public schools.

Report of Oto-laryngological Department

NO department in the hospital has undergone more fundamental and radical changes than the former Throat, now known as the Oto-laryngological, Department. Beginning in May a special ward for the care of all ear, nose and throat cases was opened on the fourth floor of the O. P. D. situated conveniently near the Special Throat Operating Room. This ward has a capacity of eight beds, is most attractively decorated and fully equipped for the care of these special cases, thus relieving the burden which formerly fell on the general surgical wards.

Another change has been the institution of a refer Oto-laryngological Clinic held in the morning three days of the week in conjunction with the other morning clinics, for the treatment of all ear, nose and throat conditions seen in these clinics, exclusive of tonsil cases. Any of these patients who require hospital care are admitted to the special ward, as are also cases from other wards seen in consultation which are found to have any operative oto-laryngological condition.

The routine tonsillectomies are performed as formerly three afternoons a week by members of the oto-laryngological staff and a clinic for the examination, pre-operative and post-operative, of these cases is held three afternoons a week. This cares for both the cases that apply in the afternoon and those referred from the morning clinics.

These arrangements and changes have resulted both in an increase in the range and variety of work undertaken as well as in the efficiency with which it is being carried out. This is particularly true of the ear patients almost all of whom were formerly referred to other hospitals. A glance at the report of the operating room will show the extended scope of work done as compared with former years.

In particular great progress has been made in the treatment of diseases of the bronchi and esophagus. This has resulted largely from the installation of a splendidly complete bronchoscopic and esophagoscope equipment by the hospital without which no institution should treat these cases. This work has ranged from the removal of a most interesting series of foreign bodies to the bronchoscopic treatment of lung suppuration and asthma, a branch of throat work still in its infancy. Particular attention has also been devoted to the latest method of treating of esophageal strictures resulting from the accidental swallowing of lye, of which there have been four in the last six months. The study of a variety of laryngeal conditions has been possible by virtue of this new equipment.

The care of mastoid disease with its complications has been one more direction in which the new arrangement has proved invaluable, and these cases are being cared for in the ward constantly.

There have been numerous radical changes in the staff accompanying this reorganization. Dr. D. Crosby Greene has been made Consultant in Laryngology; Dr. D. Harold Walker, Surgeon in Otology. Dr. Lyman Richards has been made Surgeon in Oto-laryngology; Dr. E. A. Meserve, Associate Surgeon; Dr. Samuel Cline and Dr. Charles Merrill, Assistant Surgeons.

With its work thus thoroughly organized this department looks forward in the new year to a more comprehensive study and that some of the unsolved problems in oto-laryngology in particular. It is hoped to be able to throw some light in the relation of nasal diseases to asthma and more efficient treatment of long suppuration and more rapid convalescence from acute infections of the ear.

Thus it is felt that this new department of Oto-laryngology has made great progress in the short time since its organization and we look forward to a continuation of its development and usefulness. It is hoped that before long the regular surgical internship may include a few months service in this special work, the elements of which should be a part of the training of every children's specialist.

Pathological Department

FOLLOWING is the report for the year of 1924 from the Pathological Laboratory of the Children's Hospital.

The last few years have made it evident that the value of the post mortem and surgical records is steadily increasing. This is due in large part naturally to the interest of the clinical staff of the Hospital. An important addition to the pathological service is the acquisition of a part-time Pathological House-officer, Dr. Paul Dye, secured through the co-operation of Dr. Blackfan. The employment of a secretary, for the purpose of cataloging material accumulated since 1915 and to maintain an adequate system of cross-cataloging in the future, places the department on a par with those in other large Boston hospitals. The Pathologist, who is also Pathologist of the Infants' Hospital, has carried the Infants' Hospital work along with the Children's Hospital work, and has thought it advisable to incorporate the material from both services in the same system of records. From now on there will be a steadily increasing value to the Infants' Hospital records, which is one important way of preserving for the future the medical and surgical experience of these institutions. The permanent storage of gross pathological specimens of value is secured through the new arrangement with the Warren Museum. All specimens of this sort, of probable value, are placed in the Warren Museum, and the filing numbers recorded on the records in the pathological laboratory.

Recent publications from the Pathological Department, worthy of note, are as follows:

Report of a case of sterni fissura congenita and ectopia cordis. Dr. George Cutler and Dr. Gustav Wilens.

Report of a case of sacral teratoma. Dr. George Cutler and Dr. Gustav Wilens.

The volume of work is expressed by the following statistics. Number of autopsies made for the year, Children's Hospital 32; Infants' 90; total 122. There were 184 deaths in the Children's Hospital, with 32 autopsies, making 17%. There were 156 deaths in the Infants' Hospital, with 90 autopsies, making 58%.

The number of surgical specimens for the year is 231, as follows:

Gynecological Department

TO this department are referred all cases which are admitted to the Out-Patient Department with a vaginal discharge of any kind or which acquire such a discharge during their stay in the Hospital. During the year 1924, no cases of gonorrhoeal vaginitis were seen which had acquired the disease during their stay in the Hospital. All were Out-Patient cases. All cases treated are followed for one year from the time they are discharged as cured.

Dental Department

THE Dental Clinic has grown very fast during the past year. In fact, so fast that a new system must soon be resorted to. There are three dentists on the staff who operate every Tuesday and Thursday mornings. All urgent consultations and emergency cases can now be cared for immediately.

House cases receive routine treatment twice each week, and those still needing treatment after their discharge from the Hospital are brought back to the Out-Patient Dental Department by the Social Service worker. We are most grateful for the co-operation afforded us by this Department.

The marked improvement in many of the children after their teeth have been properly cared for is most gratifying, and conclusively proves the importance of having a clean, healthy mouth.

Many children needing orthodontic treatment come to the Clinic, but, as in the past, they must be referred to the Harvard Dental School, where splendid co-operation is offered us. It is hoped that in the near future a limited number of specially selected cases may be treated here.

The work of the Department included cases of prophylaxis, fillings of amalgam and cement, extraction of carious and abscessed teeth and roots, treatment of pulpitis, stomatitis, painful eruption and mal-posed teeth, necrosis, osteomyelitis, and fractures of the maxillary bones.

X-Ray Department

FOLLOWING the general trend of the increasing number of cases seen at the hospital, the number taken care of in the X-Ray Department has also increased quite markedly.

In 1922, the total number of cases handled was 2,829

In 1923, the total number of cases handled was 4,270

In 1924, the total number of cases handled was 6,137

The personnel of the department is the same in numbers as in 1923, and the large increase severely taxed the department in its efforts to keep up with the work. For the present the equipment and staff of the department will be adequate, but if the tendency to increase in the number of patients continues, it will be essential to increase not only the staff but also to add necessary equipment. At the present time the department has outgrown its present quarters and it is earnestly hoped that some provision will be made in the near future to meet the demands.

The treatment cases showed no marked increase, but it is hoped that the scope of the department will be widened in this respect.

The filing system will be revised the ensuing year as the present one has been found too cumbersome for the present needs.

All films now used are of the non-inflammable type. The old inflammable type are to be filed away in a fire-proof room. This will minimize the fire risk to a great extent.

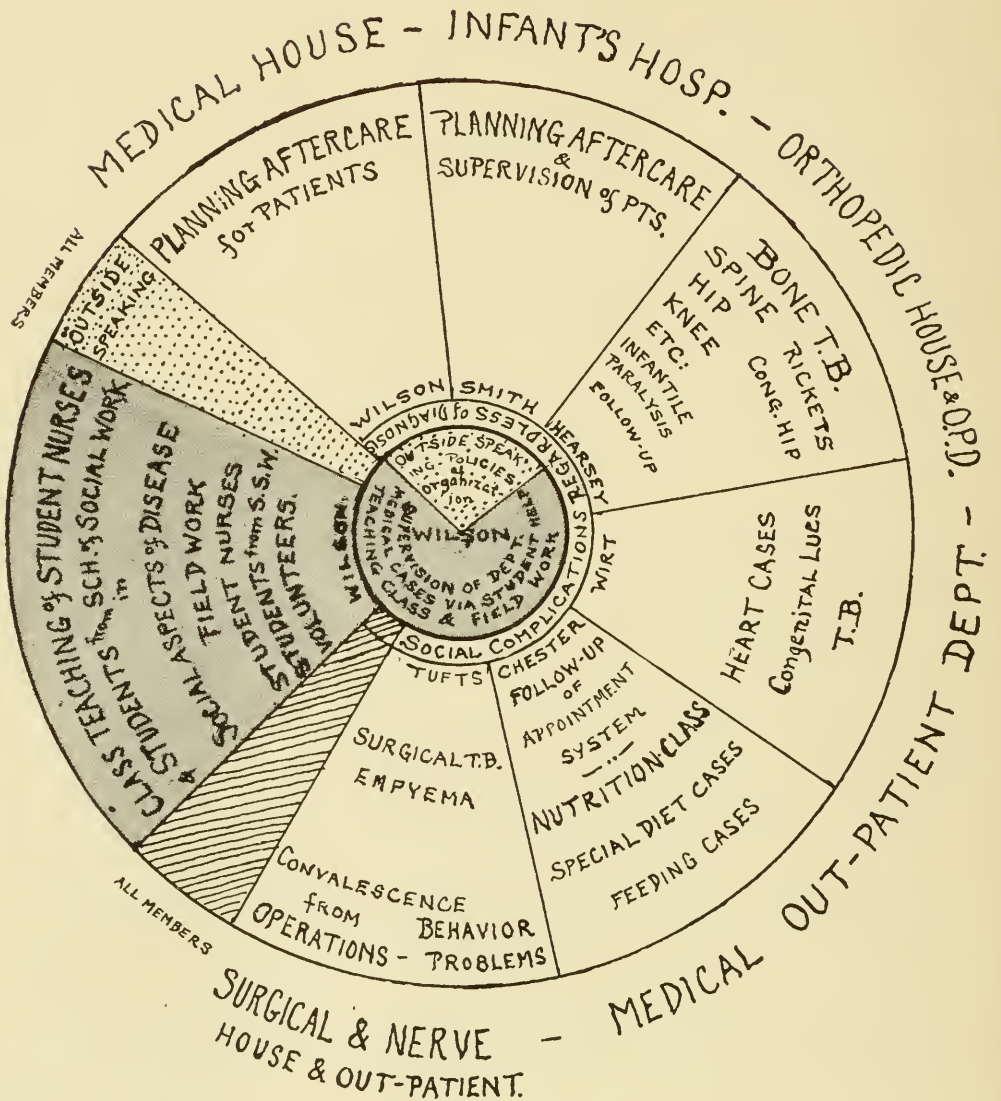

The X-ray collection still increases, and is an extremely valuable array of cases both for teaching and publication.

Dr. Carty, formerly connected with the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, has kindly given his services to the department for the latter months of the year. Also Dr. Sosman of the Brigham receives our thanks for helping on those occasions necessary.

We are very fortunate in still having the faithful services of Miss Perretti.

INTERPRETATION of HOSPITAL to COMMUNITY

Social Service Department

THE chart on the preceding page shows the present form of organization of the Social Service Department.

Orthopaedic Service

In August, Miss Packard left to re-organize the Social Service Department at the Cambridge Hospital. In her place we secured Miss Mildred Hearsey who has had experience both at the Massachusetts General Hospital and the University of Colorado Dispensary at Denver, Colorado.

As in the past, all cases of bone tuberculosis are carefully planned for. Since September a special effort has been made to carry on sun treatment and out-of-door care for the children leaving the hospital. In many cases this has proved impossible in the homes as the rooms are on the second or third floors with no porches or yards. Furthermore, during the winter many families who manage during the summer do not carry on so well, hence institutional care has been provided for many of these patients, and some of them have been placed in specialized boarding homes where the proper care can be given them.

An effort is also being made to link up more closely to the Orthopaedic service the Infantile Paralysis cases which are transferred from the Harvard Infantile Commission.

During the summer we were able to provide care at the Children's Sunlight Hospital, Children's Island Sanatorium, at Wellesley and through children's agencies for a large number of children on all service.

Surgical and Nerve Services

On the surgical service Miss Tufts has continued to plan for the children in the Out-Patient Department and wards. She also has been able to assist Dr. Crothers in many of the cases on the neurological service. She has recently aided in a study of one hundred living cases of empyema. This study included thirteen nationalities and an age span of two to twelve years. When the children were in the hospital visits to the homes showed that fifty-five were living under poor conditions and forty-five could be termed good. Thirty-six of the one hundred cases were Italian. Forty-four of them were under three years of age. In the course of the medical follow-up it was interesting to find that, medically speaking, eighty-three of the patients were in excellent condition; seven were fair or poor, and only ten could not be traced. The careful social supervision of these children and the provision of convalescent care when necessary, unquestionably helped in making these end results so satisfactory.

Medical Service

On December 1st Miss Kinney left to accept the position of executive secretary of the New England Heart Association. In her place we have secured Miss Margaret Wirt, a graduate of the Smith College School of Social Work. Her last two years have been spent working with Dr. Thom in the habit clinics. Her particular assignment of the work is the social treatment of children with heart disease, tuberculosis and congenital syphilis.

The heart class has grown to such an extent that a method has been devised whereby the patients are grouped into those who need intensive supervision and those who can report to the clinic every three to six months. This is increasing the necessity for home visits.

Early in the year Miss Elizabeth Chester, who is trained both in social work and in nutrition work, was secured as a second worker in our medical Out-Patient Department. She has been assigned to the work with the children who come to the nutrition clinic, the group of children not definitely diagnosed as tubercular, and the infant feeding cases in the Out-Patient Department which formerly we were not able to cover. This arrangement insures the careful supervision of the babies who report from the outside to the Out-Patient Department and also enables the social worker of the Infants' Hospital to ultimately transfer the babies discharged from the Infants' Hospital with the knowledge that the work begun will be continued as long as necessary.

Miss Chester has done intensive work on patients who are members of Dr. Sisson's premature baby clinic. These babies come to us from the Infants' Hospital and from the Boston Lying-In Hospital.

The nutrition clinic has a membership of thirty-two patients with an average attendance of seven. All these children are visited in their homes and carefully supervised. These cases include hilus gland tuberculosis, questionable pulmonary tuberculosis, and malnutrition, — practically all of them needing social treatment.

In the general clinic Miss Chester has also taken the special diet cases — diabetes, nephritis and rickets.

During the last two months a careful study has been made to see how many patients break their appointments. It is interesting to discover that there is a daily average of only twelve patients who fail to report and that of these twelve an average of two, only, need to be followed up from a medical standpoint.

The department has assisted Dr. Emerson and Dr. Green in a study of congenital heart disease going back over a period of twenty years.

During 1924 we were assisted greatly by the appropriation of $500 given us as a therapeutic relief fund by the Committee of the Permanent Charity Fund, Incorporated. We have drawn on this fund to provide breast milk for infants on the surgical wards when the parents were not able to meet that extra expense,—for transportation of children with cardiac disease or orthopaedic conditions for whom we have not been able to provide volunteer conveyance — for board in private homes for two special cases — and for several pieces of apparatus. The total amount expended was $480.10. The department wishes to express its gratitude for the renewed gift of $400.00 received from the Committee of the Permanent Charity Fund, Incorporated, for the year 1925.

We owe much to the interested assistance of six volunteers who have given valuable aid in follow-up work, special studies, and transportation.

The School of Nursing

THE year 1924 has brought nothing of special moment to report. The School of Nursing has endeavored as before to serve its double purpose of caring for the patients in the wards and the Out-Patient Department and of giving the students a course of training which will prepare them to meet the health needs of the community after graduation.

We have more and more to keep in mind that the needs of the community are not identical with the needs of hospitals. The community needs are usually broader and more inclusive than those of any one hospital. If a hospital maintaining a school of nursing does not give its students a comprehensive course of training it cannot meet the requirements of an approved school. Also it will fail to attract applicants in sufficient numbers and of the type capable of meeting the demands made upon the graduate nurse of to-day. Furthermore, it does not seem just to the public, who are helping to support hospitals, not to give in return graduate nurses who have had a well rounded training which can seldom be given in one hospital.

It may be of interest to know what we have tried to do along these lines. The School is now offering as an elective in the senior year the four months course in public health nursing given by Simmons College and the Community Health Association. This course will provide three months' experience in the care of patients in their homes under the direction of the able staff of supervisors of the Community Health Association and one month of field work with the Family Welfare Society. During this time a course is given at the college on the development, methods and technique of public health nursing with emphasis upon its social and preventive aspects. Six of our senior students, the first to have this privilege, will begin the public health course in January.

As the mental and nervous disturbances which accompany in one form or another so large a proportion of all illnesses are receiving medical recognition and emphasis, it has become essential that student nurses be given at least an insight into this branch of nursing. The State Boards of Registration of Nurses have felt it wise to include this subject in the required curriculum. To meet this requirement several of the leading schools have been able to arrange affiliations with hospitals caring for nervous and mental cases. Others are giving a series of lectures and clinics which are proving very helpful.

Two years ago the senior classes of this school and that of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital combined for such a course. The close proximity of the Psychopathic Hospital has made it possible to have the course given there and to have clinics rather than didactic lectures. The importance of mental hygiene, beginning in infancy, has been stressed as this is the means whereby so much of the mental illness of later years may be prevented. We are much indebted to the staff of the Psychopathic Hospital for the spirit in which they have given this very interesting and valuable course.

It is only during the last few years that the nursing of children has been recognized as an essential part of every nurse's course of training. Pediatrics is now one of the required subjects for all approved schools. And, as few hospitals can give their students sufficient clinical experience with infants and children, we have had a larger number than ever before of applications for pediatric affiliation from hospitals both within and without this state. At the beginning of 1924 we had on duty seventeen affiliating students who came to us from four schools. During the last month affiliations have been arranged with the Newton Hospital and the Anna Jacques Hospital of Newburyport which will increase this group of students to twenty-two. We also have three or four post-graduate students in the school most of the time.

The changes which we have made in our own course and the admission of so many students from other schools have brought a good many new problems to the executive and teaching staff of the School. The schedule of assignments of students to the wards so that each will have a fair division of experience has become very complex and requires hours of careful study. The class schedule has to be made out each week with much care so that there will be no conflict of time or place and the instructors have had to increase their hours of class-room teaching.

Our mixed group of students has also necessitated a larger graduate staff. In June a member of the class of 1920 who has had experience in two other hospitals and a post-graduate course at Teachers College in teaching and administration became the special supervisor for the affiliating and post-graduate students. She also has certain executive duties in the School of Nursing office. We have added three graduate head nurses to our staff which leaves only two wards in charge of senior students and these wards are under the direction of a graduate supervisor.

One other important change has been made during 1924. Our affiliation with Manhattan Maternity Hospital, which was established in 1915 when obstetrics became an obligatory course, has been severed and our students are now going to the Boston Lying-in Hospital for this training. The change was made because the Lying-in Hospital offered us an excellent three months' course with the advantages of broader clinical experience and a new and wonderfully equipped hospital. There is the further advantage of not having to send students out of town for any part of their training.

For the social and recreational life of the students two things have been done this year in addition to the usual parties. Tea has been served in the Nurses' Home twice a week. The Thursday teas at which two ladies of the Boards of the Children's and Infants' Hospitals have acted as hostesses, have been especially popular. The enthusiasm of the students is an expression of their appreciation of the generous time and effort that are being given to make these afternoons so enjoyable.

A gift from a former student has been used for the nucleus of a fiction library. The books have been continuously in circulation and have given a great deal of pleasure. We hope to enlarge the library constantly and shall be very glad of gifts of recent novels and subscriptions to a few of the best magazines. Members of the Welfare Committee and other friends of the School have already helped us to further this project.

The Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital

WELLESLEY HILLS

MASSACHUSETTS

THE Managers of The Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital present to the public their fortieth annual report.

This has been a very active and encouraging year, the Home having treated 425 children, of whom 38 paid in full, 143 paid in part and 244 received free care. We have no definite rules as to the length of time a child stays at the Home, the usual time is from three weeks to three months, but many individual cases remain for six months or longer. As we are purely a Convalescent Home it is a question whether it is a wise policy to care for so many long cases which prevent our admitting a larger number of patients who would be greatly benefited by a comparatively short stay at the Home. We should not let ourselves become clogged with cases which are practically chronic. Perhaps the following specific case will more clearly illustrate this point. A case of osteomyelitis was operated on at The Children's Hospital, the child had to remain in bed, feeling well, eating well and only requiring daily dressings for six weeks until the second and final operation could take place. All this six weeks should have been spent at the Convalescent Home in the country which would have benefited the child but there was no bed available at the Home. Furthermore if this child could have been cared for at the Home it would have freed a bed at the Hospital and during those six weeks four or five acute cases could have been admitted, cured and sent home. This is only one fairly typical case and there are many more like it. Our proportion among the services averages about 35 or 40 Orthopedic, 25 Medical and about 12 Surgical cases. Splendid cures are made with the Medical and Surgical cases and many Orthopedic, but those that are chronic we are forced to pass on to other institutions such as the Peabody Home, the Tuberculosis Home at Mattapan, the Massachusetts State Hospital at Canton, or into private homes that have been well investigated by the Children's Aid or the Children's Mission to Children, the latter being a most splendid organization which has for years placed out most successfully many of our destitute cripples, and we owe them a debt of gratitude for their being able to continue the work we had begun.

Another of our problems has always been that of contagion and we have in recent years tried to have the most modern point of view in regard to it. This year our work seems to have borne fruit for we have had fewer infectious diseases than ever before. Dr. Blackfan has made rigid rules and insists on the Schick test, a culture of the throat and a careful examination of the child the morning that it is brought from the Hospital to the Home.

The high efficiency of our work could not be maintained were it not for the untiring devotion and ability of Miss Guilod who continues as head nurse, and it redounds to her credit that during her illness of seven weeks her well trained assistants carried on the work of the Home in a most satisfactory and willing manner.

After twenty-six years of faithful service our Superintendent, John T. Bird has resigned. He came in very close contact with the children for it was he that for years drove them in the ambulance from the Hospital to the Home, and many are the children that his warm heart cheered and comforted on that long ride. He took intense interest in the children and they in turn showed their affection for him.

This year the kindergarten work has been most successfully taught by Miss Chamberlain. She not only keeps the children most happily occupied, but has also added to their health by exercises planned by the doctors, but so interpreted by her that the children think they are play. Her mother, Mrs. Chamberlain, contributed her time two days a week for six months teaching the older children. Her work was so well done that these children were able to go into their correct grades when they returned to their schools this fall.

THE CONVALESCENT HOME

Each week during the winter the Managers, with a valuable corps of helpers meet at the Nurses' Home under the skilled direction of Mrs. Thayer and cut out about 10,000 articles used by the children at both the Hospital and the Home.

We are deeply grateful for the four new memorial beds given in memory of

Raymond Roswell Robinson
Henry Hunnewell Bartlett
Virginia Pearce
Kathleen Desmond Callan

As the Home receives no financial support from the Hospital we are in urgent need of more annual subscribers. Those wishing to know of definite needs should visit the Home and a short talk with Miss Guillod shows the joy the following things would bring to the children. Favors for all the different fete days, such as Valentine's Day, Washington's Birthday, Easter, Decoration Day, Fourth of July, etc., etc. Gifts of fruit, vegetables, ice cream, candy, high chairs, baby carriages, sweaters, sneakers, shoes and last but not least, toys.

The greatest encouragement we have received in many years is the recent offer of a new building to be used as a Solarium given by Miss Mary Weld in memory of her father, Dr. Charles Goddard Weld. This gift makes it possible for the Home to take a great step forward in the curing of disease. At least one-third of the children coming to us need the treatment of a Solarium as it proves most beneficial to diseased bones, ulcers of the skin, rickets, tuberculosis, osteomyelitis, etc. It is impossible for the Board of Managers to adequately express their gratitude to Miss Weld, for beyond such feeling is the inspiration that this Memorial gives to us all to carry on our part of the work and it enables us to go into the new year with high hopes and courageous hearts.

LEONORE C. AMORY,
Secretary.

Please read this Report in the light of these Facts:

The total cost of operating the Hospital for the year 1925 was $392,957.30, an increase over 1924 of $37,625.32.

The ever-growing demands on the facilities of the Hospital make increased costs unavoidable. It would seem that at least $110,000 would be needed from public subscriptions to end the year 1926 without a deficit.

The Children's Hospital

BOSTON

Its Service to the Community

IT extends to children, not over twelve years of age, medical and surgical treatment, without regard to sex, creed, race or color.

Maintains in its general wards 165 beds. In these beds, 5,004 children were cared for in 1924, 5170 in 1925.

In its Out-Patient Department there were treated in 1924, 13,822 new cases, with a total of 52,870 visits.

Through its Social Service Department, 4,451 outside visits were made in following up cases discharged from the Hospital.

It conducts a School of Nursing which has an enrollment of 120 pupils. This school graduates 25 competent nurses trained in the care of children each year.

Prospective physicians and surgeons are taught and trained each year in the special branches of medicine and surgery relating to children.

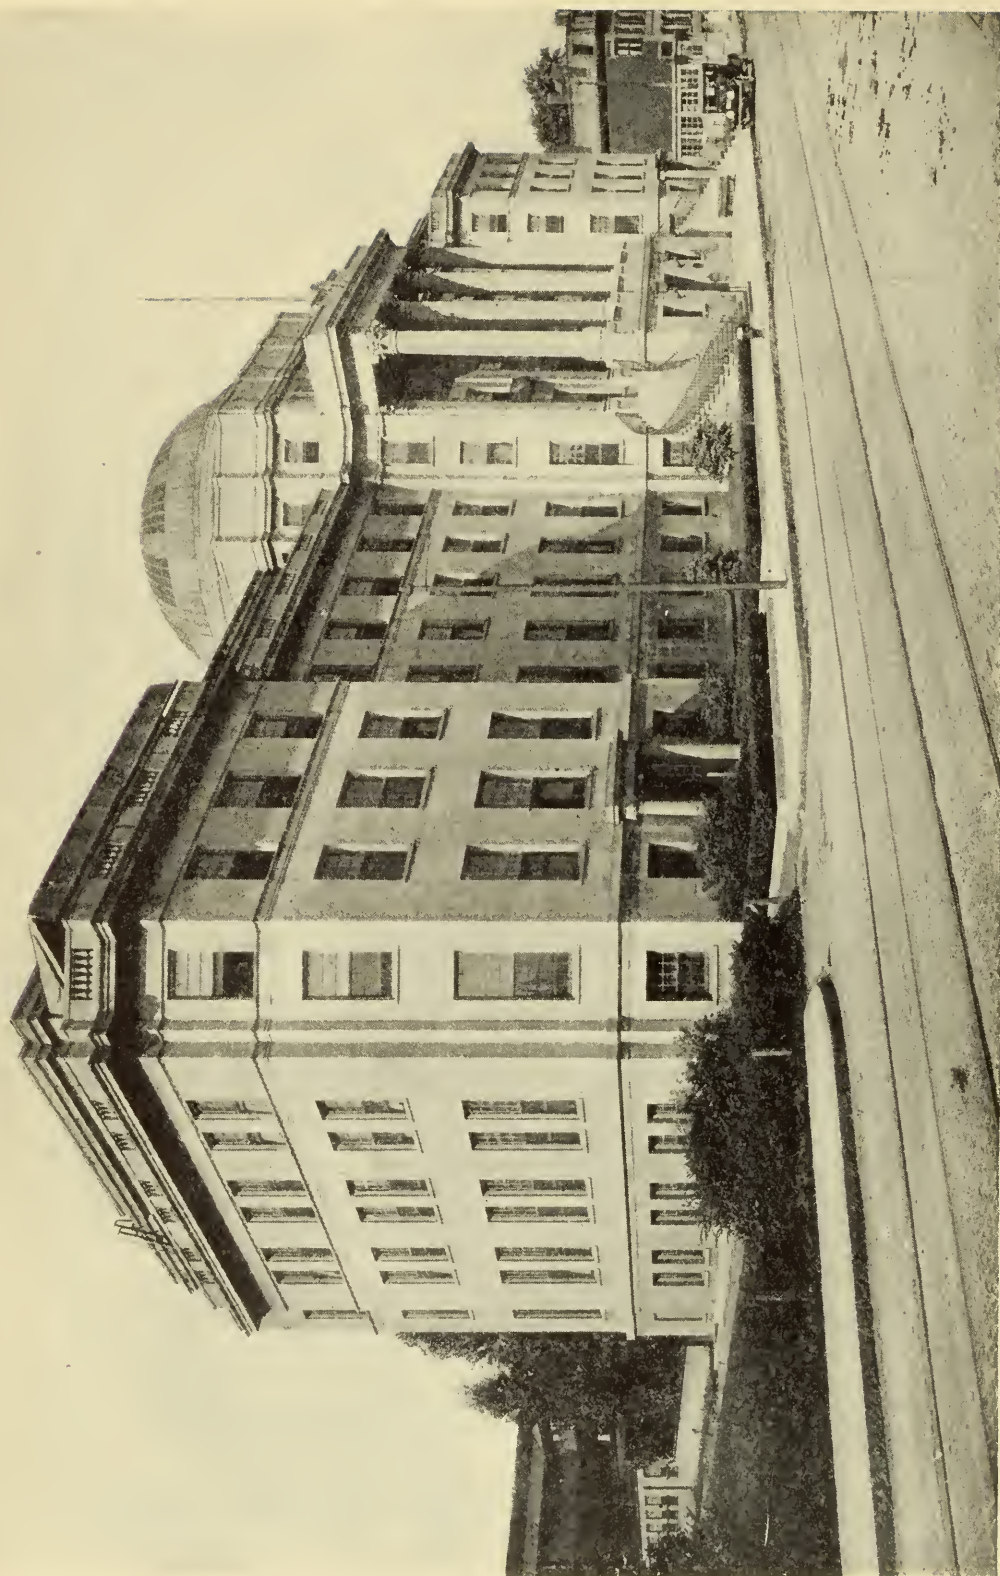

It maintains clinics for special groups of diseases, and the correction of faulty postures and deformities.

Infants and children are vaccinated against Small Pox. They are protected from Diphtheria.

It aims to keep children well through its Well Baby Clinic, its Nutrition Clinic and its clinic for Rickets.

Through its Appointment System in the Out-Patient Department, it saves mothers from waiting, lessens the danger from infection and renders better medical care.

Forty-six rooms are available for Private Patients wherein accommodations for mothers can be secured.

The overhead construction gives the most perfect system of ventilation known for hospital purposes

Report of the President

THE report of the Managers, which follows, gives an excellent summary of the activities of the hospital during the past year and will well bear reading.

The addition of a small contagious ward is probably highly desirable and should be undertaken if practicable.

The Treasurer's report shows that the operating expenses have been met without impairing capital, a result very rarely achieved during the existence of the hospital. This has been accomplished by the splendid work of the Welfare Committee, the generosity of many friends and the marked success of the "Spring Gambol" which rewarded the efficient work of many. It has unfortunately proved impossible to repeat the "Gambol" this year.

The untimely death of S. Parker Bremer is much regretted for he has served as one of the Board of Managers since 1922 with great fidelity and efficiency. Mr. Paul M. Hollister has become one of the Managers.

Thanks are due to the Managers, the Medical Staff, the Welfare Committee, the nurses, the Superintendent and many others whose devotion and capacity have enabled The Children's Hospital to carry on. Much has been achieved and much remains to be done to meet the ever increasing demands for service.

GEORGE P. GARDNER, President.

Report of the Managers

IN the year 1925 the Hospital treated more cases than in any previous year, the total being 5,318 as against 5,114 in 1924 and 4,735 in the year 1923. The number of operations for the year was 4,616 against 4,212 in 1924 and 3,773 in 1923 and in the Out-Patient Department 13,822 new cases were treated compared to 14,386 in 1924, and 11,892 in 1923.

The Hospital has kept up with this expansion by adopting new and improved methods. These not only facilitate the care of patients, but every year become necessary on account of the progress of medicine in the prevention and cure of various ailments, many of which, not many years ago, were deemed incurable.

The laboratories have had their share of new equipment. As an added safety against fire, a sprinkler system has been installed throughout the tunnels, elevators and ward corridors.

A great many of the difficulties of the X-Ray Department have been relieved by the installation of a new radiographic table for cystoscopic work, and non-inflammable films have been adopted.

The Private Ward has had a most successful year. Its continued growth and progress more than justify its construction, and on many occasions it has been filled to its capacity of over 50 patients. Due to its up-to-date equipment, both for the care of the children and the convenience of the parents, we have had few complaints and much praise both by parents and doctors.

The general clinics have shown growth, and the appointment and follow up system has saved time both for patients and doctors.

The Well Baby Clinic, operated in connection with the Community Health Association, has been taken over by the Health Department of the City.

The Premature and Asthma Clinic are giving entire satisfaction. The Lamp Treatments continue three times each week and are showing marked results. A new clinic for diabetes is about to be opened whereby mothers will be instructed on method of preparation of special diets as ordered by the doctor.

The marked improvement in the general condition of many of the ward children after their teeth have been properly cared for, conclusively proves that the Dental Department is essential, and in co-operation with the Surgical Department, it is treating the cleft palate children. Heretofore they could receive no care in any other institution in Boston; and in fact, this type of clinic is, in so far as we can learn, the first of its kind in any Children's Hospital in the country.

Constant increase in the variety and scope of the work of the Throat Department continues.

New cases of Infantile Paralysis were happily fewer in number but 2,843 treatments were given at the Hospital clinic during the year, mostly to sufferers from earlier epidemics.

The Social Service Department has been most helpful in making the connection between the hospital and the homes of the patients, and as in the past have been most co-operative in carrying out the orders of the doctors.

The problem of housing the nurses and house officers is not yet fully solved, and one of the Hospital's most pressing needs is a new Nurses Home large enough to house all under one roof. Our present quarters are undergoing a number of necessary alterations, and the six small houses on Longwood Avenue, which were renovated and furnished in the early part of 1925 are occupied by the graduate Staff of the Hospital and house officers who have outgrown their own quarters. To house some of the help a house at 43 Binney Street was leased and subsequently given up when larger quarters were obtained at 164 Longwood Avenue. The property of the Wet Nurse Directory at 63 Binney Street has been purchased and will in a measure supply the need for more room.

We are so accustomed to sending out children to the Convalescent Home in Wellesley that we are in danger of losing sight of the splendid results that can be attributed to this after care. As in the past the Hospital is grateful to those who have made this Home possible.

The Welfare Committee have been most active in the various clinics, in volunteer work of all kinds and in their invaluable work of teaching the people of greater Boston that the Hospital is here to care for their children, that it is their hospital and therefore their responsibility. To Mrs. Mead the retiring Chairman the Hospital is sincerely grateful.

To many the Hospital owes its thanks,—for surgical dressings, for other works and gifts.

To those who support the Hospital and make its work possible, no adequate gratitude can be expressed. This burden falls on 2,127 persons in 1925 and of these only 930 gave from $5.00 to $10. We believe that there must be many thousands who would be glad to help if they could be brought to appreciate the scope of the work and the needs of the Hospital.

The Private Ward

THE Private Ward is being found increasingly useful and necessary. It makes it possible for the doctors to do with greater efficiency their hospital work and some of their private work under the same roof. And it gives to those to whom the general wards are not open, the special facilities and the trained care only to be found in a hospital devoted to the care of children.

ONE OF THE BEDROOMS

During the year 1924, 1,138 children were admitted and 832 operations were performed; 1925, 1,508 admitted and 1,315 operations were performed.

We quote below the rates for the rooms in this ward:
SINGLE ROOM, $6.00 A DAY TO $13.50 A DAY.

The highest price including a bathroom.

No extra charge is made for the parent or other adult occupying the same room with child.

There is a pleasant private dining room where parents may get their meals at moderate prices.

THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

TWO ROOMS AND BATH, $13.50 A DAY TO $25 A DAY.

This price includes meals for the parent in charge of the child.

SEMI-PRIVATE ROOMS AT $5.00 A DAY.

The above prices include ordinary drugs and services of the floor nurse.

The Hospital Staff is always anxious to co-operate with the family physician.

Certificate

As a result of an audit of the books and records of The Children's Hospital for the year 1925, I hereby certify that all cash shown to have been received has been accounted for; that satisfactory evidence of the approval and payment of all disbursements has been examined; that the balance called for by the cash account was on deposit in the several bank accounts or was in the offices of the Corporation; that the income earned during the year by investments held by the Hospital, and from other sources, was properly accounted for; that all securities shown by the books were on hand or properly accounted for; that the Balance Sheet and Statement of Income and Expense submitted herewith are correct transcripts from the books of account, and, in my opinion, conservatively set forth the financial condition of the Hospital as at December 31, 1925, and the results of its operations for the year ended at that date.

Respectfully submitted,

PERCY E. GLEASON

Certified Public Accountant.

The year has been a particularly active one for the committee and each member has worked in a fine spirit of enthusiasm and loyalty to further the interest of the hospital. Under the inspiring leadership of Mrs. Francis B. Crowninshield, the summer work was carried on with success, particularly the C. H. Clubs under the direction of Miss Louise Coburn and Mrs. Robert W. Means.

Two new members have been welcomed to the Board, Mrs. John G. Palfrey and Mrs. Charles Rheault, who before her marriage served on the Welfare Committee.

There has been the usual helpful co-operation among the three Ladies' Boards connected with the hospital. The Ladies' Aid of the Thomas Morgan Rotch, Jr., Memorial Hospital, and the Welfare Committee of the Children's Hospital have carried on jointly the informal teas for the nurses at the Nurses' Home, which have been the means of establishing a friendly intercourse between the nurses on the Staff and the ladies of the two Boards.

The Welfare Club Committee under the direction of Mrs. Francis B. Lothrop, was in charge of a series of lectures given through the courtesy of the Staff. These lectures were most instructive and interesting and it is hoped that another year other groups may be given the privilege of attending them.

The hospital is greatly indebted to the Volunteer Workers who, under the direction of Miss Louise Fessenden, contributed so generously of their strength and time to the successful carrying out of the appointment system in the medical and surgical clinics of the out-patient department.

REPORT OF WELFARE COMMITTEE

Mrs. Louis Bacon again conducted the group making surgical dressings for the hospital.

To the interest of Mrs. Maurice J. Curran, Mrs. Charles P. Curtis, Jr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Edwards, we shall owe the new film much needed for our work.

Thanks are especially due to Mrs. Edgar T. Wrightington, Mrs. B. F. Plimpton and Mr. Jay for their generous aid in arranging benefits for the hospital. Also to Mrs. G. L. Avery and Mrs. L. C. Fenno for their interest in the hospital.

To Mrs. E. H. Seagrave and the members of the Ladies Dog Club we are indebted for their very generous gift which named the entire service of the hospital for a day.

Every member of the Welfare Committee did their utmost to make the Spring Gambol a success. The following ladies were especially helpful in taking charge of booths: Mrs. E. Waller Cumming, Mrs. Ely Feibelman, Mrs. Robert C. Morse, Mrs. Frederick G. Smith, Mrs. Richard P. Strong, Mrs. S. H. Wolcott and Mrs. B. Loring Young, Jr. Great credit is due Miss Louise Coburn, Mrs. Harold J. Coolidge, Mrs. Robert W. Means, Mrs. George von L. Meyer, Jr., and Mrs. H. Parker Whittington as heads of the principle committees on the Gambol. Thanks are also due to the two secretaries, Miss Marguerite Marcy and Miss Susan Burke for handling the office details without additional expense.

A gift of a Memorial Bed in memory of her daughter, Agnes, has been given by Mrs. Sidney Hosmer.

A very beautiful book has been given in memory of her daughter, Bessie, by Mrs. Clarence R. Edwards. This book is to carry a permanent record of all those who "Name" a day for the hospital.

Report of Medical Department

THE Medical Service of the Hospital has been most active this year and a larger number of patients have been treated than formerly. This has been accomplished by shortening the average stay of patients in the hospital which has been done, with advantage to the patient, through the able assistance of the Social Service Department working in close co-operation with the Out-Patient Department. In this connection it should be mentioned that the Convalescent Home, since the institution of a resident physician, is rendering assistance of increasing value in relieving the hospital of patients requiring convalescent care, thereby freeing beds for the acutely ill children. Through the Appointment System in the Out-Patient Department more time for the physician to devote to the individual patient is secured and therefore a larger number of patients who formerly were referred to the hospital wards are now being treated as ambulatory patients. The results obtained this year demonstrate clearly that it is possible to increase the efficiency of the service without necessarily increasing the number of hospital beds when advantage is taken of the already existing facilities of the hospital, insofar as the majority of the acute types of diseases are concerned. There is urgent need, however, for beds for the care of patients who develop communicable diseases during their stay in the hospital. A large number of such cases occur each year and at the present time the patients have to be transferred to the contagious service of the Boston City Hospital. It would be most desirable viewed from the point of view of the best interest to the patient if provision for such cases could be made within the Children's Hospital.

"The "appointment system" in the Out-Patient Department whereby each patient is given a definite time appointment with the same physician was inaugurated in March 1924. It has now been in force a full year and although there are still many adjustments to be made it is generally thought that it has materially increased the efficiency and interest of the service rendered in the clinic. There has been a notable reduction in the number of contagious cases reporting to the clinic since this system was inaugurated. This has been done by the careful inquiry conducted over the telephone before an appointment is given regarding the nature of the child's illness and the possible exposure to contagion. In the following chart are contrasted the statistics for this year (1925) with those of 1922 when the old plan of admitting patients was in force.

Percentage Increase 1925 over 1922

1925	First Half	Second Half
New Patients	27%	21%
Total Visits	20%	8%

As shown above there has been a perceptible decrease in the number of total visits during the second half of 1925. Among other reasons in explanation of this, the following are cited: (1) There was generally less illness throughout the community during the past summer and fall. (2) With the appointment system the physicians have more time to devote to a complete study of each case at the first visit thereby lessening considerably the number of "return visits" required before diagnosis and treatment are determined. This results not only in improved service, but a saving of time and money to the patient. There is one factor relating to the lessening of the number of "return visits" to which grave consideration need be given, namely the difficulty encountered by patients in returning to the clinic, since the street car service on Longwood Avenue was discontinued. The ease of transportation to a hospital for sick children obviously is of much importance in determining the number of patients seeking the Hospital's service.

A special clinic with the co-operation of the Dietician has been started for supervising the care of the ambulatory diabetic children. This will meet a long felt want. Efforts are also being made to encourage maternal nursing by setting aside one day a week in which advice and instruction relating to this subject are given to mothers. For this clinic the hospital has secured several pairs of baby scales which can be rented at a nominal fee to nursing mothers. The appointment of a special worker in the neurological clinic for the purpose of more closely supervising the needs of the subnormal child meets a much needed demand.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT

In addition to the Well Baby Clinic held in the Out-Patient Department, a "discharge" clinic has been organized at the Boston Lying-In Hospital where each baby is examined on discharge, those requiring further supervision are directly referred to the Children's Hospital. These two clinics together with thirteen Child Health clinics assigned to the Department of Pediatrics, Harvard Medical School, by the City Health Department are now under the direction of a supervising physician assisted by members of the Medical Staff of the Children's Hospital. It was possible to secure a well qualified physician who is especially interested in preventative pediatrics to direct this work through a gift to the School of Public Health by a public spirited benefactress. Besides the service which the hospital is rendering to the sick child, it is apparent that it is furthering in a splendid way the preventative aspects of Pediatrics.

During this year arrangements have been made with the Department of Bacteriology, Harvard Medical School, whereby it is possible to have constantly at hand the services of a recognized authority in all aspects of laboratory methods. This plan, together with the already existing relationship with the Department of Pathology, Harvard Medical School, equips the hospital with the means for offering the most modern advantages available in the scientific branches of medicine for diagnosis and treatment of children's diseases. The research laboratory of the Medical Division has been active and productive. Already facts of fundamental importance have been obtained which also are of practical value in the treatment of diabetes, epilepsy, nephritis and the nutritional diseases.

Such slight changes as have been made in the system followed in teaching the medical students have been of mutual advantage to the students, to the instructors and to the patients. There has been an increasing number of visiting physicians and graduates from foreign fields observing the methods of treatment employed in this clinic.

The continued progress in the service rendered by the medical division of the Children's Hospital, as the review of the work performed this year tends to show, is directly due to the enthusiastic service of the members of the Medical Staff, the close co-operation existing between the various departments in the hospital, and the whole hearted support of the Board of Managers.

THE GYMNASIUM—WHERE CORRECTIVE EXERCISES FOR SCOLIOSIS AND FAULTY POSTURE ARE GIVEN

Report of Surgical Department

THE number of patients treated in the wards is about the same as in 1924 in spite of the fact that during the last eight months there has been a decided falling off in the number of patients treated in the Surgical Department, both in the wards and out-patient department. Up to that time there had been a steady growth in the number treated, the wards had been constantly filled, and there was a long list of those waiting for admission. A possible factor in the falling off in numbers may have been the abandonment of the street car service to the Hospital.

There has been an increase in the number of operations performed. This is notably true in reference to Hare Lip and Cleft Palate. The reputation of the Hospital in the treatment of these and other congenital malformations attracts patients from far distant States.

There has been a decided increase, too, in the number of cases of appendicitis treated, and the results have been most gratifying.

The number of hernias operated upon and cured has remained practically constant. This has been one of the very useful though inconspicuous functions of the hospital.

There is a great increase in the number of examinations made of the kidneys and urinary passages. This work has been greatly facilitated by the fitting up of a suitable room in the Roentgenological Department. Many hitherto obscure conditions are now being recognized as new methods are adopted.

Very encouraging results are being obtained by repair of the nerves after injuries received at birth. These cases are not common but marked improvement has been obtained in some instances.

Empyema or abscess about the lung is still too common a disease. It is one which might be to a great extent eliminated if all children had the abundant sunshine and fresh air which is their right.

A considerable number of cases of peritonitis not due to local causes are now being treated with results on the whole gratifying.

It is a pleasure to note that less children are now requiring treatment for various tuberculous conditions due to drinking infected milk. The crusade to eliminate bovine tuberculosis is showing results. Of course more general pasteurization also helps to cut down various milk born diseases.

The influence of the hospital is widespread as those who study here settle in distant communities.

Report of Orthopaedic Department 1925

THE general plan of organization and conduct of the Orthopaedic Department in force during 1924, has been continued with satisfaction in 1925. The surgeons on duty in the wards follow their cases in the Out-Patient Department and by the system of assignments and weekly staff ward rounds are kept constantly in touch with each other's work and with the activities of the Department. The waiting list for admission is often larger than it should be and the need for more orthopaedic beds is again emphasized if the hospital is to fully serve the large community which seeks this service. The appointment system and the "follow-up" system in the Out-Patient save time for the patients and minimize the waste of professional attention.

About one hundred and twenty more new cases sought orthopaedic advice during 1925 than in 1924, while the total number of visits of old and new cases of the Out-Patient Department has been about 120 less.

The Special Clinic in corrective work was too large to satisfactorily function with the available staff. By a more careful selection of cases a decrease in the total number of new and old cases has been effected, but a still more careful selection must be made if the highest grade of work is to be done.

There was no epidemic of infantile paralysis during 1925, and the total number of visits of both old and new cases coming to the Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commission Clinic has been about 200 less than in 1924. The activity of this special clinic may be appreciated by the fact that there are about 20 cases treated on each clinic day.

We feel that the present facilities for transportation to the hospital seriously threaten the success of the various clinics, especially the Orthopaedic Clinic. There is now no car line on Longwood Avenue. Patients reaching the Hospital by means of the elevated railroad system have often to make many changes and climb several flights of stairs before they leave the regular electric line at Longwood Avenue. The bus system which has been established to transport patients directly to the hospital from the electric car lines, is in our opinion unsatisfactory and time-consuming. With orthopaedic cases who are usually more or less crippled these frequent changes and the delay of the bus system represent a real hardship which the parents are feeling. Unless a better transportation system can be arranged the hospital will lose many patients who are quite satisfied with their treatment at the clinic but who will perforce take their children to other clinics because of better transportation facilities.

Teaching

The Harvard Medical School continues to use the Orthopaedic Department of the Children's Hospital to its fullest capacity as a teaching unit in the Department of Orthopaedic Surgery. Twelve required lectures are given during the first half year at weekly intervals to the whole Third Year class and there is section teaching work at the hospital from nine until half past eleven three days a week during the whole academic year. Without the services of the Resident Teaching Fellow, whose salary is provided by the Harvard Medical School and whose board and room are provided by the Hospital, these teaching activities could not be effectively carried out.

The courses in Orthopaedic Surgery for pupil nurses and for post graduates which the Resident Teaching Fellow has conducted have been extremely satisfactory to the Training School.

A considerable number of Fourth Year students elect Orthopaedic Surgery and the clinics and the wards of the Hospital afford ample opportunity for such students. During January and February a voluntary evening course in Orthopaedic Surgery to Third Year students was largely attended. Several post-graduate courses have been conducted by the Staff and Resident Teaching Fellow.

Research

Research in Osteomyelitis or inflammation of bone has been conducted by Dr. Arthur Van Dessel, Belgian Fellow on the Hoover Foundation. He has received a degree of M.A. in Orthopaedic Surgery from Harvard University.

THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

Studies in the action of diathermy have been conducted by the Resident Teaching Fellow, Dr. Robert C. Lonergan, with the help of Professor Cecil Drinker of the Department of Physiology, Harvard Medical School.

Research work in the growth and reactions of the cartilage is being conducted by Dr. D. S. O'Connor of the House Officers Staff, with the help of Professor Burt Wolbach of the Department of Pathology, Harvard Medical School.

The study of gaits by means of moving pictures and other special studies in Infantile Paralysis have been made possible by the income of the Helen Hallett Thompson Fund. This help is gratefully acknowledged.

Changes in Staff

Dr. William F. Cotting, whose outside industrial work precludes his giving the necessary amount of time to the work of the Hospital has resigned from the Orthopaedic Staff. The resignation has been accepted with regret.

On January 1st, 1926, Dr. Robert C. Lonergan, Resident Teaching Fellow since January 1925, resigned to accept an important position in Evanston, Illinois. Dr. Lonergan maintained the high standards of service which Dr. Winthrop M. Phelps, first Resident Teaching Fellow on the Orthopaedic Service established. Dr. Vernon P. Thompson has succeeded Dr. Lonergan as Resident Teaching Fellow.

Four Orthopaedic Internes continue to be supplied by the Two-Year Post-Graduate Course given in association with the Harvard Medical School and the Orthopaedic Department of the Massachusetts General Hospital. More applications for this course are received than can be filled and the grade of applicants is all that can be desired.

Social Service

We take pleasure in again acknowledging the noteworthy assistance of Miss Hearsey assigned to the Orthopaedic Department by the Social Service. By home visits and careful "follow-up," a much more satisfactory continuity of treatment has been made possible. This help has been given not only intelligently, but with a spirit which has made the asking of it a pleasure.

Report of Special Clinic for Muscle Training of Paralysis

THE Clinic this year has been conducted as before. The difficulty in transportation incident to the elimination of street car service has resulted in considerable difficulty for the patients in reaching the Hospital. For this reason many cases have not received the continuous and adequate care which they have needed.

Every bed in every ward can be wheeled out of doors in a few seconds

Department of Physical Therapeutics

A LONG-DESIRED step has been accomplished in the extension of the physiotherapy service to include the treatment of children at the Wellesley Convalescent Home. With the approval of the Board of Managers and the co-operation of Miss Guillod, an experienced physiotherapist has been secured for three half-days a week. This makes it possible to give a longer period of expert massage and muscle training during the important period following surgical procedures, without tying up a hospital bed for the purpose. It is the intention to keep the Wellesley work so closely affiliated with that of the Hospital, that there will be no possibility of the feeling that a case is being handed over to an outside person unfamiliar with the previous treatment. We were fortunate in securing the services of Miss Dorothy Whitney, who continues her work with the Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commission clinic.

Hospital Wards

Two thousand four hundred ninety nine treatments in the Wards have been given as follows, an average of twenty treatments per patient:

Ward	Number of Cases	Number of Treatments
Medical	11	291
Surgical	9	111
Orthopaedic	92	1904
Private Ward	8	193
	<hr/>	<hr/>
	120	2499

(an increase over any previous year)

In addition to the routine baking, massage, muscle training, and other forms of exercise, recent cases of infantile paralysis have started their muscle training in the five-foot tank of warm water. The weakened muscles improve in circulation and power with a minimum of fatigue.

THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

Clinic for Scoliosis and Poor Posture

During the past year, a special effort has been made to impress upon new patients the point that regular attendance was a necessary factor in obtaining benefit from the treatment, and that occasional visits were useless. We are attempting to concentrate on those cases who will come regularly, and limit our work to those cases who seem most likely to obtain most benefit. This fact, taken in connection with the lack of direct car service and the expense of frequent visits, has resulted in a decrease of the year's attendance. Increase of local facilities for the treatment of poor posture, in the schools and in the health centers, has lifted some of the burden of these cases from the Physiotherapy Department.

The treatment of structural scoliosis by corrective plaster jackets, supplemented by exercises, progress being recorded by photographs and X-rays, has been carried on with gratifying results. The factor of obtaining frequent and regular attendance even from these cases, is becoming an increasingly difficult problem. The families are willing and anxious for the treatment, but are unable to leave the smaller children, or their work, to make frequent visits to the Hospital; and motor service is not available.

Total attendance—	2710
New cases	163

Children referred from these clinics have been given 884 treatments, three mornings a week. There were 124 Orthopaedic and 24 Surgical cases referred.

Teaching

A somewhat longer course in massage is now being given to the student nurses, in order to meet the requirements of the Training School curriculum.

Three student assistants, registered under Courses for Graduates, Harvard Medical School, for a six months' Physiotherapy Service, received their certificates, and are now doing satisfactory work in different parts of the country. The intensive summer course was given to about twenty students. It is interesting to note that many of these nurses and physical education teachers are referred here by doctors, who have received part of their own training at this Hospital.

Report of Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commission

THE Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commission is now in its tenth year. The work continues as in the past, accomplishing a great deal in an undramatic way, but it is necessary to follow the cases over a long period of months and years to see the end results.

The work is carried on throughout the State by means of clinic centers and home visits. Three trained workers cover the State at regular intervals. Clinics in greater Boston are held by the nurses of the Community Health Association who act in co-operation with the Commission.

In several of the manufacturing cities where the Commission has large groups of patients, an all-day clinic once or twice a year is held by the Commission Surgeon, Dr. Arthur T. Legg, and the entire staff. In 1925 such clinics were held in Haverhill, Lawrence, Lowell, North Adams and Springfield.

The centre clinic is at the Children's Hospital where quarters are generously provided and close co-operation with all the departments exists. The Commission sends all operative cases to the Hospital wards, and when these cases are ready for discharge they are referred back to the Commission clinics.

New cases of infantile paralysis this fall were happily fewer in number than they have been for the past few years, but in spite of this the clinics have been very busy.

A feature of the clinics which usually impresses visitors very much is the amount of apparatus worn. The sum total for the year 1925 was: $4,375.35, which item was covered, through the perseverance of Miss Haggart, largely by the patients themselves and partly by local agencies.

Another function of the Commission, and an equally important one, is the research work carried on at the Harvard Medical School. Although the present treatment for infantile paralysis accomplishes a great deal, we are still groping somewhat in the dark.

THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

The expenses of the Commission are met by an annual appeal to an ever generous public. Clinics held outside Boston are supported by local agencies, but all other expenses are met by public contributions.

Report of Oto-laryngological Department

THE Oto-laryngological Department looks back on a year of great progress marked by a constant increase in the variety and scope of work done. As the existence of a complete clinic for all disease of the ear, nose and throat in children has become better known among the local profession, more and more patients from wider areas are applying for treatment. The number of beds in the special otolaryngological ward has been increased to 13, with the addition of porch facilities in the summer. The afternoon clinic for tonsillec-tomies is held tri-weekly, at which time patients previously operated upon are examined before final discharge. The morning clinic, held three times a week, affords ready consultations with all other departments and thus saves the patient an additional visit to the hospital. An increasingly larger number of ward consultations have received attention and contributed to a more complete general examination and study of the house cases.

Special problems continue to occupy the department's attention and progress has been made along several lines. The treatment of diseases of the larynx, bronchi and esophagus is being emphasized, particularly with regard to the removal of foreign bodies, the cure of strictures, and the amelioration of lung suppuration. A complete instrumental equipment has greatly facilitated this work. Severe mastoid infections complicated by blood stream infection have been unusually frequent and have yielded some of the most gratifying and successful results. Considerable valuable data has been accumulated with regard to sinus infection and its clinical relationship to such systemic diseases as nephritis and asthma, and it is hoped that further advances can be made along this line.

Arrangements are gradually being made to provide a given separate period on the otolaryngological service for the surgical house-officers, a move which will result in increased efficiency for the hospital and a more interesting and profitable interne-ship for men looking forward to a medical or surgical practice among children.

The personnel of the staff of the Department remains unchanged. Dr. D. Crosby Green and Dr. D. Harold Walker are Consultants in Laryngology and Otology respectively. Dr. Lyman Richards is Surgeon in Otolaryngology, Dr. E. A. Meserve is Associate Surgeon, and Dr. Samuel Cline and Dr. Charles Merrill are Assistant Surgeons.

Though reorganized only 18 months ago, this department feels that it has become a necessary and integral part of the hospital and looks forward to a year of increasing usefulness and service.

Pathological Department

THE statistics for the year 1925 show a continuing increase in the number of autopsies performed and surgical specimens examined in the Pathological Department of the Children's Hospital. The pathological work of the Infants' Hospital has been carried on in the same laboratory, the records being kept together, and unified under one filing system. This combination appears to be distinctly advantageous. The filing system is nearly completed, and includes a large amount of very valuable material.

The new position of part-time Pathological House Officer has proven particularly successful, especially because it has helped to secure the co-operation between the Department and the other departments of the hospital, upon which the value of the Pathological Department is so largely dependent. Dr. Henry Gallup is to hold this position for 1926, replacing Dr. Paul Dye, who has left to take a Medical internship in the New York Hospital.

If the department continues to grow at its present rate, the need for further space will soon become urgent, and it is hoped that some provision can be made for this expansion in the near future.

The following figures show the volume of work done during 1925.

Autopsies

	Autopsies performed	% increase over last year	Total deaths	% autopsies obtained
Children's Hospital . .	37	16%	142	26.0%
Infants' Hospital . .	133	48%	224	59.4%
Combined	170	40%	366	46.5%

The percentage of autopsies obtained shows, for the Children's Hospital, an increase from 17% to 26%, and for the Infants' Hospital an increase from 58% to 59.4%.

Gynecological Department

TO this department are referred all cases which are admitted to the Out-Patient Department with a vaginal discharge of any kind or which acquire such a discharge during their stay in the Hospital. During the year 1925, no cases of gonorrheal vaginitis were seen which had acquired the disease during their stay in the Hospital. All were Out-Patient cases. All cases treated are followed for one year from the time they are discharged as cured.

Dental Department

THE dental department has continued to 'grow very rapidly and during the past year cared for 205 Ward cases and 224 new out-patients,—rendering approximately one thousand dental operations. Dr. Everett Tisdale was added to the staff as the clinic became very active. The routine type of cases are treated Tuesday and Thursday mornings and now emergency and special cases may receive attention at any time. As in the past, house cases receive care twice each week and those needing treatment after their discharge are brought back to the Out-Patient Dental Clinic by the Social Service workers to whom we are grateful for their co-operation. The marked improvement in the general condition of many of the children after their teeth have been properly cared for is most gratifying and conclusively proves the importance of a clean, healthy mouth. New equipment has been added for treating selected cases of mal-occlusion. This special clinic will work in co-operation with the surgical department in rendering treatment to the cleft palate children, who heretofore could receive no care in any other institution in Boston. In so far as we can learn, this clinic will be the first of its kind in any children's hospital in the country. The work will be carried on by the use of the most modern appliances made of platinum and gold and we shall look forward with keen interest to the results. The Harvard Dental School and the Forsyth Dental Infirmary for Children were most kind in caring for many of our referred cases. The work of the department included cases of prophylaxis, fillings of cement and amalgam, extraction of carious and abscessed teeth and roots, treatment of pulpitis, stomatitis, Vincent's Angina, necrosis, osteomyelitis and fractures of the maxillary bones.

X-Ray Department

THERE was a slight falling off in the number of cases seen in 1925 as compared to the previous year, the main decrease being in the number of Out-Patient cases.

The addition of a new G. U. Radiographic Table was quite an improvement, as the patients can be cystoscoped and the radiographs taken without moving them from one table to another.

There are several other changes which will undoubtedly have to be made in the near future, but, on the whole, the department has a fairly good equipment. If there are to be any reconstructive changes in the buildings it is hoped that the X-Ray Department will be included as it has long since outgrown its present quarters.

Social Service Department

THE Social Service Department has continued on all services to act as the connecting link between the Hospital and the homes of its patients,—and to insure as far as possible the carrying on of medical treatment by discovering and removing the obstacles which stand in the way. It has aided in meeting the specialized needs of the patients and in developing an understanding between the family of the child and the Hospital, and it has striven to interrelate the Hospital and other agencies in the community, from which patients come or to which they may go.

A responsibility of the modern hospital,—particularly of one for children, is to meet the awakening consciousness of the importance of preventive work,—and the Out-Patient Department, particularly, is a rich field in this respect.

The Social Service Department is trying in several ways to stress this trend. It is the primary responsibility of the workers in The Children's Hospital to render the patient's medical care effective by social re-adjustments when the medical condition and the social complications are closely interwoven. With the family as a unit much preventive work can be done;—it would be ineffective to consider only the health of the initial patient. The workers are trained to look for and recognize health problems existing in other members of the family,—which are thus frequently caught in time and started toward correction.

A second responsibility is the constant application of health educational instruction in connection with certain diagnoses,—which, with children,—indicate the almost automatic need of such aid,—regardless of the financial status of the family. Children with early rheumatic involvement with the possible focus of infection in diseased tonsils and carious teeth,—infants with signs of rickets,—children who are much underweight and who possibly show positive tuberculin tests,—for these and for many others much preventive health education work may be done,—averting, perhaps, the cardiac lesion, the later orthopedic deformity or the case of active tuberculosis.

SOCIAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT

Cardiac and nutrition classes,—clinics for rachitic infants and children, and a well tied up appointment system greatly assist the social worker assigned to a clinic in handling these groups of cases most efficiently and aid in insuring periodic examinations. We have found this group treatment of the greatest value in the education of parents and a stimulus to the children.

In community relationships the Department has tried to be of increasing aid in interpreting to non-medical agencies in terms of social treatment the medical recommendations made by the Hospital to their clients, and in educating the lay worker to recognize that practically every situation she deals with has either a health problem cross-sectioning it,—or has disease as its underlying cause.

A new development of great interest this year is the assignment of Miss Wirt—who has special training for this work,—to Dr. Crothers' Clinic.

For some time we have been conscious of this need and impressed by the number of cases coming to the general Out-Patient Department which might be helped by Mental Hygiene.

1. Many heart cases,—with the question of discipline and feeding—are in themselves behavior problems.
2. Many of the luetic cases involve the overcoming of prejudices and fears.
3. Many medical records read at the end of the morning have diagnoses of "No disease. Discipline problem,—poor habits."
4. Cases have been referred from Medical and Surgical Wards with behavior difficulties.

In addition to these have been the cases arising on the Neurological Service, frequently demanding complete home study and the analysis of the persons in contact with the patient.

Owing to the nature of these cases the treatment is complicated,—involving intensive visiting over a long period of time for the purpose of

1. Changing attitudes.
2. Overcoming bad habits of training and behavior and establishing good ones.

THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

3. Educating the mother and father in methods of child training.
4. Adjusting the child not only to the home,—but to the school and neighborhood.
5. Placement in a convalescent home,—special school,—or foster home, when treatment at home is inadvisable,—with the subsequent re-adjustment to the child's own environment.

From this new work we expect some interesting results during the coming year.

More and more the Social Service Department is co-operating with the medical staff in contributing the social background to the medical special studies done in connection with pieces of research,—and in this we have had the invaluable assistance of Miss Mary Weld and Miss Edith Sturgis.

The appropriation of $400.00 given us as a therapeutic relief fund during 1925 by The Committee of the Permanent Charity Fund, Incorporated,—was of greatest value. We drew upon the fund to provide orthopedic apparatus,—for transportation for children unable otherwise to attend clinics,—for breast milk for very sick infants,—for Insulin,—for special convalescence and for emergency medical care. One hundred and fifteen children were benefited through the fund,—and the Social Service Department wishes again to express its appreciation of the gift which made this possible.

The Department wishes also to express its gratitude to Mrs. Irving Solby whose efforts have made possible a fund to be used in 1926 to meet the particular problem of transportation for patients attending the Muscle Training and Alpine Lamp clinics.

The School of Nursing

THE enrollment of graduate and student nurses at the Children's and Infants' Hospitals at the close of 1925 is as follows:

Director, School of Nursing	1
Asst. Director, School of Nursing	1
Instructors	2
Supervisors of Wards, Food Laboratory, Treatment Room . . .	7
Supervisors of Operating Rooms	2
Night Supervisors	2
Graduate head nurses	6
Graduate nurse anaesthetists	3
C. H. student nurses on duty	87
C. H. student nurses on affiliations	20
C. H. student nurses at Simmons College	27
Affiliating students at C. H. and I. H.	28
Postgraduate students	3

Forty-six students have been admitted to the School during the year and twenty-six have been graduated. There have been sixteen withdrawals for varying causes.

The total number of affiliating students who have been given either the three months' or four months' course is eighty-eight. These students have come from seven different hospitals none of which admit a large enough number of children to afford sufficient experience in the nursing of infants and children. While a course of three or four months is not adequate for specialization in the care of children it does give a comprehensive idea of the scope of this branch of nursing. New affiliations have been arranged this year with the Beverly and Melrose Hospitals.

Twelve postgraduate students have received the certificate for the four months' course. Most of these have taken this course as preparation for positions as head nurses of children's wards in the hospitals from which they graduated.

The course in Public Health Nursing offered for the first time this year, was given to six students all of whom made very creditable records. The special value of this course is the contact with patients in their homes and the gaining of a knowledge of community health and social problems. Much emphasis is laid on health education. Since graduating, two of the students taking the course have accepted positions with the Community Health Association and two others are in charge of wards at this Hospital. To nurses doing institutional work a knowledge of public health nursing brings a much more sympathetic understanding of patients and their home conditions. It makes patients seem a part of a family unit rather than cases of medical or surgical diseases.

One student in the senior class has had the privilege of spending two months at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary. This experience has proved so interesting and valuable that we hope next year to add the course to the electives for third year students.

There have been few changes in the staff of the School of Nursing during the year. The Night Supervisor, Miss Ruth Gilman, Children's Hospital, 1922, resigned in July after two years of efficient service. Miss Elizabeth M. Kunde, Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital, 1922, and Miss Eleanor P. Bowen, Newton Hospital, 1922, and Boston Floating Hospital, 1924, were appointed as Supervisors in September. As the position of Night Supervisor is a somewhat arduous and isolated one the plan of having these two members of the staff alternate day and night duty every two months is being tried and is thus far proving very satisfactory.

The question of appointing a physician for the School of Nursing has been under consideration for sometime. It was decided this fall to appoint Dr. Millard Smith for this position. Dr. Smith is a graduate of the Harvard Medical School and has had an internship at the City Hospital. At the present time he is working with Dr. Francis Peabody at the Thorndike Laboratory and is also associated with Dr. F. Gorham Brigham. When the School was smaller the care of sick nurses was assigned to the younger visiting men on the medical staff for one or two months each year. As the number of students increased we felt that we were not justified in asking the visiting men to give the amount of time that this service required. After a resident physician was appointed it was decided that it should be one of his duties to take care of the nurses who were ill. With the growth of the Hospital the duties of the resident physician multiplied and it seemed unjust to ask him also to carry this responsibility. For this reason the appointment of a School physician seemed necessary. Dr. Smith has an office hour at the Hospital every morning and afternoon, and sees nurses and employees who are ill. Beside care during illness Dr. Smith will give all students a thorough physical examination on admission to the School and this will be repeated each year during the course of training. All students are to receive the Schick test for diphtheria and the Dick test for scarlet fever and so far as possible will be immunized against these diseases. It will mean that less time will be lost from illness and that the danger to the children from exposure to contagious diseases among the nurses will be reduced to a minimum.

The graduating exercises were held as usual at the Harvard Medical School on May 7th, and the address was given by Rev. Raymond Calkins, D.D. This year for the first time through the kindness and interest of Mr. Sherrill an impressive Baccalaureate Service was arranged at Trinity Church for the graduating class.

Although extensive and much needed renovation of the Nurses' Home is underway a new Home is still the greatest need of the School today. The present building in spite of crowding is not large enough to accommodate the entire number of students and the graduate staff attached to the School. The location of the Home is very undesirable because of its distance from the Hospital. This inconvenience is felt especially in stormy weather and is undoubtedly the cause of much minor illness among the students. Furthermore, because of the great increase in traffic on Huntington Avenue, the noise from passing cars and automobiles is incessant except during the very early morning hours.

To the ladies who come to the Home every week to serve tea to the nurses we wish again to express our thanks and appreciation for the pleasure which their coming brings.

The Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital

WELLESLEY HILLS
MASSACHUSETTS

THE Managers of the Convalescent Home of the Children's Hospital present to the public their forty-first annual report.

Our number of patients has not been as large as previous years owing to the fact that a section of the Home has had to be given up while the new Solarium in memory of Dr. Charles Goddard Weld is being built. We hope that this Solarium, which is the gift of Miss Mary Weld will be ready for use in the early Spring and it is impossible to over-estimate the good that we feel sure will be accomplished when we have this new up-to-date wing added to our buildings.

We have cared for 366 children this past year; only 39 paid full board, 119 paid in part, and 208 received absolutely free care. One hundred fifty children were treated by our dentist, Dr. R. R. Davenport, who has done excellent work, and he also seems to be able to make the children feel the importance of proper care of their teeth.

Miss Chamberlain's recreation work last summer was delightfully done. She took the children on picnics on our own grounds and also over to the Babson Bird Sanctuary, thus giving them quite an idea of bird, tree, and outdoor life. We hope to surely continue this work another summer.

For a number of years we have realized that we should do something about the education of our children who are of school age, and this year we have secured a teacher who has had experience with delicate children. She is doing splendid work and we find the children think it a great treat to go into the school room. So far we have admitted only those children, 24 in number, who are staying over a long period of time and no malnutrition child is allowed to go to the classes until he or she has begun to gain. This makes a real incentive for them to try to eat more and to take their rests quietly. We hope that this schooling will enable many of them to keep their places in their grades when they return to their own schools.

Another form of new work that we have undertaken is that of having a physiotherapy worker in order to continue treatment begun at the Children's Hospital. This treatment, which consists of baking, massage, and muscle training, is given to children suffering from all types of paralysis and congenital dislocated hips. Our Alpine lamp work continues to benefit a large number of the children, especially those who were under sun treatment during the summer months and also all rickets cases.

It has long been an ideal of the Managers and the Medical Staff of the Children's Hospital to have a resident doctor at the Home, but not until this year did it seem feasible. On October 1st Dr. Charles F. McKahn was appointed by the Staff and entered upon his duties.

The care of convalescent children is not so much a medical as a home and nursing problem and our success is largely due to Miss Guillod's personality and executive ability. Her influence makes the Convalescent Home most attractive and not too institutional in character. Under her leadership the same corps of workers continue and they are all doing faithful and satisfactory work.

We are affiliated with the Household Nursing Association and the Infants' Hospital in training nursery maids. The work is still in the experimental stage but we are hopeful of its future success not only for the institutions but also for the homes in which these girls will later work.

Our modern efforts in preventing contagion seem to be bearing fruit, for our problems in that line have been greatly lessened.

We have had many gifts during the year and I want to mention three which have been equally useful and pleasure-giving though in totally different ways: A junglegym which is a joyous and strengthening aid to the children, a large electric ice-cream freezer which enables everyone in the Home to have ice cream frequently with no more trouble or expense than any other dessert, and the third gift is an electric knife for cutting out garments. This knife will make easier the work of the Managers who meet every Tuesday at the Nurses' Home of the Children's Hospital, 640 Huntington Avenue and cut out and tie up bundles of clothing which are later given to various societies to be sewed. The Managers supply both the Hospital and Home with all the bedding, towels, and garments used by the children. This is a large burden of expense and one which makes us need more friends to help us meet.

It is estimated that the average community requires one convalescent bed to every ten acute hospital beds and that five per cent of its out-patient department cases need country institutional care. The acute hospital is not equipped to care for convalescent patients nor is it the best place for them to recover. Many children must be removed from unfavorable home surroundings before they can recuperate, and the most economical and beneficial care is given by a country convalescent home. The community that is not conscious of the necessity of a convalescent home for little children is falling short of its duty.

The Home receives no financial aid from the Hospital, and need we ask whether we do not also do our part in bettering the health of the community? We are in urgent need of more annual subscribers and surely there must be many people who would gladly help these little ones through their tiresome and often painful weeks of convalescence.

LEONORE C. AMORY,

Secretary.
